

SANDERS ASKS FOR BIG AMOUNT

Case Set for Trial This Morning in Superior Court to be Heard Tomorrow Afternoon.

DEFENDANT'S WITNESS

Hotel Proprietor Asks for $2,356.75 for Freight, Damaged Property and for Room Rent.

Preliminary proceedings in what is really the beginning of a law suit were begun this morning in the Superior court, when Henry F. Sanders in written petition, prayed the court to find judgment for him in the sum of $2,356.75 with interest and costs, Nelson Warner being made the defendant in this case.

Sanders, the defendant in the case of Warner vs. Sanders, withdrew, through his attorney, the answer that was made by Attorney McManus, to set aside the default. The attorney, Sanders claims, had no connection with the case and a wrong legal construction was presented him.

Sanders denies each and every allegation made by Warner in a petition prepared by the plaintiff, with the exception of those things that are expressly and specifically admitted, i. e. that on the 7th of July 1910, the plaintiff paid the defendant $150, but that $53 of that amount was already coming to the defendant.

The defendant says that the plaintiff roomed and boarded at the hotel and that $26.75 is still due the hotel proprietor. The defendant also claims $320 is due and unpaid on one double room man done single room, the defendant setting forth in his petition that he thinks one dollar per day for the single room and two dollars for the double room is a just amount for the time occupied by the plaintiff, from July 7th to October 25.

The defendant alleges that on October 24th, last, he was maliciously and unlawfully assaulted by the plaintiff who discharged a revolver at him and in consideration of the nervous shock, fright and indignity to his person, Sanders prays the court for judgment of $1,000.

Also for damage to an electric piano by the powder and ball in the revolver used by the plaintiff, the defendant claims $100 is due him, and for damage to the wall in the parlor of the hotel, $50.

Motion For Continuance.

In the case of Warner vs. Sanders set for this morning at 10 o'clock in the superior court, the defendant's attorneys, made motion for continuance of the case. The defendant's former attorney, on account of press of other business matters claiming his attention, has been obliged to turn the case over to other attorneys and gave notice to the court to that effect.

Sanders claims that he can secure one George H. Hueston of Blandinsville, Ill., who knows of the revolver shot that was fired at the hotel on the 24th of October and also that the plaintiff said to this witness: "Stick your head inside the door."

In opposition to Sanders' motion for continuance of the case, the attorney for the defendant claims that by two o'clock tomorrow afternoon he will be able to produce Sanders' said witness an attempt to prove that Hueston did not see what the defendant alleges he saw and heard.

Come up in January.

Should the court decide to recognize the application for continuance of the case at tomorrow afternoon's session, trial will be held some time after the first of January, 1911. Attorneys for the defendant have filed notice that they are unable at the time to prepare for litigation and ask for time in which to do so. They set forth that on account of district court cases which commence on the twenty-eighth of the month and end the first of the new year, gives rise to their asking that the case be continued.

Reason for Failure.
It is not lack of opportunity that most of us suffer from, but inability to recognize opportunity.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC HAS INCREASED

The Business in and Out of this City Has Been Greater Than in Many Years—All Roads Have Been Benefitted.

LOCAL TRAFFIC HEAVY

Freight Business Also Has Been Increased During the Past Three Months—Additional Help Employed.

All railroads entering Keokuk report a large passenger traffic this fall, declaring business to be the best for several years. Travel to both the west and east has been heavy. A prosperous year with Iowa farmers has made travel in the state good, so that the railroads are believed to have done a record breaking business in the passenger line during the past three months.

Usually in the fall the traffic to the west is not heavy, most of the traveling public going east. This fall, however, the road officials declare western traffic has not shown much of a decrease, but has been good for the past three months. It, of course, has not been so great as that which has been handled during the summer months, when people were taking their pleasure trips to Colorado and other western states.

Tourists returning from the west have added to the extra business of the roads. During the summer months the coast railroads carried huge crowds westward, and these people have been returning for several months to the middle western and eastern states. Just now the traffic to the south is good. People who are looking for warm climates are going to Florida and other states of the south.

With the Burlington and the Northwestern the traffic to the coast has been exceedingly heavy. The Milwaukee, which wends its way through the northern states to Puget Sound, has done a rush of business for several weeks. The traffic through Keokuk for this destination has not been as great as it was last fall. The land opening in South Dakota a year ago served an extra attraction for the travelers.

The Illinois Central reports that its trade to Chicago has been heavier this fall than in other years. The championship baseball series in that city during October drew many people to do shopping in the large city and merchants who have wanted to buy goods for the fall trade have gone to Chicago and other cities. The early cool snap caused the traffic to take a jump. The cold weather affected other lines of business in the same manner.

The Keokuk railroad men look for a heavy trade during the latter part of this month. Thanksgiving business, they say, should be better than in previous years, as there is plenty of money in the west and people will not hesitate to travel during the holidays. The Christmas business also is expected to be great.

Dish Cloths

Cheese cloth, unbleached cotton and heavy linen crash make most satisfactory dish cloths. One trouble with dish cloths is that they are hard to keep sweet, but they can easily be kept in good condition by washing occasionally in lukewarm water to which has been added a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder; then scald, rinse and hang in the sunshine and fresh air to dry.

Where kitchen utensils become burnt or very "sticky," pot rings are easiest to use.

FORMER RESIDENT KILLED BY CARS

Mrs. Nancy A. Murphy's Life Crushed Out at Noon Today on Vermont Railroad.

BORN IN THIS CITY

Nancy Murphy Reared to Womanhood Here and Left Keokuk Several Years Ago For the East.

Word was received by telegram this noon that Mrs. Nancy A. Wilson, formerly a resident of this city, was killed at noon in Middlebury, Vt., by a train. No particulars of the accident were received in the message received by Mrs. Jas. Simon, sister of the deceased.

Several years ago, Mrs. Wilson lived in this city, her maiden name being Nancy Murphy. The deceased was born and reared in this city and was known to a number of Keokuk people. She removed east five or six years ago.

The deceased was seventy-two years old. The husband is the only surviving relative beside the sister in this city. The Wilsons owned property in Vermont and were prosperous in that section and the shock of the dispatch today is received with much sorrowing by relatives and friends.

CRAFTS RETIRE FOR THE SEASON

All Boats Have Entered Winter Quarters With the Hope of a More Prosperous Trade Next Year.

The steamer Keokuk passed up the river yesterday afternoon at 3:55 for the last time this season, towing a barge load of buoys, which she gathered in this district. Capt. Hugh McKenzie took the boat as far as Burlington and arrived home this morning to remain for the winter. He stated that the Keokuk carried the largest cargo of freight to and from various points yesterday, that she has at any one time during the entire season. When the Keokuk enters the Davenport harbor today the actual running for steamboats will stop for this year.

All of the boats owned by the Carnival City Packet company are at winter quarters in the Davenport harbor and the only crafts that are in the trade at the present time are the three ferry boats, the Warsaw ferry, the Canton ferry and the J. L. Stephens ferry boat at Quincy, while they will make only several more trips before entering for the winter. The Nauvoo ferry boat is tied up in the third lock until the opening of the trade next year.
