

EVERETT KEMP WAS AT WARSAW

Entertainer Who Was in Keokuk Recently Gave His Recital in That City Tuesday Evening.

WOODMEN ARE ACTIVE

Another Saloon Closed For Want of Patronage Even Though There is no Agitation There.

WARSAW, Ill., Nov. 4.—Mrs. W. V. Hill entertained the 500 club Tuesday night at her beautiful home.

The Adams-Hancock County Dental society held its sixth regular meeting in Carriage November 2 and 3, in the assembly room of the court house.

Dr. T. A. Davis is vice president of this society, and Dr. T. A. Hartley is secretary. Both of Warsaw.

Fred Stevens, who has been laid up with jaundice for several weeks, is on the street again and almost ready to go back to his desk in Chicago.

Another Warsaw saloon has been closed for want of patronage.

A delighted audience heard Everett Kemp in his unapproachable rendition of Seven Oaks at the opera house Tuesday evening, the event being the second in the Senior Class Lyceum course. Mr. Kemp certainly has the "laugh that won't come off" and at once puts his audience enraptured with himself. His lightning changes of voice and face while depicting the fourteen characters of the play was marvelous. His equal as an actor is rarely to be met with. Seven Oaks has a grand lesson in it, and no one who hears it, could fail to be better for it.

Lemuel Mussetter, superintendent of the farm of the famous M. W. A. sanatorium within 11 miles of Colorado Springs, Colo., arrived last evening to make arrangements for the removal of his family to Colorado Springs. He is in prime health and is delighted with Colorado and his work. He will remain here about two weeks.

Miss Caroline Zobel returned Sunday morning from an extended visit to the Pacific coast, during which she visited the Alaska-Yukon exposition. She was delighted with her trip, and full of enthusiasm for the west.

Ed. Lofton, representing the "ad" department of The Gate City, was a Warsaw visitor Tuesday morning.

An especially interesting meeting of Warsaw camp 240 M. W. A. will be held in Woodmen hall Thursday evening, Nov. 4. This camp was organized May 13, 1887, and is healthfully growing, nearly every business and profession in the city being represented, Main street contributing a large portion of the membership. It is the second largest camp in the county.

A rich treat is in store for the amusement going public at the opera house on Wednesday evening, Nov. 24. No such attraction was ever presented here in the history of the city and how Manager Rattermann managed to secure it, is hard to conceive. Needless to say it will be greeted by a packed house and standing room only will be the cry.

Congressman James McKinney and his secretary, Mr. Jas. M. Potter, made Warsaw a visit yesterday.

Whit Lemon has returned from an extended stay in Edwardsville, Ill. He is much improved in health.

The Young People's Society of the Church of the Sacred Heart will entertain at progressive euchre, both afternoon and evening of Thursday Nov. 4.

Miss Miner lectured on Temperance at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening Nov. 3.

The M. E. Aid Society will hold a Kitchen Social in the church basement Friday evening, Nov. 5th. Program and refreshments.

The Girls' Club Halloween Masquerade Ball at Odd Fellows' hall Tuesday evening was a perfect success, and many fine and comical costumes were seen. A large crowd came down from Keokuk. At 9 o'clock the young Men's Cornet band, all masked and led by E. Hamburger as drum major, marched up Main street to the hall, playing as they marched, and joined in the revelry.

Miss Edith Dallam has returned from Spokane, Wash., where she has been visiting relatives. She also attended the Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle.

Mr. A. F. Bliesner has returned from the land drawing in South Dakota. He was unsuccessful.

Warsaw has a branch of the W. C. T. U. organized a short time ago. The officers are, Mrs. Hattie Bliss, president; Mrs. Ralston, vice president, (Presbyterian church); Mrs. S. P. Wallace, vice president, (M. E. church); Miss Maggie Baird, secretary; Miss Electa Bricker, treasurer.

Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs quickly, strengthens the lungs and expels colds. Get the genuine in a yellow package. Wilkinson & Co.

FARMINGTON.

J. A. Teland, the proprietor of the Pilot House, died at his home Wednesday morning at 10:15 o'clock. The deceased was born in Sweden in 1842, emigrated to America in 1867, coming to Chicago, where he remained one year. He then came to Burlington where he worked for the C. B. & Q. railroad. On Nov. 29, 1869, he was married to Miss Christina Davidson, and they moved to Farmington in 1871. Since 1880 Mr. and Mrs. Teland have been proprietors of the Pilot House, which hotel has been the popular stopping place for traveling men for many years. The deceased is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Amanda Clendennin, of Hannibal, Mo. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. C. Goodenough. Chas. Ware and family of Garfield, Kans. visited Friday with Mr. Ware's uncle John Lightfoot. Mrs. Emma Fitchmueller, who has been visiting her son, Albert, in San Francisco, returned home Tuesday. Mrs. S. L. Harmon was called to Columbus Junction by the illness of her mother. Miss Linnie Corns pleasantly entertained the Kensington club on Tuesday evening. Rev. Norton of Pella occupied the Baptist pulpit Sunday. Howard Wolf left Tuesday morning for Saxman, Kans. for a two weeks visit with relatives. The funeral services over the remains of the late Orlan J. Anderson were held Sunday afternoon from his late home. Interment was in Acklam cemetery. Misses Olive Strickler and Ruth Gaston of Keokuk delighted a large audience with their readings and whistling solos at the opera house Monday evening. They came under the auspices of the Catholic aid society.

HIRAM J. ALVIS PASSED AWAY

Was Born in Lee County and Spent All of His Life Here Excepting During the Civil War.

WOUNDED IN THE ARMY

Served With Missouri Company and Was Struck in the Head With a Cannon Ball and Injured.

Hiram J. Alvis, one of the respected old settlers of Lee county, died during the night at his home in the country, four miles west of Montrose. He had been sick but a couple of days and was under the physician's care. He was found dead in bed at 3:00 o'clock this morning, having passed away some time during the night.

Death is thought to have resulted from a wound received during the civil war, in which he served for four years and nine months as a member of Co. G., Twenty-first Missouri. During the war his skull was fractured above the right temple, by a cannon ball and from this wound, he had suffered for many years. Two years ago he had an attack of typhoid fever and this left his body in an enfeebled condition, his health not being very good since that time. Two days ago he was taken sick and was being treated by a physician. During the night, he passed away and was found early this morning dead in his bed.

The deceased had spent all of his life in Lee county, having been born near the present family home, sixty-seven years ago. He heard the call for defenders of the nation and went to the civil war, where he served for the full term and was honorably discharged after seeing much service and suffering many hardships, being wounded as stated above.

After the war he returned to farm life. On October 28, 1868, at Ft. Francisville, Mo., he was married to Miss Nancy Wheatley, who had come west with her parents as a child from Ohio. They returned to the farm in Lee county and led a happy and contented life. Last Thursday the couple were surprised in honor of their wedding anniversary.

Besides his wife, the deceased is survived by a number of children and other relatives, most of them well known Lee county people. The surviving children are the following sons: John E. Alvis, of Keokuk; Hugh A. and Arthur R. Alvis, residing in Lee county. There is a sister, Mrs. Eveline Ferrill of Arizona, and five brothers: Charles L., of Arizona, Audobon of Missouri, and Edward, George and William of Lee county. There are also five grandchildren.

The deceased was not a church member. At one time he was a member of the Odd Fellows. The burial will take place Sunday in the Meeks cemetery.

The old, old story, told times without number, and repeated over and over again for the last 36 years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health—There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by Wilkinson & Co., pharmacy, and J. F. Kiedalsch & Son.

RACES OF AN ANCIENT RACE.

Mounds in Harrison County Work of People of Prehistoric Times—Many Relics Picked Up.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 4.—There are few sections of the United States which would repay so bounteously careful archaeological study as the region comprised within the boundary lines of Harrison county, Iowa, says a resident of this city. During an excursion made possible through the courtesy of Charles L. Crow and Dr. C. S. Kennedy, of Logan, the county seat of Harrison county, during which more than thirty miles of country was covered, there were found some remarkable evidences of the peopling of that section by past races whose culture, judging by their handicraft left behind, proves them to have been very far advanced toward civilization—a people practicing the arts with a degree of perfection which is really remarkable. Earthworks of immense proportions were visited.

These works are in the shape of mounds, one of the largest of which is situated upon land once owned by David W. Kennedy, father of Dr. Kennedy, who purchased the property in 1868 from the original homesteader within two years after the latter had taken possession.

When examined the earthwork was found somewhat circular in form, 400 feet in diameter at its base, rising to a height of approximately fourteen feet. Dr. Kennedy said that score of years ago it was fully twenty-five feet high. This earthwork is located on the south half of the southeast quarter of section 4, range 79, of Jefferson township, on the flood plain of Six-Mile creek. There seemed a possibility that the mound might have originally been a spur of land running from a neighboring ridge cut off from the main portion by some sudden rise of the creek, but as the bridge runs in a direction parallel with the mound this theory seemed untenable. Many relics of the stone age were picked up on the property. A Religious Author's Statement. Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salsbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Wilkinson & Co.

For a Soft Corn. Procure an ivy leaf, soak it in vinegar for some hours and apply to the corn. Allow it to remain on the whole day. Repeat the application for several successive days and the corn will take its departure.
