

TURKEY EXPECTS REVOLUTION NO. 2

Another One is Brewing in the Air
For the Young Turks Are Said to Not be Satisfied With Condition.

EZZEDIN FOR SULTAN

Friction Between Young Turks and Military Party Threatens to Break Out and Start
More Trouble.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 24.—That Turkey is today facing another revolution is the opinion of close students of national affairs. The friction between the Young Turks and the military party led by General Cehetk Pasha is increasing daily and a clash between them in the near future is believed to be inevitable.

The Young Turks throughout the Empire are dissatisfied with Sultan Mehmed V. who is believed to be only a tool of Cehetk, who is regarded as reactionary at heart and an opponent to reform.

The Young Turks are said to be planning an enforced abdication of Mehmed V. and a substitution of Prince Yusuf Ezzedin, heir apparent, as the Sultan. The prince is a pronounced liberal.

Also Trouble at Albania

LINGS LETTERS GAVE WARNING

Threatened to Kill Elsie Sigel and Chu Gain and Wrote His Determination in Chinese Scrawl.

HE HAS NOT BEEN FOUND

Search For the Missing Celestial Is Still Going on But He Seems to Have Hidden Most Securely.

NEW YORK, JUNE 23.—Attorney Jesse Regal, representing Chu Gain, the supposed sweet heart of Elsie Sigel surrendered to assistant district attorney Ward today two letters written in Chinese alleged to have been written by Leon Ling and threatening the life of Gain, and Elsie.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 24.—Officers left here for Rio Grande to watch the Mexican border and prevent Leon Ling's escape. The state rangers were notified and the entire border is guarded to prevent an escape. A watch is being kept at Galveston, El Paso and other places where people usually cross the border.

A Gould Talks.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—That the Chinese are the best and kindest husbands in the world is the statement of Mrs. Clemmons Wong, a sister of Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould and wife of Wong Sun Yue, a Chinese curio dealer. The declaration was made in a statement defending the Chinese as a result of the agitation from the Sigel murder. She said she would rather be cut up and put into a trunk by a Chinaman, than be tortured in court.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The letters are signed "The Chief" and are being translated.

VON BUELOW WILL RESIGN

A Rumor That He Would Resign From the Reichstag Was Sailing Around Berlin.

BERLIN, June 24.—The Reichstag today rejected on second reading the bill providing for a succession of duties. The defeat of the bill precipitated the gravest political crisis, and it is currently reported this afternoon that Chancellor Von Buelow will resign. HADLEY REFUSES TO MAKE ARGUMENT

Does Not Believe That a Public Controversy Would Bring About
Very Much Good.

NEW HAVEN Conn., June 24.—That president Hadley of Yale, does not care to enter into a discussion with Bishop McFaul over the Bishop's statement that the curriculum of several leading universities including Yale, "Undermine faith and breed immorality" was made apparent today in an official statement issued by Hadley. "As far as experience goes, the Catholic clergy of America are exceedingly careful not to utter false charges on the basis of reports which they are unable to verify from this tradition, I'm sure it represents a momentary inadvertence and error of the individual. Matters could be more effectively set right by fellow members of his own church and profession, than by anything like a public controversy."

BRANDENBURG SAYS PAPERS ARE FORGED

Explains How Cleveland Gave Him a Batch of Articles to be Sold.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Broughton Brandenburg claims that the Cleveland papers are a forgery. He said that Cleveland complained that the interviewers were bothering him. He suggested to take the articles and sell them for Cleveland. Cleveland gave it to him in a mass of other papers. Both looked the papers over and Brandenburg suggested several changes. He stated that the contents of the papers embodied in the matter printed August 30 were signed by Cleveland. He agreed to give Cleveland $2,000 of the proceeds.

TOBACCO TRUST WAS ARRAIGNED

Senator Beveridge Reviewed a History of the Big Octopus Which Reaches Out All Over.

IS A GREAT MONOPOLY

Does Not Confine Itself to Tobacco,
But Dips Into News Dealing,
Bill Posting and Licorice.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Wholesale arraignments of the tobacco trust by Beveridge of Indiana, characterized today's session of the senate. Among other things he charged that the concern resorted to bribery in the influence of legislation and said that their general lobbyist was a New York Man, high socially and known personally nearly every Senator.

In addition to four hundred retail stores, he said that the trust engaged in the production of tobacco, maintaining a licorice monopoly, had a news stand agency enterprise, and had organized a bill posting company. He reviewed the history of the trust, how it had absorbed or crushed its rivals and no content with its manufacturing and wholesale business had invaded the retail trade. "When the tariff bill came from the house to the senate," he said, "it increased the cigarette tax a poor miserable little increase, yet the finance committee of the senate struck this out."

Bailey Talks Also.

Responding to the criticism which has been made on democrats voting against Stree iron, hides and lumber, Bailey of Texas in the senate today denounced the doctrine of free raw material as unjust and undemocratic. Bailey reviewed the history of tariff making and showed that it was never accepted until 1886. The proposition to exempt the manufacture from the payment of a moderate duty on raw materials, Bailey urged was indefensible, unequal and unjust. When the tariff is taken from raw materials, it becomes necessary to increase the tariff on other articles in order to raise the revenues. Declaring that if he were attorney general he would institute a suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation on the ground that it is a monopoly and that he would call it's officers to answer in the criminal courts for misconduct, Bailey maintained that nothing could be done to curb the rapacity of the trust by placing iron ore on the free list. Such a law neither hurts the trusts nor helps the people. As far as the democratic party deal with trusts nor helps the people. The only way to destroy the trusts now in existence and to prevent the formation of others, is to send the men who organize and operate them to the penitentiary and put the finished product of every trust in America on the free list."

FARNUM TELLS OF MEETING MRS. GOULD

His Deposition Taken and Read Before the Suit For Separation
Today.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Dustin Farnum's story of his acquaintance with Mrs. Gould was read today in her suit for separation from Howard Gould. Farnum was unable to appear in person, being ill at a resort in Maine.

In the deposition, he gave his profession as "Supposedly an actor" Farnum's deposition said that he first met Mrs. Gould six years ago at a charity play in which he appeared with Rose Robson. The second time he met her, he and Mrs. Robson visited Castle S Gould. The third meeting was in August 1906, when he went to her apartment at the St. Regis when she was planning to return to the stage and wanted to talk over the matter with him. He took luncheon in her parlor, and was there for an hour and forty-five minutes. Elijah Sells was to have been present but failed to arrive until just as Farnum was leaving.

Farnum never kissed or hugged Mrs. Gould, he always addressed her as "Mrs. Gould," and never with an endearing tone, according to his deposition read in the court. "What color are Mrs. Gould's eyes?" he was asked. "You see I'm rather a bashful young man," he replied, "I'm afraid to look into a young woman's eyes. I might get rattled."

Farnum said he was thirty-four. There was a ripple of applause and laughter when he said he saw Mrs. Gould as a star when he was a boy in Boston. Farnum swore that he was never guilty of any impropriety with her. She always addressed him as "Mr. Farnum." He said he was never alone with her in her apartments.
