How those Indians did field. They fairly made Egan tremble in admiration the way the elusive sphere was tossed around for a triple and double plays, establishing a record which has yet to be surpassed by any team in the country.

The wonderful triple play which is thought to be the first ever pulled off in the Central Association came early in the game, the fans being treated to this surprise in the second inning. Lemon had doubled to left and reached third when Ronan gained the initial bag on Corriden's error.

Bramble Goes Well. During the early stages of the game Bramble and Dove opposed each other, the former doing great work, while the later was forced to retire in the seventh inning when Egan sent Spencer in to bat and Hockenberry took the mound following.

When hits were needed they could not find Bramble and aided by good fielding at critical times he kept things well in hand throughout. This gave him six victories in a row. The Indians found the visiting pitchers for long hits, Bramble and Reichle sending the sphere out for three baggers, the latter with two men on and two down. Grodnick laced out a two bagger.

Manush Walked Again. For the third time in succession Manush, the first man up walked the first time at bat, Bramble passed him to open the game and Finney hit to Corriden. "Red" lost the ball for a moment and lost an opportunity of cutting Manush off at second, but nevertheless retired the hitter at first. Collins sent up a long one to Reichle and Burg struck out, Bramble handing up four out drops, the first being a ball and the other three completely fooling him.

Burlington ascended the plains immediately and it looked as if the next would be robbed in the first inning. Grodnick hit weakly to Dove and was retired. Annis hit to Burg, who threw low and Lemon's low throw allowed him to reach third on a steal of second. Corriden went out, Ronan to Rose and Reichle fanned the air.

One Run; No Hit. Keokuk retired the visitors by the triple play in the second and the home lads responded in their half by sending a man around the coveted path without a hit nor an error. Miller walked and was sacrificed to second by Landry. Hildebrand hit to Dove who made the mistake of playing for Miller at third when the latter had a big lead and both runners were safe. Belt sent a long one to left field and Miller easily scored after the catch. Hildebrand was duped into stealing while Dove held the ball and was caught between the bases.

Burlington was easy in the third, but Keokuk annexed another point after Bramble had struck out. Grodnick kissed the pellet to right for a short fly near the foul line which proved too difficult for Finney. Annis flew out to left and Corriden sent a hot one over Ronan's head, which the latter was just able to knock down. Grodnick scored on the bingle.

A Brace of Runs. Two more runs came for Keokuk in the fifth on singles by Grodnick and Annis and Reichle's three bagger to far right center. In the seventh a three bagger by Bramble and a clever sacrifice by Annis gave up another tally and stowed the game away in a safe place. Superior fielding by the Keokuk team kept Burlington safe and in a pinch Bramble worked in air tight form. In the fourth a fast play was pulled off by Grodnick, resulting from a sure peg to home. Collins led off with a base on balls and Burg hit to right field. Lemon flew out and Ronan hit to near second for a fast one, which if Grodnick could have handled would have forced a runner at the midway. As it was the ball got past Grodnick and Collins, a fast man, tried to make home. Grodnick chased the ball deep and hurled it to the plate catching the runner.

The First Double. The first double play came in the seventh inning. Ronan reached first on an error by Annis and Rose's single sent him to second. Donovan flew out to right and Spencer was sent in to bat for Hockenberry. He hit to "Red" who touched Ronan as he passed and then heaved to Miller in time to complete the double play. The same play resulted in the ninth with Ronan on second, Barnes, who batted for Donovan on first, and Hockenberry at the bat. The play closed the game.

Yesterday's game was one of the most spectacular of the season. Yesterday was ladies' day and the attendance was about 570 people.

Three out of four from Burlington—Too bad Ned, we had to do it or lose our jobs. A little duck at Jacksonville today. Four straight from the Lunatics is scheduled.

Reichle and Bramble each got nice ones good for three sacks. In the eighth inning Manush led off with a single and Collins followed with a two bagger. Bramble tightened up and no scores were made, the batters being helpless before him.

Lemon was roasted pretty hard again yesterday and the howls of the spectators show in what standing he is in this community. Our pitching department had it on Burlington easily. Prough is the master of Boyd. Bramble is better than Spencer. Burch is superior to Hockenberry and Blue Jacket can twirl rings around Dove. The infield is better and our outfield is almost as good.

WAS IT A TRIPLE PLAY?

This is the Big Question that the Fans Are Trying to Solve to their Satisfaction

SOME SAY IT WASN'T

There is But One Point Where There is Room for Discussion in Making the Answer.

The great play which was pulled off by the locals yesterday in their game with Burlington in which three of the visitors were retired, is evidently in need of a name which has not yet been placed in the baseball dictionary, according to some of the fans around here. The play in particular was the one on which Lemon, Ronan and Rose were retired in the second inning of the contest which was the last one of the series and a detailed account of which appears in the story of the game on the sporting page.

Now some devotees of the sport here who happened to see the play come forth with the information that the play should not come under the head of a triple because the men were not forced to be put out. Others claim that it was a triple because three men were retired before the pitcher again delivered the ball to the batter. This latter evidence seems to be the strongest and should bear out the fact that the play was a triple and should be called a triple just as the official scorer has designated it.

Those who stand by the first statement say that the play should not be called a triple for the reason that two of the men who were put out did not have to run and by staying on their bases could have prevented the two additional outs from being made. They also lost sight of the fact that if just the batter and Lemon had been retired on the throw the play would not have been called a double. This is just where the trouble comes in—the disciples of this statement do not take into account the literal meaning of the words and just because the play yesterday was not a forced one such as double plays usually are, they say it was not what it really is.

If it was not a triple what was it? If some one can furnish another name which is in the least ways plausible, those who claim that it is as designated by the scorer will probably be willing to give the matter some serious thought, but as it now stands they hold and rightfully too, that the play which retired three men is rightfully called a triple play and should stand as such.

Sporting Tips

Lemon could not peg yesterday and the Indians had little trouble going down on him, the bases being pilfered cleanly. Belt's long sacrifice fly in the second inning was almost as good as a hit. The old timer's about as valuable with the stick as any man on the team.

Hockenberry has something up his sleeve which is very deceptive. Many times during the innings in which he worked he sent over fast ones which broke the heart of the plate and yet the Keokuk batters did not swing, evidently being deceived.

Our pitching department had it on Burlington easily. Prough is the master of Boyd. Bramble is better than Spencer. Burch is superior to Hockenberry and Blue Jacket can twirl rings around Dove. The infield is better and our outfield is almost as good.

Mier was on the diamonds yesterday and worked out with the team. The big fellow displayed his wonderful arm to advantage and his fine throws to second drew words of admiration from the crowd.

Burlington had but four bats on the ground near the bench yesterday. Egan must be waiting for money from
