—By the close score of 33 to 32 the Keokuk Y. M. C. A. basketball team defeated Mt. Pleasant on the local gym floor Friday evening, in the prettiest game of the season and one which for cleanliness could not be bettered. Merriam, playing forward, shot the winning goal during the last few minutes of play.
—A number of the newer constructed buildings of the city having outside fire walls are suffering from their mode of construction now days. The water runs from the roof down back of the furring and into the cellar filling the basements with water. The gutters on the tops of the buildings become stopped with ice and snow and the water runs over the edge and finds its way into the cellar.
—R. E. Chamberlain, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. will be helped in the care of the classes for the remainder of the season by Irwin Bode, who will be associate physical director with Mr. Chamberlain. Those two gentlemen will look after the condierge work of the lower floors, including the gymnasium and other rooms. Mr. Bode is a young man and well capable of handling the position which he accepted.
—Adam Welrath has requested this paper to announce through its columns that all bills for the feeding of quail should be sent to him before February first and the farmers will receive their money for same work immediately. He says that it is essential, however, that all bills be accompanied by a receipt. This should not be neglected by farmers who deserve pay for the good work they have done during the past few weeks, which meant the preservation of quail.

A PICTURE WITH A GREAT PLOT

If the opinion were taken of well-informed theatergoers of Paris, London and New York as to which was the most popular play of the last century, it is probable that they would declare for the "La Dame Aux Camellias" ("The Lady with the Camellias"). It is a play by Dumas and under the name of "La Traviata" it was made an opera by Verdi. Ambitious actresses aspire to play Marguerite Gauthier in "La Dame," because it gives a woman on the stage the opportunity of showing off the variety of her histrionic gifts. And the story of love and tragedy is an effective one. The subject, then, is familiar on its merits, and by reason of the fact that every noted actress of international renown, such as Sarah Bernhardt, Duse and others have essayed the part of the heroine, it is a theatrically popular one.
