LINEMAN MEETS TERRIBLE DEATH

C. C. Stout Falls With Snapped off Telegraph Pole to the Ground and is Horribly Crushed.

DIED HERE YESTERDAY

Bones of Body Awfully Shattered and Lineman Does Not Regain Consciousness After Accident.

Death came to C. C. (Kit) Stout yesterday morning at half past six, after he had been hurried to this city from Mt. Pleasant the evening before on account of terrible injuries he received at Salem, Friday afternoon while at work as lineman for the Western Union Telephone company. Stout was strapped to the top of the pole arranging some wires when the large telegraph pole suddenly snapped off near the base and the lineman was precipitated more than thirty feet to the ground. He was horribly mutilated by the fall, four of his ribs being broken and splinters of the bones entering the left lung. He also suffered hemorrhage of the brain. Other injuries, any one of which would likely have caused death were, a fracture of the parietal bone, on the left side, compound fracture of lower jaw, upper jaw fractured and molar bone on left side.

A special train brought the unfortunate man to this city Friday night at one o'clock and he was hurried to Graham hospital but attending physicians could do nothing to save his life.

The deceased was forty years old. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stout of Alexandria, and the remains will be taken to that city for burial. A sister, Rose, is a resident of Keokuk, and sisters, Mary, Ella, Lucy and Emma and two brothers also survive.

The deceased lineman had been employed by the Western Union Telephone company for about a year. The company is stringing wires between this city and Mount Pleasant, renewing the old ones along the North road tracks. The accident and death of Mr. Stout are deplorable and deep sympathy is extended to members of his family.
