

IS THREATENED WITH REVOLUTION

Spain is in Danger of Internal Strife
Because of the Unsuccessful
War in Morocco

THE BULL HEADED KING

Will Not Call the Cortes Together But is Trying to Run Things
According to His Own Ideas.

MADRID, July 23.—Spain is verging on civil strife today, and the king is posting troops known to be loyal at all strategic points to suppress the first indications of a revolution. With the government suppressing the Moroccan war news it is known that the Moors have the advantage over the Spaniards, who are fighting on the defensive now. Several hundred Spaniards have fallen and several Spanish guns were captured. The king is being denounced vigorously all over the country. Republicans demand an extraordinary session of the Spanish Cortes to discuss the war but the king is obdurate in his refusal to summon the law makers, fearing it will interfere with his plans. The king went to Ferrol for the purpose of hastening the departure of army reserves and rush them to Ceuta. It is announced that the king expects to seek the advice of Prince Henry of Prussia, who is visiting in Spain. The sultan of Morocco has protested to the powers against the war, declaring it is a violation of the terms of the Algerian treaty and demands the protection of the powers.

KENOSHA STRIKE QUIET AT NOON

But There Were Good Prospects of More Violence on Account of the Agitators.

KENOSHA, Wis., July 23.—The situation is quiet here today as a result of the strike. The crisis is expected when the committee representing the workmen confers with officials of the N. R. Allen Sons' Tannery at noon. Officials of the company reiterate the statement that they want make any concessions, and the strikers might as well stay away if they expect to get different terms. General Falk says he intends to keep the military mobilized at Milwaukee all day in readiness. Should the conference fail, trouble is expected. Agitators are circulating among the strikers, and it is feared they may incite more violence.

Didn't Want Much.
The strikers' conference was held with the employers this morning and their demands were refused.

The Demands.
Release of employes arrested.
Pay for time while striking.
Payment of medical expenses for strikers injured during rioting.
Full time for time absent from work.

Discharge of all who didn't strike.
Transfer of Foreman Schneider to another department.
Increase of a dollar per week for employes.

More time for lunch.
Change in shop conditions.
The employes were offered an increase in pay of some fifty cents per week. The conference was dissolved and the committee returned to the strikers to report. Gen. Falk notified the governor that troops were not needed but advised the four companies in Milwaukee to be held at the armory.

A meeting of the strikers declared to recede from the demands made to the company and accept the terms offered with an added demand that the men be paid for the three days' strike. A new conference is called for 2:30. General Manager Thiers says the company will not grant more than the previous offer. The sentiment is that the strikers will accept.

Thaw on Monday.
NEW YORK, July 23.—Thaw will testify in the final struggle to free himself, Monday. Jerome said today he would assist the state at White Plains.

LAFOLLETTE WRITES ANOTHER EDITORIAL

Says the Tariff Bill is a Nest of Legislative Snakes and is Causing Trouble.

MADISON, Wis., July 23.—Charging that Cannon wants the senate to adopt a closure for the tariff question so that the "bothersome debate may be suppressed" LaFollette publishes an attack on Cannon in this week's issue of his weekly. The senate has got to adopt the closure rule. The debate made trouble, is the statement Cannon is reported to have made after the senate concluded its work on the bill and returned the bill to the house. Cannon is worried. He has heard from the country of the deep, ominous resentment of the people against the sort of revision Cannonism and Aldrichism are striving to inflict upon the consumer. Cannon is indignant. The bill passed the house under a special rule of closure. Debate is possible in the senate. Aldrich forced a consideration of the bill in the senate, allowing no time for examination, and counted on rushing it through. Bristow, Beveridge, Brown, Clapp, Cummins, Dooliver, and Nelson probed, questioned and protested until the truth was uncovered. The bill is a veritable nest of legislative "snakes." A debate proceeded and the country was informed and is now making trouble.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—Forty persons are known to have been killed and many were buried in the ruins of a five story building under construction which collapsed today. Forty bodies were recovered. Judge Foster Told the Criminal What He Thought of Him and How
He Was a Menace to Labor.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Cornelius P. Shea, former president of the International Teamsters union, who led the teamsters in the bloody strike in Chicago, today was sentenced to five to twenty-five years at Sing Sing. He was found guilty of assault with intent to commit murder, having stabbed Alice Walsh 27 times. In passing sentence, Judge Foster said "such brutes as you are a menace to organized labor, and not an aid. It is men like you who have brought disrespect on the honest working men, composing the unions. You are not only a menace to the unions, but to the community also."

MILWAUKEE, July 23.—An attempt to mob Mrs. Frank Brockhaus, accused of mistreating her two step children, was made today by a crowd of women at the court hearing. They followed her out of the building, spat upon her, and tried to seize her and tear her hair. The woman was followed by 300 people to an attorney's office. The women declared they intended to lynch her when she came out. The police dispersed the crowd.

WARNING AGAINST FREAK PROMISES

No Free Hides in the Tariff Bill Says a Senator Who Believes He Knows.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—"Don't make any bets or promise you won't shave or get your hair cut until hides go on the free list if you don't want to look like Rip Van Winkle," is the advice given today by a prominent senator. This voiced the feeling of the western senator on the whole question of raw materials. He was willing to make concessions in rates but will stand pat on the proposition to remove all duties from hides, coal and lumber. In the opinion of the senators who talked to the president lately, there is no possible ground for the talk that he might veto the bill if it did not include free hides, iron ore and reduced rates on lumber.

Senate leaders expect the conference tariff report to be ready for consideration Monday. This was indicated today in the senate when Keen, one of the republican leaders moved that the agreement of the senate to adjourn for three days be modified so that a session may be held on Monday instead of Tuesday. He said he was informed the report would probably be ready then. The motion was adopted. The report will go to the house first and it is believed a special rule will be introduced limiting the debate. It is believed it will take a day in the house and a week in the senate. There will be unlimited discussion in the senate.

Aldrich said this afternoon that an agreement on the tariff bill was in sight, and he hoped the conferees would complete their work before night. At the morning session the cotton schedule occupied much time. It is believed that the house conferees will become satisfied with most of the senate rates on the higher grades of cotton goods. They have secured some slight concessions in the lower grades.

PROGRESS OF THE SUTTON TRIAL

The Revolver Which Caused Death of Naval Officer is Sticking Point in the Case.

ANNAPOLIS, July 23.—Interest in the Sutton inquiry today opened about the movement of the mysterious revolver handed to Sergeant DeHart. The Sutton family's attorney declares he will put every participant in the fight back on the stand to ascertain who gave the revolver to DeHart. The former board failed to preserve the bullets taken from the revolver found after the shooting, and made no effort to identify the make of the revolver which fired the bullets that entered Sutton's head. Attorney Davis announced that he will insist that these points be cleared before a verdict is reached.

Declaring that Lieut. Adams was the first to pull off his coat for the fight ending in the supposed suicide of Lieut. Sutton, Chauffeur William I. Owens, who was driving Sutton, and the other officers from Carvell hall, today testified. Owens was positive that Adams had not been spoken to enroute over and had not quarreled with any one. Adams flushed hotly as Owens charged that Adams jumped from the machine and doffed his coat as soon as the automobile crossed the bridge.

The chauffeur expressed inability to understand Adams' move and why the other two officers and Sutton following a fight. He said he saw the two grab Sutton and saw Adams rush for Sutton. He was forced away by one participant, who, he said wasn't Sutton. Noticed Adams rush again towards the now dead lieutenant as he was forced to drive off the grounds. Sutton still had no coat on. Owens was unshaken on cross examination.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 23.—Reports at noon today from the storm swept section of southern Texas shows the death list to be 26, and the property loss estimated at three million. The full extent of the damage is unknown, because of the crippled condition of communication, making the reports incomplete. The towns which yesterday reported none killed, today give a death list. Corpus Christi was damaged by the storm but none were killed. The storm was greater than at first supposed and it is believed the death list will be larger when all reports are sent in. Rockport was damaged. Direct communication with Corpus Christi is not established. Matagorda peninsula, Matagorda Island, St. Joseph Island and Mustang Island were swept by the storm. The state health department at Austin is informed that the quarantine station is demolished and the fumigating barge sunk.

Compulsory Military Service Bill is

LONDON, July 23.—It was developed today that Lord Robert's compulsory military service bill voted on in the house of lords, is not dead, but sleeping. The bill is awaiting a suitable moment for passage. The lords favor the bill. The lords are convinced that it is a solution of the problem of home defense and realize that such an innovation would be decidedly unpopular with the common citizen, especially the Irish.

PARIS, July 23.—Radicals attempted today to obtain the resignation of M. Aristide Briand, the recently appointed premier. It is probable they will be unsuccessful. It is sure that Briand must carry a stormy future. It is reported he is meeting with difficulty in securing suitable men to accept portfolios in the cabinet and unless he succeeds tomorrow, he will not accept, and an offer will be tendered to M. Leon Bourgeois. Briand declared he will announce to President Fallieres, his decision late this afternoon. He has offered the ministry of finance to M. Caillaux but the latter has not answered. If he refuses, it will be offered to Raymond Poincaré, former minister of finance.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 23.—With the center of interest shifted from Galveston, where a repetition of the great storm of 1900 was threatened, the lower coast regions, cut off twenty-four hours from the outside world by broken wires, are giving up a greater life loss and property damage than last returns from Galveston, which greatly minimized first reports.

Along the south coast, many miles inland, the loss of life may total a score, while the property loss will run into the hundreds of thousands. Communication with the stricken district yet is incomplete, but straggling wires carry broken reports of the devastation wrought by the hurricane, which is said by many to have been worse in velocity than the storm of 1900.

Bay City seems to have been in the vortex of the storm, although the life loss was small, an infant of M. M. Calloway being crushed under falling walls. The damage to the town will total 50 per cent and in figures $250,000.

No house in the city escaped damage and in the business section half of the buildings were razed. Martial law has been proclaimed and the people are setting themselves to the task of rebuilding, handicapped by a lack of labor and a dearth of carpenters. The city is in darkness, electric wires lying in tangled masses in the streets and the waterworks has been demolished, which cuts off the city's supply.

At Bay Shore one is reported dead, with a heavy property damage, and at Velasco, a few miles away, but three buildings were left standing. There the water is reported waist deep and boats, secured from the Colorado River, are being used for transportation, and the rescue of people from trees.

E. C. Chapner, formerly of Waterloo, Iowa, is the only storm victim at Eagle Lake, although, as in other parts of the stricken zone, the property loss is heavy.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 23.—The bodies of Capt. R. L. Bettison and wife, locked in each others arms, the salt water running from the woman's hair, were found today on Mud Flats, Swan Reef, where they were left by the receding waters. A rescue party left and will take the bodies to Galveston.

The service was read by Elder Steward, a Seventh Day Adventist. Elder Steward made the following statement after the ceremony:
"Orchard is a devout convert and feels that his sins have been forgiven. He told me that he had fully determined to commit suicide if sent up for life, but that in his faith he had found consolation and was content to remain behind the prison walls for the rest of his natural life."

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 23.—At the climax of an all night debate in the Australian house of representatives, Sir John William Holder, speaker of the house, was stricken with apoplexy and died shortly after in an ante-room of the parliament building. The attack was the result of excitement. The house was in session yesterday and last evening was in a turmoil. As the speaker pounded on the desk, he fell on the desk. He was the first speaker of the house when it was formed in 1901 and held the office continuously.

NAIVASHA, July 23.—A train of ninety natives staggering under trophies of the Roosevelt hunt, arrived here today. Forty men alone were required to bring the sections of the hippos killed Tuesday. The bull hippo measured fourteen feet.

While Roosevelt was galloping across the marsh yesterday, he suddenly came across three white ibis of the species known as the sacred ibis of Egypt. Roosevelt fired three shots in succession as the birds arose and two dropped, while a feather of the third fell.

Roosevelt visited the homes of several settlers. He commented on similarity of conditions there and those of the western part of America. The naturalists and taxidermists are working assorting and labeling the specimens secured in the Camp Salgoosol excursion. The bag numbers 2,100 specimens of animals, birds and reptiles.

PROTECTION OF VICE

Unclearing of Some of the Systems Being Practiced in the Underworld of the Big City.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Louis Frank, a well known west side politician, and Michael Hettler, a resort owner, were indicted today charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from Morris Schaze, a resort keeper. One count of the indictment charges them with collecting money to bribe the police, and another accuses them of having "falsely pretended to be collectors of illicit money" then pocketing the money. Frank is worth a million, and Hettler is wealthy. This is the first indictment of the grand jury which is investigating the alleged payment of money for the protection of vice. Both men for years were powerful leaders of the underworld and it is alleged they found it easy to get money from Schaze when they said they represented the police. Evidence is said to have been given that thousands of dollars is spent annually for "protection." New sensations are promised before the adjournment of the grand jury.

Schaze, it is said, testified that he had to pay $20 monthly for "protection," and when the levy was made $40, he was forced out of business.
