CITY NEWS.

—Sherwood for harness.
—Clearance sales are in order.
—Sealshipt oysters at Immebart's.
—The ice harvest is claiming quite a force of men. Keokuk certainly closes the year with her people prosperous and happy and no one idle who wishes to work.
—Good resolutions are about ready for adoption.
—See Mrs. Ella Wise for dressmaking, 902 Main street.

—The temperature has taken a perceptible drop in the last twenty-four hours, and from warm, rainy weather, the return of winter is felt in the sharp air.

—Sherwood for auto robes.
—Some of the retail stores of the city will remain open for a while on Monday morning. The majority however, will be closed and another holiday following Sunday, will be spent.
—Sherwood for harness repairs.
—William Simpson of Independence, brother of the late Andy Simpson, arrived in the city last night, registering at the Hotel Keokuk. Mr. Simpson will look after funeral arrangements for his brother.

—Sherwood for blankets and whips.
—Doctor Frederick A. Cook, the arctic traveler, has accepted an invitation to lecture in Des Moines in February under the auspices of the Press Club of Des Moines. The proceeds will be turned over to charity.

—Smoke Moeller's Silver ash 5c cigar
—Next horse and mule auction at Hamilton, Ill., Jan. 6. Have about 250 head horses and mules; all classes. If you have anything to sell, consign to this sale. If you wish to buy, can supply your demand. B. W. Elder.

—Dressed chickens and sealshipt oysters at Jos. Haubert's.

—There will be numerous watch parties throughout the city on Saturday night. In several of the churches, the members will watch the infant '11 come in and '10 wane as midnight comes. Social events of various natures will keep the watchers awake—dancing and other pleasures to be indulged in.

—Comb honey at Immebart's.
—Effective Sunday, January 1, 1911, train No. 10 on the Burlington will arrive 8:25 p. m. and leave 8:35 p. m. instead of arriving and leaving at 8:40. Train No. 13 will arrive and depart at 7:35 p. m. instead of 7:20 p. m. These two trains are liberally patronized by Keokuk people and the changes mentioned will be of interest.

—The mangled body of a negro man was found on the Burlington tracks, at Hannibal late Wednesday night. The wheels had passed over the unfortunate fellow a short distance below the waist cutting the body in two pieces.

—Moline and Rock Island, Illinois, will adopt the commission plan of government this coming spring at election time, press notices from those two cities saying that speakers on the form of government Keokuk has taken up, are working there at the present time. Burlington is assisting Rock Island in the new movement.

—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the north pole explorer is to give a lecture before the Press Club of Des Moines some time in February, the date not yet having been set. The doctor is to receive no compensation whatever for his lecture in the state capital, and has written those in charge of the event that if it can be so arranged he wishes the proceeds to be turned over to a hospital or charity.

—Suffering from despondency, nervousness and ill health, Mrs. Geo. Ham, of Hannibal attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat with a razor. She has been very despondent since her husband met with a severe accident on the 22nd of last September. She has also suffered from nervousness and broken-down health, but no one ever suspected that she would attempt to take her own life.

—Iowa was sixty-four years old yesterday and celebrated the day with a monster conference to discuss the problem of better roads in the state. As a part of the celebration the state legislators are also being urged to give the state a publicity bureau so that the people of the older states may know that this 64 year old child of the union has the best soil and the best climate, the best roads and the best people in all the states of the union. The act of congress authorizing Iowa to become a state was passed December 28, 1846, and the propositions of congress were accepted by the general assembly in session at Iowa City on January 15, 1849.

—Choice lot of turkeys and chickens for your New Year's dinner at C. J. Carr's, 619 Main street.

—While Mr. Sage, agent of the water power company, was waiting at Mr. Clingman's residence for the latter to return and sign a document, says the Montrose Journal, Clingman's little seven year old daughter Esther, entertained him by reciting the multiplication table, but she fell down on her face. "I'll tell you what I'll do," said Mr. Sage, "if you learn the sevens inside of ten days when I return I will give you a box of candy." Nothing more was thought of the matter until Mr. Sage arrived at the appointed hour, in his auto, where he was met by Esther, who rattled off the sevens before anyone had a chance to speak. Here's where the shrewd "option man" was expected to squirm, but he thrust both hands in his pockets, pulled out a box of bon bons with his right hand and a blank deed and check book with the left.

—Puckelchuck Lodge No. 43 meets every Friday night at 8 o'clock. Election of officers tonight. G. W. Swenson, N. G., Geo. Immebart, Secretary.

—The annual inventory will receive attention.
—The Daily Gate City will tomorrow (Saturday) issue an afternoon edition and the Sunday morning issue cancelled. Beginning week from Sunday (January 8, 1911) the regular edition days will be resumed and the paper be made more aggressive than ever during the coming year.

—Buy a choice roast of beef, pork or lamb for New Year's dinner at Jos. Haubert's. Both phones.

—A number of Keokuk citizens are acquainted with Glenn Martin, the amateur California aviator, who had a narrow escape at the Los Angeles aviation field yesterday. Mr. Martin is an experienced chauffeur, a fine rifle shot and an all round athlete. His flying machine is his own production. Mr. Martin is an Iowan, having been born at Afton.
