

KESSELRING AFTER NEGROES

Keokuk Marshal off to Ottumwa this morning and will bring back Negro Burglars Wanted Here.

NOTES OF THE STATION

New Lockers Installed for the Police—Charles Newingham, Young Lad, Brought to Station.

Marshal Henry Kesselring left this morning for Ottumwa and will probably return this evening with the two negroes arrested there last week who are thought to be implicated in the many robberies of recent date pulled off in Keokuk, Burlington and several other nearby towns.

The Keokuk marshal received word late yesterday afternoon that the negro who was in the hospital with four bullet wounds in his body could be moved and had greatly improved. The marshal went to Ottumwa some time ago but did not want Davis, because he had very little evidence against him, the negro when arrested having no stolen goods on his person and disclaiming any connection with Jones, the negro who was shot.

Marshal Kesselring will likely return this evening with the two negroes on the Rock Island train and they will be safely lodged in the county jail. If enough evidence can be gathered they will be bound over to the grand jury.

The diamond stud taken from the home of Patrick Concanon, and one of the most valuable articles taken by the burglars during their plunderous journeys in this city, has not yet been recovered and the police have arrived at the theory that it was disposed of in some manner.

Police Notes.

Six new lockers have been built in the marshal's office for the policemen in which they can hang their hats and coats. The innovation is one well received by both the day and the night force.

Charles Newingham, a lad about thirteen years of age and who has such a fondness for horses that he is inclined to hang around a local livery stable instead of being at home, was brought to the station this morning by Officer Reel for getting into a little trouble and after being reprimanded by Deputy Marshal Harrington was released and ordered to remain away from the livery barn in the future.

Rich Men's Gifts are Poor

"I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the greatest gifts that God has made to man, writes Mrs. O. Rhinevaunt, of Vestal Center, N. Y. 'I can never forget what it has done for me.' This glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and jubilant health. It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Headache, Backache, Fainting and Dizzy Spells; soothes the weak, ailing and sickly. Try them. 50c at Wilkinson & Co. and J. F. Kiedalsch & Son.

Last evening at Kilmourne park, on Nineteenth and Timea streets, some of the ladies of St. Paul's Evangelical church gave an ice cream social at which there was a large attendance. Ice cream and cake were served under many Japanese lanterns which were strung around the park and a very pleasant time was had by all present.

The Sunday School class of Rev. R. W. Lilley of the First Christian church, gave an ice cream social last evening on the lawn of the E. L. Aldrich home at Nineteenth and Timea streets. The customary decorations were used and a graphophone furnished music for the entertainment of the crowd which was present to enjoy the evening.

The Triangular Cadets, an organization of boys who have a drill class at the Y. M. C. A., gave a most enjoyable social on the lawn at the T. H. Pond residence on 715 Grand Ave. Harold Pond being a member of the company. Japanese lanterns were hung from wires strung on numerous trees covering the yard and the effect was very pretty. A large crowd enjoyed the hospitality of the boys, who during the evening served ice cream and cake.

A LITTLE RED SPOT

Novel Experiment by Which It May Be Made to Disappear. A peculiar feature about psoriasis, the new skin discovery is that no one is asked to buy it without first sending to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, for an experimental sample and applying same to an affected part of the skin, about the size of a silver dollar. It will clear the spot so treated in twenty-four hours—a remarkable visual demonstration of its powers.

While psoriasis has been mentioned principally in connection with the cure of eczema, the most stubborn of skin diseases, it must be remembered that when used for itch, hives, pimples, blotches, acne, itching feet, scaly scalp, chafing of infants and similar minor skin troubles its action is all the more pronounced, results being seen after an overnight application. As only a small quantity of psoriasis is necessary to cure such cases, a special fifty-cent package, usually sufficient, has been placed on sale at Wilkinson & Co.'s and other leading drug stores in Keokuk and throughout the country.

NEW TRACKS TO BE LAID

C. B. & Q. is Figuring on Installing Extra Tracks on the Uptown Switch and at the Round-House.

WILL BE A GOOD THING

Owing to the Crowded Condition of Affairs Which are Met by Those Who Handle Freight There.

The C. B. & Q. railroad intends to make a few improvements around here according to Road Master Woodin who is supervising some work which is being done now. At the present time he is seeing that the tracks which are being raised five feet higher north of here are fixed in good shape. He is also keeping his eye on a new bridge which the company is constructing near Weaver.

However these improvements just mentioned do not have so much to do with the welfare of Keokuk as some of the others which the officials are contemplating, the most important of which is the laying of new team tracks on the up town switch and the building of a one thousand foot coach track down near the round house, thus facilitating matters to a great extent. The switch tracks which will be installed will extend, it is thought, clear up to Ninth and Johnson streets, this having become necessary owing to the recent establishment of business houses up in that end of town.

To Be Started Immediately.

This work will surely be done according to reliable information, at an early date as the materials have already been purchased and all that is necessary is to get the workmen together. These improvements will certainly be a good thing as a great amount of the freight business in this city is done on the uptown switch, as it is called, and cars have been placed in a cramped condition owing to the crowded state of affairs.

Mr. Woodin left this morning with District Superintendent Wilsey for a trip of inspection over the Mt. Pleasant branch. They travel in a special motor car which the yard master uses.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron, Jr. are entertaining the following company at their home on Grand Avenue: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Drenta and daughter of Dallas, Texas, Dr. and E. A. Wirsig of Waterloo and Miss Miss Mary Rogerson of Moline.

BURGLARY AGAIN LAST EVENING

Ed Wolley's Place of Business Entered Last Evening and Considerable Money Taken from Cash Bag.

THE POLICE ON CLEWS

Entrance Made Through Rear Window—Figgemeier Robbery of Several Years ago Recalled.

Yesterday must have been Ed Wolley's birthday; at least that is what a midnight visitor thought, for this morning Mr. Wolley found that his place of business, 718 Main street, had been entered and cash taken in the neighborhood of $100. The money was in a cash bag and was placed in the towels back of the bar. The robbery was discovered this morning and reported to the police.

From all appearances of the robbery the act must have been performed by a person or persons familiar with the place and the fact that Wolley had left the money in the building. Entrance was made through a rear window, the screen being cut sufficiently to permit raising the catch. The burglar entered sometime between the hours of 10 o'clock last evening and daylight this morning.

Recalls Similar Case.

The robbery last evening recalls the act of John Figgemeier, the ex-Keokuk baseball player. Figgemeier entered the Wolley place several years ago through the very same window and by the same method. The money taken by Figgemeier at the time was recovered.

The affair was reported to the police and action is already being taken by Deputy Marshal Harrington in the absence of Marshal Kesselring, who is in Ottumwa today. The police think beyond question that it has been done by local talent but refuse to divulge any of the clues that are being worked up.

CITY NEWS.

The increase in the sale of stamps at post office station No. 1, for the year 1909 is $164.04 greater than the corresponding months of 1908. A notable increase is noticed in the money order receipts for the present year, during the months of April, May and June, $1,881 more in receipts being taken in in this department.

Although quite a few members of the Country Club will be out of the city on the Fifth of July, yet there will be plenty of entertainment at the grounds for those who remain in the city. The bus will run from the street car line to the golf grounds during the afternoon and evening. Hazen I. Sawyer is making arrangements for several golf games and it is expected that a tournament of some kind will be pulled off.

Ellsworth Bower, the "vag" arrested by the police yesterday afternoon spent the night and today in jail and will probably be released this evening and headed out of town.

Choice spring chickens at Haubert's.

The fire alarm last evening came from the cereal works, but the department was not used when it arrived.

It seems like the hotter it gets the more are the people who travel. Any way today, the hottest day of the year saw more people at the station than any day yet this year. A great many people are on their vacation at this time and seek the cool breezes of the ocean or mountain.

PERSONAL

Dr. and Mrs. Philip Newcomb and Mrs. M. A. Carwan of St. Louis spent yesterday and last night in the city. en route home from a western tour of six weeks. They were guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Newcomb.

The Wonderful Amazon.

Although not the largest or longest river, the Amazon is the most wonderful river in the world, with a mouth 150 miles in width, and with a force of water that repels, or at least over-whelms the ocean to a distance of more than fifty leagues. Yet, in spite of the weight of the river, the tide makes its influence felt for 500 miles from the coast. The easterly trade winds blow almost invariably upward, so as to be ready to help the vessel against the adverse currents.

Worse.

"So your marriage was a failure?" said the sympathetic friend. "Worse than that," answered the man who was writing a check for alimony; "it was bankruptcy."

NEGOTIATIONS HAVE NOT BEEN MADE

Hugh W. Green, General Manager of the Cereal Works, Stated that Plant Will be Closed for Repairs Only.

CAPACITY BE INCREASED

New Machines are Being Installed and the Rumor that Plant Would Close Indefinitely is False One.

Hugh W. Green, general manager of the J. C. Hurlinger Brothers starch plant, stated this afternoon that the big plant would be closed down commencing Sunday for needed repairs, and would probably be closed down for a week or ten days.

Mr. Green in denying the rumor this afternoon that the cereal works would close down on tomorrow evening for an indefinite period, said: "I wish to deny, flatly, that the plant will close down for any thing other than repairs and I know of no negotiation whereby the plant has changed hands."

To prove his assertions, a representative of this paper was taken through the entire plant by Mr. Green and the various improvements that are to be made in the next ten days were pointed out to him.

Mr. Green was much surprised on learning of the rumor and stated that he had heard nothing of the report that the mill had been bought in with a number of other similar concerns by the trust.

During its institution in this city many improvements have been made by the owners of the plant and the plant is over five times its former capacity.

At present a number of large and new machines are being installed in the mill rooms and the capacity of the plant will be increased greatly. A large amount is to be expended on the repairs, and Mr. Green stated this afternoon that eight days would be required to make the repairs in the plant and operations in the mill would be resumed on Sunday evening, the 11th of the month or on Monday.

This is the first time that the plant has been closed in eighteen months, closing each time for repairs that were necessary to be made.

All employees will work during the next week except those who lay off voluntarily.

To Cough Properly.

Few people know how to cough properly, says Health. It never occurs to the ordinary individual that there is a right way and a wrong way of doing it. Yet it is a matter of no small importance.

If each sigh means a drop of blood out of the heart, as people say, every cough means some greater or less proportion of time knocked off one's life.

Most people cough as loudly and forcibly as they can. But it is rather costly noise for the reason that it tears and inflames the lungs. The lungs consist of an extraordinary delicate spongelike tissue, which sometimes get inflamed and choked with phlegm. When we try to get rid of this substance we cough. But obviously, if we remove it violently, we must necessarily injure the delicate lung tissue. Therefore, train yourself to cough as gently as possible.

You only waste time when you try to find a lost opportunity.

"Soon you will be flying through the air like birds." "It has already come to pass," answered the air ship expert. "Our similarity to birds is painful. We have had to apply for the passage of laws that will keep reckless people from shooting at us."

A Mean Revenge.

"You seem to be considerably elated over something." "Yes. I have a friend who is almost stone deaf. I took him out home with me last night, and my wife had to sit there all the evening and merely nod and smile while he talked."

The Great Teacher.

Call no man master, for one is your teacher—life. And it is the business of science to think afterwards what life has taught first.

The Right to be Disagreeable. If business men were to throw off self control in their offices and places of business as many of them do in their homes, and say the same mean, contemptible, unguarded things to their customers that they say to members of their own families, their business would soon go to pieces.

There are thousands of men who are polite, tactful, diplomatic toward their customers, and in everything which bears upon their business, who seem to lock their good manners up in their offices at night, men who are known as Dr. Jekylls in all their business transactions, but who assume the character of Mr. Hyde as soon as they enter their own homes, where they feel at liberty to ride roughshod over everybody's feelings. They do not seem to think that the wife, or any other member of the family, gets tired, has "nerves," or troubles of any kind. They exercise self-restraint all day, but the moment they get home, they seem to vent their bad humor on everybody, even on the dog or the cat. Is it not a strange thing that so many people think that home is not a place for the exercise of self-control, but take it for granted that there they can abuse everybody without restraint?

The head of the house is not always the only offender in this respect. Wives and children often seem to think that the home is the place where they can indulge in fits of hot temper, and say all manner of mean, disagreeable and despicable things. They think that they have a right to spend a whole evening or perhaps days, pouting over some fancied injury or some trifles. There are many homes where all the laws of courtesy and even of ordinary decency, are set at defiance, where the boys go downstairs in the morning and about the house half dressed without the slightest feeling of delicacy. The girls are often just as careless as their brothers. They go around the house in all sorts of costumes, soiled and untidy, and often to the table, especially in the morning, in a disgraceful condition. They think it is all right because only their brothers and parents are present.

Many a man who is very deferential to society women treats the girls or poor women who happen to be dependent upon him for a living, very shabbily. A society always alert to show the slightest service to the ladies, he is absolutely indifferent to the comfort and feelings of a stenographer or other women in his employ. Those who are bound to him by the necessity of earning their living, do not call out his nobler sentiments. He regards them as just "help," nothing more. They may be infinitely finer grained than himself, but he rides roughshod over their sensitive feelings, domineering, criticising, mercilessly scolding, even using profane language.

Such a man would be terribly shocked if those to whom he is so deferential in society knew how he treated the women in his employ. They would not believe it possible—if they could be in his office, store or factory for a day—that the man who displays these coarse, brute qualities, could possibly be the polished gentleman they met the evening before.—Success Magazine.

The Sausage in History.

Sausage has eyes from very early times been a popular table delicacy. Aristophanes was familiar with it and in Roman days the sausages of Lucania were in high esteem. They were made from pork and the nuts of the stone pine, flavored with bay leaves and other things more familiar. Bologna was celebrated for its sausages long before the German sausage had even thought of invading the rest of the world, and until quite lately it was commonly called in England a "polony."

Functions of the Happy.

A happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of goodwill; and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted. We need not care whether they could prove the forty-seventh proposition; they do a better thing than that, they practically demonstrate the great theorem of the Livableness of Life.—Robert Louis Stevenson.
