Although some of the best pool talent in the city was gathered about the Drexel tables last evening in the Power-City Drexel go for blood, the spectators were treated to a very faulty exhibition of the indoor pastime. The first limb of the match was exceptionally weak, and runs of four and five were about the best either team could do. Joe Burk of the Power City team made the balls roll in the second limb and won the contest for his aggregation, although the count was close. His runs of 12, 16 and 13 in succession were features.

Walter Nodler could not be present and M. Comstock was mustered into service. As he is a member of the O'Connell team and according to rules

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing, snuffing, and difficult breathing, and the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases yield to treatment in a short time. All druggists, 50c.

If you prefer to use an atomizer, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the solid form, this remedy will rid you of catarrh or hay fever. No cocaine to breed a dreadful habit. #### On the Fire Catcher Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox has refused to be vaccinated at the order of the club. He says he never was and never will be.

Detroit advises are to the effect that Bill Lelievre, who has not been seen in action in Detroit, is certain to be a regular member of the Tiger pitching corps.

The Highlanders' chief relief pitcher, Jack Warhop, has gained twelve pounds, but it is legitimate weight, for his muscles are as steely as ever.

Cleveland critics at Alexandria, La., report that Southpaw Pitcher "Lad die" Link has shown enough to warrant his retention as a regular Cleveland pitcher.

Pitcher Elmer Koestner, the Los Angeles recruit, a whale of a fellow, is making a profound impression upon Manager McGuire of Cleveland in practice.

The real name of the Highland pitcher, Jack Quinn, is Pious. He is a Polish descendant, but is not crazy about being classed with Coveloskie. Any disgrace in it?

The veteran infielder, Bobby Lowe, now permanently out of major league company, wants more money to coach the Washington and Jefferson baseball team than the college manager is willing to give.

One of the Red Sox pitchers on whom Manager Donovan believes he will place most reliance this coming season is Ray W. Collins, the tall, young southpaw secured last summer from the University of Vermont.

Sporting Views By the Editor

Hannibal Courier-Post: Little Corriden continues to show improved form at third base. The Capper little chap has been dubbed "The firecracker," because he is done up in a red wrapper and has plenty of powder in his make-up. Hedges likes him so well he will keep a string on him regardless of where he plays this year.

The financial matters are coming to a head everywhere, because of the necessity of closing deals and paying up the league guarantee funds by each club. Burlington needs six or seven hundred dollars to make up the required sum. Ottumwa has discovered that all told it must raise about $3,500. Hannibal, Kewanee and Keokuk have much to raise, and the plans to satisfy these demands have been already matured. Keokuk is doing a fine business in the way of personal solicitation, the money fairly oiling in, according to reports from there. Burlington and Ottumwa will net a large sum from the benefits to be given by Manager Jack Root in his Burlington and Ottumwa theatres. In addition, Ottumwa will raise a good sum by subscription. Hannibal has decided to hold a baseball carnival, composed of many specialties, booths, vaudeville acts, and dramatic entertainments. It will be held during the second week in April, and is expected to furnish all needed funds outside of the amount already subscribed.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN.

Are Appreciated by Keokuk People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one special kidney medicine that cures permanently and there is plenty of proof right here in Keokuk.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now states that the cure was lasting.

B. Vanderlayden, 414 Des Moines street, Keokuk, Iowa, says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly today as I did two years ago. At that time I was suffering from a very lame back and my kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble, the secretions from these organs passing too frequently. After trying several remedies and finding no relief, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Wilkinson & Co.'s Drug Store and began their use. They so completely rid me of my trouble that I have had no need of a kidney remedy since. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many other people and know that they have proven beneficial in each case."

The Keokuk club team defeated Seibert's Operas last night on the club alleys by a big margin, and the two teams plunged into a tie for second place, with the season for them closed. The Drexel team forfeited the postponed game to the elgar men and credit is given in the above standing. The season for the two teams has closed.

The Keokuk Club rolled a good total, making 2,520 plus, but good scores were few. In fact all of the club men averaged close together, with no high and no low men. High average went to Sheldon, with 171.3, and high score to G. W. Cox, with 208. The scores:

Quincy Herald: Of the eight Quincy bowlers who went up to Detroit early in the month to participate in the annual tournament held under the auspices of the National Bowling congress, two landed in the money. When it is remembered that there were in the neighborhood of 2,500 men taking part in that tourney, it would seem that the Quincy team did pretty well to get in the money at all. Leo Wolf got $24 for his total in the individual competition. He rolled a total of 595, which gave him 128th place. James O'Brien with a total of 563 in the singles, landed below three hundred, but that was good enough to get him $6. The other bowlers were Bruggeman, Hofman, Joseph and Gus Vandenberg, Heiland and Darnaby.

in base ball today is "Bugs" Raymond, the eccentric pitcher on the New York team. Raymond is a pitcher of class, and it is claimed that if he could be securely lashed to the mast of the water wagon, he would be the peer of "Three Fingers" Brown, or Matty Matthewson. Raymond was born with a thirst that so far has never been quenched. There is no telling what the peculiar "Bugs" is going to do next. First, it is a real tear, during which time he forgets that he belongs to a ball club. He makes promises to McGraw, and then as soon as he is out of sight, the promises are broken. And "Bugs" has some queer bedfellows. He has a penchant for picking his friends among wharf rats, hoboes and the like. But still he is well liked by the rest of the team—by whom he is rarely seen—and Mugsy McGraw says he would be worth $10,000 tomorrow if he would sign the pledge and not break it.

As was stated in yesterday's issue, Al Vollers believed the refreshment privilege to be worth more money than any of the other bidders. The Galesburg man was present, but his bid was too low.

Manager Frank Belt and Charles Yaeger have donned spiked shoes and their mitts and are taking a little preliminary training before the recruits arrive. Belt says he feels fine.

Stopped Him From Drinking Quickly

An Iowa Traveling Man Who Was a Slave to Liquor for Eighteen Years and Drank a Quart of Whisky a Day Tells a Remarkable Story.

He's Through With Liquor Now. It seems queer that any man would drink liquor continuously for eighteen years and it never occur to him that it was a mistake—especially a bright fellow and a traveling man who is used to mixing and mingling with the people of the world. This Iowa man prefers to tell his own story. "I had been a continuous drinker for eighteen years. Of late years I consumed about a quart of whisky a day. Nothing could satisfy my craving for drink. I neglected my business, lost my employment and was on the verge of despair. It was then through the kindness of a friend that I was assisted in taking the Neal three day cure. I wish to say that I am thoroughly cured, all desire, craving and appetite for liquor has been taken away—and I feel regenerated both mentally and physically, with courage to attack and overcome the problems to success. Anyone who is addicted to the drink habit, or who is a slave to liquor as I was, should take this Neal treatment: You will be treated fairly in every way, and the result which will be absolutely certain, will both surprise and please you." The Neal Institute, 802 Fifth street, Des Moines, Iowa, seldom lacks a patient, for as soon as a room is empty it is taken by another who is tired of treading this rough path. It is an internal treatment and no hypodermic injections are given, and a plain bond contract is given each patient agreeing to effect a perfect cure in three days or refund the money, whether the treatment is taken at the institute or in the home.

in fact better than has for several years past, and when the youngsters begin rolling in he will be in good condition to set a fast pace. A few local lads are battling them out.
