HE STATES THE CASE

Union's Side of the Matter Given in Article and Asks Co-operation of General Public in Movement.

No change has taken place in the strike situation among the paperhangers and painters from that stated in the Gate City last evening.

John W. Kenney, R. S. of the union has issued the following statement which he wishes to make public through the Gate City:

The Statement. Keokuk, Ia., April 2, 1909.

To the public in general:

So as to not have our position misconstrued I deem it necessary to make a statement in behalf of the painters and paperhangers of the city of Keokuk. On March 16, 1909 I mailed to all shops a copy of our agreement for the ensuing year which was to take effect April 1, 1909, three of these copies were returned signed, we will publish the names later. The others simply ignored us and at a meeting held with the bosses April 1, 1909 the said bosses refused to recognize us in a business way.

I am very truly yours, JNO. W. KENNEY, R. S.

AMUSEMENTS

"Isle of Spice." Beautiful girls, exquisite scenic environment, clever comedians, startling electrical surprises, all sweet singing, graceful dancing, picturesque groupings, witty dialogue, brilliant lyrics, catchy songs and tuneful music, are the chief ingredients which have been responsible for the universal praise accorded to "Isle of Spice."

It is claimed that the chorus is positively the youngest, prettiest and cleverest now before the patrons of high class amusement, and a particular feature of this part of the company is the pony ballet, consisting of twelve young girls whose aggregate weight is not above one thousand pounds.

Minstrels Coming. Few, indeed, are the people in these strenuous days of money madness who go to the theater to be instructed.

Realizing this fact the managers of Richards & Pringle's Famous Minstrels, the oldest organization of its kind in existence, have kept in close touch with the public pulse of America's laughter-loving millions, and offer a program this season replete with novelties and surprises.

While adhering to the cardinal principles that have made this form of entertainment so popular, all the old-time worn, overworked ideas have been shelved, and those who witness the entertainment given by this company at the Grand on next Monday evening cannot but voice the verdict of every city where they have appeared this season, and that is "the best ever."

PERSONALS. A. J. Berger of Nauvoo visited in the city last evening.

RAN AWAY FROM THE HOSPITAL

Man Delirious From Typhoid Made His Way From the Hospital and Ran Down the Street After Food.

CARRIED BACK AGAIN

Was in a Weakened Condition When Found and Nurses Carried Him Back to His Ward.

Many queer things happen in a life time, some comical, others pitiful to a degree and some times ending fatally. The following story is one which may appear rather amusing to some while to those who know about the science of medicine and results following such an affair may differ with those who have not pulled of the same stunt.

A gentleman who is in one of the Keokuk hospitals, confined there by typhoid fever, being in a delirious condition this morning, the condition which suffers from this malady experience in a greater or a less degree, arose from his bed, and slipping on his trousers and hose, made his way out of the apartments and down the hall to the street.

No one was watching and the patient was hungry, as all typhoid patients are, being fed little during the fever period. The gentleman in question made off down the street attracting much attention from those who passed him. He was delirious and in search of food.

He never got the food however, as some one recognized him and telephoned to the nearest residence to the hospital and a corps of nurses were out in an instant and off down the street after the man with the hungry feeling and the fever on his brow.

When the nurses reached him he was staggering along too weak to get along by himself any longer and he had to be carried back to the hospital in a thoroughly weakened condition. The physicians attending the patient do not think that any serious results will follow the wandering away of the typhoid patient and he will no doubt be on the high road to recovery from the fever in a few weeks.

Press Agent to a River. John L. Matthews, in Success Magazine: The editorial staff of one of the popular magazines of New York were gathered in the publisher's office one day in December, discussing plans for the year.

"One thing we must have," said the publisher, emphatically: "We must have a lot of stuff about water—power, navigation—everything about water."

"Well," said the editor, cautiously, "of course a timely article on the subject—not too technical."

"Timely article nothing," interrupted the publisher. "If I had my way we'd have a long article every number. We must have at least six in the year. It's the greatest subject going."

"Bill," said one of the staff, who or what set you crazy on water?" The publisher looked at him and laughed.

"I'll tell you who it was," he said. "It was a long, lank Arkansas traveler named John Fox. He came in here one day, so quietly I hardly heard him enter. Said he wanted to talk about water, and especially about rivers. I told him to run away as I was busy. He sat down by my desk and began to talk. Well—he's one of those southerners you read about, courteous, soft-voiced, the kind you can't shut up and send away. In a few minutes I was listening in spite of myself. He sat there three hours, telling me things I had never dreamed of before about the rivers and harbors of America. Then he picked up his hat, and said he must be going. "For goodness sake don't go yet," I begged. "I'm just getting interested. Tell me the rest." But he wouldn't say another word. Out he went. I tell you his a smooth one! He knows just when he has said enough. Ever since then I have been plumb crazy over waterways."

Last evening at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. E. D. Griffin of 1912 Reid street, occurred the marriage of William Edward Real to Miss Laura Edna Wallis of this city. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. F. A. McGaw of the Second Presbyterian church of West Keokuk, at eight o'clock. Only the immediate members of the families of the couple were present and the marriage was a quiet and unpretentious one.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served and congratulations were in order. The couple will live at home of the groom's parents for the present.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Wallis who live in this city, the young lady making her home with them since childhood. She is a young lady of many charms and graces and has a large circle of friends in this city, being popular in her own set. The groom is the son of Mrs. E. D. "SUNKIST" BY DAY MADE SWEET BY NIGHT

(Special Correspondent) These are ideal days and nights for rounding out the ripening season of the delicious "Sunkist" California oranges. Few persons, doubtless, among those living remote from the lands where the orange blossoms grow, are aware of the anxiety of the orchard owners regarding the "weather probabilities" every season. Fortunately the California orange growers can generally rely on a happy combination of warm sunny days and cool nights, both of which are important for the production of the most perfect fruit.

To the denizen of the frost-belt, these conditions have been exceptionally good. It might, naturally be supposed that cool nights would hardly have a beneficial effect on this product of the tropics, and that a continuous warm temperature, day and night, would be better. Both conditions, however, are necessary—bright warm days and cool nights. The warm sunshine is what gives flavor to the orange, and the cool night air is a necessary agent in imparting sweetness.

A DELIGHTFUL REGION

(Special Correspondent) At this time of the year the orange groves of California rival the famed Garden of Hesperides for beauty and fragrance. To the denizen of the frost-belt regions not more than a two-days' railroad ride removed, it would seem like being transported to the garden of Eden to visit almost any one of the 5,000 orchards operated by the California Fruit Growers' Association. Here, one would find the book of nature opened wide and on every page a color plate. The oranges by which the groves are as one peers through the green foliage and catches glimpses of these beautiful balls of yellow-gold, he recalls the poetic name by which the choicest of them are designated, and ever after "Sunkist" oranges will be among the pleasantest recollections of his trip. Those who cannot make this journey at present can at least enjoy the delicious "Sunkist" fruits for both oranges and lemons of this favorite brand are now being supplied to the eastern markets.

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Press dispatches giving an unfavorable report of King Edward's condition were supplemented this morning in Wall street circles by reports to the effect that the English ruler was paralyzed. Union Pacific, after a slight gain, declined over one point but on the decline London was a heavy buyer, dealing in over thirty thousand shares. Trunk lines showed heavy tone but the Hill stocks were strong. Governments unchanged, other bonds strong, active.
