The double header yesterday afternoon at Hubinger park was a weird exhibition of the national game, a grand carnival of timely bingles and a melange of misplays in which Keokuk and Waterloo broke even, the Champs taking the first encounter by the score of 9 to 2 and the Indians being overwhelmingly victorious in the second pastime by the count of 11 to 1. The total attendance at the two games was over 2,000 people who sat through the two games, which proved one sided in both instances. The first game went for an even two hours and the second took almost the same length of time. The spectators watched the balloon ascension from the grandstand, bleachers, side lines and many from near the athletic park grandstand. Both games carried very little interest, the first being practically won by Waterloo in the early stage of the game and the second being Keokuk's after the second inning.

Bramble Out of Form.
Bramble, elected to delivering the offerings to Waterloo in the opener by virtue of his turn and form of late, was clearly not himself from the first ball pitched. He did not have control and could not catch a strike on the corners. The result was that he was compelled to resort to breaking the ball over the heart of pan or grooving the ball on a straight one. The result was that he issued six free passes and when forced to put the ball over was hit frequently.
Maurie Kent was on the mound for Waterloo and worked well, keeping the hits well scattered until the seventh, when three bingles in succession sent a man across the plate.

Walked First Man.
In the first inning Bramble passed Curtis, the first man up, but Bramble shot the ball to second on McLearn's attempt to sacrifice and the outfielder was headed. Cruikshank hit to Grodnick and Fitzpatrick to Corriden, both being thrown out at first.

In the second Waterloo scored twice on hits and Bramble's wildness. Milsap started things with a single and Bramble fielded poorly on Pennington's sacrifice allowing both runners to reach their destination. Olson was out on a fly to Annis and Searles doubled to left, scoring both runners. Kent walked and Curtis got a short single to left, filling the bases. McLearn hit a high bouncer to Bramble and Searles was forced at the plate. Cruikshank hit to Annis and was retired at first.

Scored at Will.
In the fifth one hit, a base on balls, an error by Miller and a bone headed throw by Wilson gave Waterloo three runs and in the sixth a base on balls and five safe bingles gave the visitors four more runs.

In the seventh Pennington and Olson both hit to start things, but the former was caught at third and the latter at home plate by fast fielding.
Keokuk scored a man in the fourth inning and one in the seventh. Reichle in the fourth started things by walking to first. Miller sacrificed and Hildebrand hit one past Pennington. Reichle scored when Wilson hit into a double play, Hildebrand being retired at second and Wilson at first. In the seventh, Annis, Corriden and Mertens singled and Annis scored.

Mertens driving in the run with his drive to right field. The tabulated score:

Second Game.
In the second game Prough was on the slab and pitched great ball while Keokuk was fattening up in the batting figures. He held the Waterloo men to three safe hits in nine innings, walked but one and struck out six. His work was clever throughout the game and the Champs could not solve his disastrous slow ball.

Boyle sent Davie, the wild heaver, to the mound once more after taking part for five minutes in the Saturday engagement. He was easy for the Indians and in the first inning things were started which resulted in the nineteen hits for the game, more hits than Keokuk has obtained for a long while.

Many Bingles in Second.
With two down Corriden singled and Mertens doubled, but no runs resulted. In the second inning every man on the team got a hit except Corriden and eight safe bingles were good for seven runs. To start things Miller hit safely to center and Hildebrand tripled far into right field. Belt clouted the sphere to left and Prough surprised fans by doubling to right. Grodnick got away with a fast one through Olson and Annis sent a fast two bagger near the left foul line. Davie was then jerked out and Darrah, whom Boyle says is not feeling himself, was put into twirl. Corriden hit to short and was retired at first and Mertens got his second hit in two innings. Reichle singled and seven men were home. Ed was retired at second when Miller hit to short and after stealing second Miller was caught going to third, he having started to steal before Darrah delivered the ball.

Interest Taken Away.
With this great lead the interest of the game was taken away and the fans merely contented themselves by keeping count of the hits obtained by the Indians. In every inning one or more hits were obtained.

Hildebrand proved the long clouter of the day by getting two three baggers. Mertens made himself solid with the fans by clouting out three safe ones, bringing his total for the first three games in which he played up to seven. The big felder is a worthy rival of Reichle in the batting stunt. Reichle also got three singles in yesterday's second game and Belt found a safe place for three of his drives. Every man on the team got one or more hits.
