PICTURE WILL BE RETURNED

Management of Dodge's Theatre Will Bring Back "The Little Teacher" Which Made Such a Hit Before.

IS A GREAT BIOGRAPH

This Biograph Picture Will be Remembered by the Patrons and Many Will See it Again Monday Night.

To faithfully depict the interior workings of an old-time country school is a task which has its difficulties, but the Biograph Company has accomplished it as successfully as they have accomplished other feats of the silent drama. This representation of a country school in operation is true to the originals, most of which have disappeared forever. And here is that representation of the first day when the pupils seldom attempt to conceal their contempt for the teacher, especially if, as in this instance, the individual happened to be small and youthful. There was the big bully who determined to make trouble in the school and succeeded, only to be soundly thrashed by an athletic surveyor who assumed the role of protector of the discouraged little teacher. Then the teacher falls in love with the surveyor, only to be disappointed when introduced to his wife. But instead of her being long left despondent, the honest love of Dave, the former bully, comes in to afford a calm for her heart, and she accepts his advances. Even though this sounds commonplace, the working out of the plot, with the glimpses of the old-fashioned school, are really extremely interesting, and for those who have never seen such a school it is a novelty worth more than ordinary attention. The staging and accessories are all worked out with the Biograph's consummate skill. The photography is clear and even the interiors are distinctly rendered.

This picture will be remembered by the patrons of Dodge's theatre as it was shown several weeks ago and the management has made great efforts to get the picture back, and were at last successful in securing the picture for Monday night.

SANTA CLAUS HERE IN AN AUTO

The Big Golden Rule Department Store Was Made the Headquarters for Santa.

"Santy ain't no back number," said one little chap as he stood with a crew of at least five hundred other companions in front of the big Golden Rule department store yesterday afternoon as old Santa Claus and young St. Nick alighted from an automobile that fairly dazzled with brightness, with its big tonneau and its glistening sides direct from Toyland to Keokuk to please the thousand little folks who met the jolly, white-bearded old fellow with the little "round belly" and young St. Nicholas at Third and Main street, and after greeting all around with a smile and good wishes for all the little people, the chauffeur cranked the engine in Santa's big auto and the crowd of boys started up the street. They all knew where Santa and his son were going, for on the back of the big automobile was a sign saying, "Bound for Golden Rule toy department."

Stops were made at Fifth, Sixth and Seventh on Main street and at each of the corners, the boys with old Santa and the youngster leading, they all gave some big yells of welcome to Christmas which is uppermost in the hearts and minds of the little folks at present. Souvenirs of horns, whistles, jumping jacks and everything that goes to make one big noise were given to the boys and when the big Santa Claus party reached the Golden Rule store the little girls, who were waiting were also made glad by receiving souvenirs from Santa.

Inside, the big store, the children made a rush for the big stairway where up stairs, a most beautiful sight met their eyes, for head decorator Forrest Conner had changed the big rooms into one grand toy land and everything was in readiness for Santa and St. Nick. Here the children all gathered around a big stage hung with toys over a big arch where Santa had a big smile and some more presents for the little people who could hardly restrain themselves from fairly screaming with delight.

The big rooms have been handsomely decorated and toys are everywhere. Next Saturday, Santa will appear again in the big front windows of the department store where a snug red house has been built for him and where he will again receive the children.

Frank O Barber, impersonated Santa and Master Glen Conner played the part of his son, to perfection and the delight of all.

FOOT CRUSHED BY BIG HAY PRESS

Harry Bird Living About four miles from Here Had to Have a Toe Amputated.

While driving the horses which furnished the power for a big hay press, Harry Bird, living about four miles west of here had his right foot caught in the machine, mangling it badly, making it necessary for the big toe to be removed.

The boy to whom the accident happened is only ten years of age and although he suffered great pain he withstood it bravely. A local physician was called immediately after the trouble and after a careful examination of the injured member he decided that it would be necessary to remove the toe, the operation occurring Friday night at the Graham hospital. The patient is getting along very well and will soon be able to be out again.

Woman Author at Home.

Home-made jam is gradually disappearing from the twentieth century European household. And yet 60 years ago George Sand, who treated most of her domestic duties somewhat lightly, was discovered by a visitor wearing a cotton dress and a big apron, and skimming a panful of fruit destined for the jam-pot. "It is not easy work," she remarked. "I find it harder to make good jam than to write 'Valentine' or 'Mauprat'; but there are some tasks one cannot leave to others."

The greatest danger from influenza is of its resulting in pneumonia. This can be obviated by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as it not only cures influenza, but counteracts any tendency of the disease towards pneumonia. Sold by Wilkinson & Co. Pharmacy and J. F. Kiedaisch & Son.
