MAXIMUM FINE IN WELSH CASE

Fined Five Dollars and Costs in Superior Court this Morning for Keeping Open on Sunday

CONFLICT IN TESTIMONY

Martin Testified that He Paid for Corn and Defendant Stated that She Gave it Away to Him.

In the superior court this morning Mrs. Gusta Welsh was found guilty of selling on Sunday in violation of the Sunday closing law and fined five dollars and costs and her bond placed at twenty-five dollars.

The case was a result of the second information filed against the defendant by J. A. Pollard, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association, the action being taken as a protection for the city.

A direct conflict in the testimony resulted in the examination of the witnesses. Henry Martin was the first on the stand and testified to having been given a collar by Ira De Yong a grocer on South Fifth street on Sunday, July 11 to go to the Welsh place of business and purchase a can of corn.

The defendant tried to show that the information should have been filed against Mike Welsh as the owner of the store and not Gusta Welsh and that he was the true proprietor and also that the store was in the nature of a confectionary establishment and not for the sale of groceries.

Judge McNamara rendered his decision basing it upon the credibility of the witnesses and upon their interest in the testimony. Five dollars was the maximum penalty by law.

—Read the want column. —Don't miss the last Quincy-Keokuk game of the series tomorrow afternoon. —Suits for divorce have been filed by Grace Harms seeking separation from Gerryheart Harms and Hattie Spaulding seeking separation from William J. Spaulding.

—M. F. Printy, plaintiff in the recent suit of M. F. Printy versus Bonham Bros., has given notice of appeal a decision in the case being rendered a short time ago by Justice Purvoss. The defendant gave notice of appeal immediately after the plaintiff was granted judgment in the sum of about $35.

—With an attendance Tuesday of 24,601, the total attendance for the first forty-two days of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition passed the million mark, the grand total being 1,015,272. This surpasses the record of the Lewis and Clark exposition and also of the Jamestown exposition. In the former case the million mark was reached at the end of sixty-five days and at Jamestown it was nearly three months before the turnstiles recorded 1,000,000 admissions.

—F. C. Johnson of the Smith Hardware Co., was called to Ravenwood, Mo., last night by a dispatch announcing the death of his brother-in-law, Mr. P. L. Beedle of that city. Mr. Beedle has often visited in Keokuk and has a number of friends and acquaintances here. He was born at Eldersville, Ill., and lived there until his marriage to Miss Ida Johnson when he went to Ravenwood, Mo., to live, where he has resided ever since. He leaves three children in addition to his wife to mourn his loss.

—The Centerville Citizen reports the progress in the interurban at that place as follows: Bonds of the new Centerville-Mystic interurban line appear to be in demand, as subscriptions are still coming in and it is said a premium has been offered for some of them. The interurban committee today received a letter from the headquarters of the Citizens' Lumber company offering to take $500 bonds, but the subscription cannot be accepted unless some bondholder wants to dispose of his bonds which none seem anxious to do. One $500 subscription which was made conditionally may give the lumber company the desired opportunity to invest. The engineers made a good start yesterday and got as far as the W. P. Davis farm west of the city. They found the work about as expected, but the members of the party were tired when evening came.

—A double header will be played Sunday. —Lowest prices in the city in all shoes and oxfords. Star Shoe Store. —The steamer Quincy went down stream this morning on its way to St. Louis.

—Regular meeting of Pucketchuck encampment No. 7, I. O. O. F., at Odd Fellows' hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Visiting brethren fraternally invited to attend.

—The annual Farmer's picnic at Bladinsville will be held on August 5. Ex-Governor Folk will speak and there will be a flower parade as one of the features.

—Water melons have made their appearance in the market and those who can not wait for the home grown fruit can have their appetites appeased by the southern grown product.

—President Taft has notified Des Moines that he will be in that city between September 20 and 25, this fall. He also states that he will make stops at three other cities, which ones have not yet been chosen. Here is a good chance for Keokuk to get another president of the United States to stop off here for a few hours.

—Quincy Journal: Oscar Shannon, treasurer of the local association, and Catcher Walsh left for Keokuk on the noon train. Walsh has been sick, but is able to get back into the game again. Hofman is still with the team, but will leave tomorrow for Chicago, from where he will be sent to New Orleans, where he will in all probability finish the season.

—Burlington is busy raising the thousand dollar purse to be divided between the first and second places of the race which is to be pulled off at that city on August 9. The Red Top, Minnie C III, Independence II, Planet II and Lamb IV are to be entered in the race. The money will be divided, $750 to the winner and $250 to second place. A gala time is expected to be had in Burlington on the day of the race, and the affair will wind up with fireworks and celebration at night.

—The floods of last week washed out the two covered bridges over the Wyaconda just west of Canton. One of these bridges was on the upper and the other on the lower Canton and Monticello road. Their leaving cuts Canton off from all adjoining territory except a strip about two miles wide, up and down the river. The two covered bridges were old relics, both having been built just after the close of the civil war. They were of the lattice variety, the sides being weatherboarded and having shingled roofs. These coverings preserved the frame work and it was due to this fact that the bridges did service so long. It will cost considerable money to replace them, as both were long spans.

—Quincy Whig: Last year when the Vermont Street Methodist church gave its annual excursion to Keokuk it was stated that the outing this year would break all previous records. Judging from the advance sale of tickets for the trip on the river on Friday of this week, the indications are that this will be the hammer excursion of the year. The palatial steamer W. W. has been secured for the trip and will be in readiness to take care of all who desire to take advantage of the invitation extended by the church people. An orchestra will accompany the excursionists, and there will be plenty of cool and refreshing ices sold aboard the boat. This feature of the entertainment will be in charge of the high school boys' class. Confectionery will be sold by an especially selected number of young ladies, while the lunch stand will be in charge of the matrons of the Sunday School. It is announced that the boat will leave promptly at 8:30 Friday morning, arriving in Keokuk at 1:30.

—Quincy Journal: Most of the river excursions this season have not been great successes from a financial standpoint, owing to unfavorable weather conditions, but the one which left the local landing this morning, under the auspices of the St. Joseph Young Men's Society, pulled out with the full capacity of the boat, the W. W. and barge, which is one thousand. The crowd consisted chiefly of ladies and children, and a merry one at that. The boat steamed up the river at 9 o'clock and was due to arrive at Keokuk at 2 o'clock. Returning the boat leaves Keokuk at about 8 o'clock and is expected to arrive home at about 10 p. m. This is their second annual excursion and is in the nature of a family event in which all details are looked after by a large committee to make it a social success. Those wishing to witness the Keokuk-Quincy game are having such an opportunity this afternoon. Among them is Quincy's noted roofer, John Guck. Officer Joe Lipps was at the end of the gang plank here and saw that no undesirable persons went aboard. A number of clergymen were on board, among them being Rev. A. Kunsch, Rev. J. Marlon, Rev. John Bannan and others.

—Water pipes are being laid to the new button factory which is now well under way at Third and Ridge street. Not many weeks will elapse before the new building for this latest addition of Keokuk manufacturers will be complete. The company intends that saws and machinery shall be placed in the lower story of the building before the upper story is complete, really beginning operation before the building is completed.

—Ladies' Day at Hubinger park tomorrow. —At the meeting this evening of Pucketchuck encampment the newly elected officers for the ensuing half year, will be installed. —Mrs. Walter Craig was in Denver, Ill., recently to attend the funeral of her grandfather, the late B. F. Tucker, who died July 9, at the age of 83 years. He was survived by 27 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren. —The pupils of St. Mary's school and their parents, enjoyed a hay rack party into the country today, the wagons leaving at 9 o'clock for the Merts farm, about four miles out in the country. They will spend the day in the woods and will return this evening, via the hay rack route. —The placing of the red stars to show the track connections of the various roads operating in Iowa is a feature of the new map of Iowa, which has just been completed and which is being sent out from the office of the state railroad commission. The map also shows all interurban lines up to date as well as the Mason City extension of the Iowa Short Line. —Nauvoo Independent: The trolley surveyors are still out, having surveyed every day during the past three weeks that the weather permitted. The preliminary survey has not yet been completed. They are having a lot of work locating the best route into Niota. Another eastern capitalist will be here tomorrow to go over the route. Mr. Kieran will return to the city next Monday. —A Des Moines river newspaper gives out the following warning: Look out! There is a big crocodile in the Des Moines river! At least that is the report that comes from Eddyville. There was a crocodile show at that place and one of the big reptiles, nine feet long and three hundred pounds in weight, escaped. It is supposed to be in the river hunting bad boys who do not mind their mamas—kids of color preferred.

CITY IN HEALTH SAYS DR. FEGERS

Keokuk is Enjoying an Era of Healthful Prosperity and there are no Contagious Diseases

SCARLET FEVER IS GONE

Last Cases Have Disappeared and Homes Fumigated—Little Sickness of Any Kind Reported.

"Keokuk is enjoying an era of healthful prosperity," said City Physician R. H. Fegers to a Gate City reporter this afternoon, "and there is not a single contagious disease in the city at the present time. The last three cases of scarlet fever were disposed of a few days ago and the homes thoroughly fumigated so that now the many residents are living in a state of healthfulness and there is a minimum amount of sickness of all kind."

At one time it will be remembered that there were quite a number of cases of scarlet fever and several cases of other contagious diseases and Dr. Fegers gave the number of the former as thirty-five. All of these have since been cured and the homes thoroughly fumigated and all other forms of malady entirely obliterated. There is little or no sickness of any kind at the present time and with every form of disease fully checked there should be little sickness for some time to come.

Keokuk is indeed fortunate to be able to have the city physician make such a statement as the one above and it is doubtful if any town along the Mississippi can boast of such a clean state of affairs as Keokuk can at the present time.

Dr. Fegers who was but recently appointed city physician is on the hustle all the time and will make an earnest effort to give the city as much health as possible, and especially to keep all public places in the best of condition.

As the city is at the present time it is very inviting to outsiders and it is better to mention prosperity along this line.

CITY NEWS —The city of Fort Madison is busily engaged in cleaning up its streets and alleys, a crusade against the dirt being made at the present time in the Gem City. —The German Evangelical Sunday School enjoyed a picnic today at Wild Cat Springs. Several interurban cars left this morning at 9 o'clock well loaded with those who will enjoy the day in the woods. —There were a thousand excursionists aboard the steamer W. W. and barge Acme yesterday afternoon when the boat landed at this port. Many of the Quincys came up to see the ball game. The excursion was given by St. Joseph's young men of that city and was the largest excursion run from that port during the present summer season.
