

ENGINEER ROPES COMPLETES WORK

The Engineer Left Here in Charge by Engineer H. I. Freeman Has Completed His "Findings."

NOW UP TO CAPITALISTS

That is What the Engineer Stated This Morning, as All Necessary Surveys Have Been Made.

Engineer Horace Ropes, the gentleman left here in charge of the water power offices by H. I. Freeman, the Province, R. I., hydraulic engineer, returned to day to his home at Providence where he will report to his chief his findings since remaining in this city after the departure of Messrs. Hugh L. Cooper and Freeman for the east, succeeding their visit to Keokuk several weeks ago.

Engineer Ropes who has been checking up the findings of the two engineers will report to them on his return east and final judgment as to anything further found by him, will be passed by Engineer Freeman who has the work in charge.

Nothing has been heard from either of the engineers since their return to Providence and it is not probable that they will return to this city for some time unless the trip be made necessary, was stated by Mr. Ropes this morning. Mr. Ropes will take up another assignment on his return to the east and wound up his part of the work here this morning.

A Thorough Investigation. During the past several days he has been a frequent visitor at the lower lock and trips up and down the canal dike have not been infrequent as each morning with chart in hand and careful eye he has been taking in the entire situation and correcting and adding points overlooked in the preliminary examination by Cooper and Freeman. A trip was made several days ago to Fort Madison to determine the narrow district in case of the building of the dam.

Yesterday a trip to the other side of the river was made, about a quarter of a mile above and opposite the first lock, where the dam is to be built. Sounding instruments and lines were taken along by him and his assistant and the foundation of the line on which the dam is to be located, was determined.

Nothing to Give Out.

Engineer Ropes stated this morning that he had nothing to give out, except that everything in the way of a survey for the building of the dam and the amount of land to be overflowed had been determined. Now that his work is completed here, the rest remains with his chief, Engineer Freeman and the capitalists who are to furnish the money for this building of the dam.

Leaves Keokuk Today.

Several assistants who have been helping Mr. Ropes, were busy at the water power offices this morning, checking over the large pile of blue prints with which the long drafting tables in the front and back offices are flooded. The sheets will be taken by Engineer Ropes when he leaves today for the east and will figure prominently in his report.

Keokuk people are "head over heels" in interest of any report from these engineers and other gentlemen who visit the city and locality in interest of the dam and as Engineer Ropes stated this morning, every one has had their faith restored in the giant project since the recent visit of the three engineers to this city.

Rich Men's Gifts are Poor

THE INTOXICATION OF MRS. GOULD

Charles T. Dodge testified that when he was working as a carpenter at the castle in the summer of 1902, he saw her discharge all the servants in a "voice loud and manner boisterous and face flushed," he said. Melville Chapman, a Great Neck, L. I. broker, testified he saw Mrs. Gould intoxicated. He said at San Diego Harbor, she threatened to discharge the entire crew because the yacht was turned so the sun shone in her eyes.

CULLOM OPPOSES A SPECIAL SESSION

Illinois Senator Opposes of the Legislature Being Able to Pass a Real Primary Law.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Regarding the Illinois Supreme Court's decision on the primary law of that state, Senator Cullom said today:

"It looks to me as though it were about three times down and out. The Illinois Legislature certainly seems to be unable to draw up a primary law that will stand the test of the Supreme court. "I can't say that it makes very much difference. And I certainly do not think there is any need of calling a special session of the Legislature to pass a new primary law."

"It seems as if the Illinois Legislature is having a hard time keeping a primary law on the books," smilingly announced Speaker Cannon. But I don't want to comment on the latest decision until I have seen it."

Many of our citizens are drifting towards Bright's disease by neglecting symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble which Foley's Kidney Remedy will quickly cure. Wilkinson & Co.

HABES CORPUS AGAIN FOR HARRY THAW

The Slayer of White Continues His Strenuous Efforts to Get Out of Asylum.

FISHKILL, LANDING, N. Y., June 17.—Harry Thaw left here this morning for White Plains, where the second application for the writ of habeas corpus was heard today. He is in charge of Dr. Baker and two attendants. The accompanying party was Rev. George H. Toop, rector of St. Luke's church of Matteawan, for whom Thaw has formed a great attachment. Attorney Merschauser met the party here and accompanied them. They expected to return tonight.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 17.—Following the application of Harry Thaw for a writ of habeas corpus, Supreme Court Justice Mills today set July 6, as the date for the insanity hearing. It is possible the place of trial will be changed to New York. Pending the determination of the matter of the venue of the case Thaw was sent back to Matteawan. A large number of friends and relatives were in court.

THE WISDOM OF KING SOLOMON

Old Time Bible Story May Have to be Repeated in the Superior Court Over the Gilliam Baby.

THE TRIAL IS NOW ON

All of the Ladies in the Neighborhood Have Been Summoned to go Upon the Witness Stand.

Judge McNamara in the superior court, may have to do the Solomon act in determining who shall have the little Gilliam baby, for this morning was commenced the habeas corpus proceedings and both mother and grandmother of the child are fighting for the possession of the cute little girl. Mrs. John Gilliam now has possession of the child and every lady in the neighborhood of the Gilliam house on Ridge street seems to have been summoned to appear on the witness stand.

The law of the present day is different from what it was in the days of King Solomon, but Solomon made a very effective decision in the case tried before him.

The case was noted in this paper last evening and by agreement between the attorneys interested in the case, the child is kept in the possession of Mrs. John Gilliam until the question is settled.

When the case was started this morning, there were a dozen ladies in the room, all having been summoned as witnesses and it being evident that one side would attempt to prove that the mother was not fit to keep the child, while the other side would try and prove that the grandmother did not keep the child properly.

The case barely got started before the noon hour and was continued until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when it was resumed, the prospects being that the case would likely run into tomorrow.

Baby is Not Worried.

Little Marie is not worried in the least over the progress of the trial, or the outcome. She is a bright and beautiful little child and spent most of the morning while court was going on, in swinging the door of the telephone booth back and forth and trotting about the room on a tour of investigation, now and then crawling beneath the benches and greatly enjoying the morning.

Mrs. Irene Gilliam, the child's mother was the first witness put on the stand and she gave almost her entire history since she was married, telling where she had worked and of her struggles to keep from want after her husband had deserted her. She said that the baby was born on July 9, 1907, and on two occasions she was compelled to go to the County Home to live, one time while the baby had the whooping cough. At the present time she has employment in the laundry at the Hotel Keokuk and is earning $20 per month and her board. She denied that she had agreed to let the Gilliams adopt the baby and said that she had been denied entrance in the house to see her child, the door being locked against her. Last Sunday there was a row at the house.

Other Witnesses.

Other witnesses followed, about twenty ladies being in waiting to take their turn on the stand. The first one told of seeing the grandmother whip little Marie and the next one told of Mrs. Gilliam locking the doors on the mother and not letting her see the child.

This afternoon, other witnesses were placed on the stand and both sides of the case were presented through testimony.

ALONE IN SAWMILL AT MIDNIGHT. Unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as night watchman at Banner Springs, Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. "After using one bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe Colds, stubborn Coughs, inflamed throats and sore lungs, Hemorrhages, Croup and whooping Cough get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1.00. Opening Business Session Was But a Brief One, Consisting of Appointment of Committees.

BUZZING WITH POLITICS

Lloyd R. Maxwell of Marshalltown and A. W. Brown of Waterloo Both Want to be the President.

The Elks convention is on in full blast today and will come to a close this evening, the Keokuk delegation arriving home some time tomorrow. The following from one of the newspapers of last evening, tells of the first day's business session:

Phil J. Mackley of Muscatine Lodge, No. 304, president of the Iowa State Association of the B. P. O. Elks, called the convention to order in the auditorium of Germania hall at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. He stated that for the reason several special trains were due during the morning and the Dubuque Elks and the visitors already in the city would be occupied with receiving the incoming delegations, the opening addresses would be postponed until Thursday afternoon, and he would make the opening meeting brief.

Committees Named.

President Mackley made the announcement of committees as follows: To Award Prizes in the Parade—A. C. Smith, exalted ruler of Fort Dodge Lodge, No. 306; G. M. Prince, exalted ruler Mason City Lodge, No. 375; H. H. Kellogg, exalted ruler Sioux City Lodge, No. 112; Mrs. G. W. Schmidt, Iowa City, and Mrs. Benjamin Black, Muscatine.

Credentials Committee—Hon. Rice H. Bell, past exalted ruler of Keokuk Lodge, No. 106; Henry Lewis, past exalted ruler Iowa City Lodge No. 590, and Henry Reche, Dubuque Lodge, No. 297.

Chairman E. M. Healey, of the executive committee of Dubuque lodge, reported the following committee to judge the decorations:

Phil J. Mackley, of Muscatine Lodge, No. 304, president Iowa State Association of the B. P. O. Elks; J. J. Sammis, past exalted ruler of 1st Mars Lodge, No. 428, and J. R. Fraley, of Ft. Madison Lodge, No. 374.

Have Headquarters.

It was also officially announced in the convention that the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Iowa delegation to attend the Grand Lodge meeting at Los Angeles in July has opened headquarters at the Hotel Julien. Geo. T. Reddick, of Iowa City Lodge, No. 590, president, and Claude Myers of Ottumwa Lodge, No. 347 of the committee, are in charge of the headquarters.

Politics of Elks.

The arrival of the delegates Wednesday morning started the politics of the reunion buzzing and the announced and probable candidate for state offices and also cities wanting the next reunion were topics of general discussion.

Lloyd L. Maxwell, of Marshalltown Lodge, No. 312, and A. W. Brown, of Waterloo Lodge, No. 290, are announced and probable candidate for president and both have large corps of boosters for their candidacy. Geo. T. Reddick, of Iowa City Lodge, No. 590, is also spoken of and his friends say his name will be presented to the convention.

Mason City made the announcement at Waterloo last year that they would make a bid at the Dubuque reunion for the meeting in 1910 and they have a large delegation to make good their announcement. They are making a vigorous campaign and are promising the Iowa Elks a royal good time. Fort Dodge is also bidding for the 1910 reunion, and it is stated that both Oskaloosa and Keokuk are likely to enter the list.

FORMER KEOKUK RESIDENT SUES

Illinois Insurance Association Fails to Pay Policy on the Wife of Dr. Burch, Recently Deceased.

QUINCY, Ill., June 17.—The hearing of the civil suit of Dr. G. W. Burch who lived in Keokuk while attending medical college, against the National Annuity company of Jacksonville, was concluded today. After the testimony was presented the court took it under advisement.

The suit grew out of the recent difficulty that the insurance company had in this city when compromises were attempted in the payment of a number of claims against the company for amount considerable less than the face value of the policies. Dr. Burch refused to accept less than the present worth of policy held by his wife, who died recently, and according to the testimony in the suit yesterday morning the company has refused to make a payment of any of the installments which are alleged to be due under the policy.
