—A window was blown out of the library early Sunday morning by the strong wind and glass was scattered all over the floor and in the street below when the window pane was blown out.
—James Hogan has returned to his position as watchman in the Rock Island yards after a week's absence. His wife, who has been ill, is now able to be up and around again which will be good news to the many friends of the estimable old couple.
—Rev. A. D. Hastings of Oskaloosa, superintendent of the Southeastern Iowa Finding Home of Des Moines will be in the city tomorrow for the purpose of finding out if there are any children here which can be secured for adoption. He will make a tour of the city with the superintendent of the poor.
—A force of wiremen were busy on the bridge this morning trying to bring a little order out of the tangle and confusion of wires. The interurban has stopped running on account of the crippled condition of the wires and Illinois people were walking across the bridge this morning although the wind was blowing a gale out on the bridge.
—The sleet storm of Sunday morning played havoc with the telephone poles along the plank road of the Mississippi Valley system. A large number of poles were snapped off and fell to the ground, by the weight of the ice on the wires. Ten poles went over from Nineteenth street to Hubenthal's residence and several more beyond there were down, lying in the farm yards along the road.
—Max Welch, who creates great excitement every once in a while, was arrested Sunday evening at 7 o'clock by Officer Dedman who fired a shot in the air with his revolver in order to bring him to time. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly and threatening to kill his younger brother with a butcher knife. After he was locked up in the cooler at police station, he tried to burn the jail down, setting fire to the cooler.
—The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians has given fifty copies of "A. M. Nolan's History of Ireland," the history authorized and endorsed by the national convention in Indianapolis, to St. Peter's Catholic school to be used as text books. In the study of which Division I. A. O. H. has given two medals to be given to the pupils having the highest standing at the end of the year. The pupils of the eighth grade of St. Peter's school will receive diplomas for their work in Irish history. The local committee on Irish history is composed of Dr. W. P. Sherlock, Joseph Welsh and James Fallon, who will work in conjunction with Rev. P. N. McDermott, state chairman of Irish literature.
—A supply of 90-pound rails will be sent to Burlington in a few days and will be laid on the main line of the Burlington going west, as an experiment. This road is constantly experimenting with different rails, endeavoring to find out what will give the best service for the longest time. Last year the company experimented with 100-pound rails, but they were found too soft. The traffic beat down the rails, the metal being battered and worn. Some of the 100-pound rails which were laid six months ago are in worse shape than the 75-pound rails laid eight years ago. The 75-pound rails have been the most satisfactory thus far and railroad men are of the opinion that this weight will soon be adopted as standard.

MRS. STANNUS FUNERAL TODAY

The Remains of Former Keokuk Woman Were Brought Here From Dakota and Were Buried This P. M.

SHE DIED LAST WEEK

Was Seventy-Six Years of Age and Had Been a Resident of This City For a Great Number of Years.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of I. S. Ackley, occurred the funeral of the late Mrs. Martha C. Stannus, who died last week at her home in Spearfish, Dakota, and whose remains were brought to this, her former home, for burial by the side of her late husband who died in 1896, and who was brought here for burial.

The services were conducted by Rev. Harry B. Foster, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, of which church the deceased had been a long time member, and were attended by a number of old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stannus, Dr. Edwin F. Stannus and Miss Stannus came up from Quincy to attend the funeral and two sons of the deceased, John and A. L. Stannus accompanied the remains from Dakota to Keokuk.

Account of Her Death.
The Pioneer-Times of Deadwood, South Dakota, contained the following notice of her death:

Mrs. Martha C. Stannus, widow of the late Judge John Stannus, one of the Black Hills pioneers, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Clemens, near Spearfish yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. She had been ailing for a long time past and the end was not entirely unexpected, but the immediate cause of her death was heart failure.

Mrs. Stannus, whose maiden name was Martha C. Hamilton, was born in Ohio on July 5, 1833, and was consequently in her seventy-sixth year. After her marriage to John Stannus, they moved to Iowa, where they resided at Keokuk until her husband and John, Jr., came to the Black Hills in 1876. Mrs. Stannus joined them here in 1879 and the family resided in Central for a number of years. Ten years after the death of her husband, or in 1901, Mrs. Stannus began to show signs of failing health and moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clemens, near Spearfish. She has spent her time here between that place and the home of her daughter, Mrs. Breen, also near Spearfish, until the time of her death. She was a woman of many good qualities of mind and heart and was always held in high regard by her large circle of friends and acquaintances.

She is survived by four sons and two daughters: William J., who resides at Couch's Lake; John of Deadwood; A. L. of Spearfish, and Frank E. of Keokuk, Iowa. The daughters are Mrs. Clemens and Mrs. Milt Breen, both of whom live near Spearfish.

Funeral services will be conducted at Mrs. Clemens' home tomorrow noon and the remains will be taken to the Burlington train at 3 o'clock and conveyed to Keokuk, Iowa, where she will be buried by the side of her husband. The body will be accompanied on its last journey by her son, John Stannus, of this city.

SOCIETY

The Knights and Ladies of Security will give a dancing party Thursday evening, February 18, at Schouten's hall, invitations being received by friends today. This is their second annual party.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock at the parish home of Rev. Father Reimbold of Nauvoo, occurred the marriage of Dr. N. E. Colby of Keokuk, to Miss Alma Childers of Nauvoo. The wedding was a quiet but pretty one and was attended by a few relatives and friends.

Both young people have a host of friends in Keokuk and Nauvoo and extend hearty congratulations at this time. Dr. Colby is a dentist of this city, being a graduate of the Keokuk Dental College. Miss Childers is of one of Nauvoo's well known families and has made many friends by her many charms and graces.

Dr. and Mrs. Colby will make Keokuk their future home.
Mrs. Ivins was the hospitable hostess of the Keokuk Chapter, for the regular meeting for February. Miss Olive Strickler and Mrs. C. Hornaday were welcomed into the chapter. The members, also spoke very appreciatively of their pleasure in being urged by the G. A. R. to assist in the exercises for Lincoln at the opera house. Eight little girls of the schools sang a song about Lincoln, of which the music was composed by Mr. Tries. Miss Petterson, the regent, read the Gettysburg address and then Mrs. J. O. Boyd delivered "The Perfect Tribute," by Mary Cuden, in a most dramatic way. Miss Strickler pleased the audience by a piano selection and the hostess gave her recollections of Lincoln's funeral. Her manner was a wonderful testimony to the love, which his generation held the emancipator.

The musicale given Saturday evening at St. John's parish house, by the pupils of Mrs. Minnie E. Bence, was a most enjoyable program and greatly enjoyed by those in attendance. The numbers given by the pupils reflected great credit upon the instruction and each one gave a finished rendition of their numbers on the program which was as follows:

- a. Memories Cadman
- b. All in a Garden Whelpley
- c. At Nightfall Metcalf
- d. The Journey is Long Coombs
