AN ELOPEMENT FROM COLLEGE

Girl From Sophomore Class of Missouri School is Carried Away by Her Childhood Sweetheart.

AUTHORITIES TOO SLOW

Faculty Sets Deputy Sheriff After the Couple, But the Minister Had Tied the Knot.

FULTON, Mo., Jan. 12.—William Woods College, a school for girls, was the scene of a romantic elopement in which T. T. Muzzy, a buyer for a Kansas City wholesale grocery house, and Miss Ruth Wood Shelton, a member of the sophomore class, played the principal roles.

Muzzy drove up to the main college entrance, and, rushing Miss Shelton into a waiting rig, hurried with her to the home of Rev. T. E. Witter, where they were married.

Miss Shelton had been granted permission to visit her sick sister, and when Muzzy drove up college attaches supposed he was a relative who had come to take her away. Some one tipped off the college authorities that it was an elopement, and the telephone wires were soon buzzing, and a deputy sheriff was pressed into service. J. P. Shelton of Bachelor, father of the bride, when informed of the elopement, directed the college authorities to stop the young people, but when he learned they had been married he rescinded his first order and welcomed them to his home.

They have gone to Bachelor to spend their honeymoon. The young people were born and raised in Bachelor neighborhood, and were childhood sweethearts.

DREAMS UNDER THE MICROSCOPE

Experiments in Hospital Upon the Patients While They Are Asleep and Having Visions.

DOUBLE PERSONALITIES

Psychoanalysis, or Soul Analysis Will be Used in the Treatment of All Nervous Diseases.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 12.—Johns Hopkins hospital soon will have the first ward in the world for the treatment of nervous diseases under what is known as psychoanalysis, or soul analysis.

Patients will be experimented on during sleep in this new department of the Henry Phipps psychiatric clinic, which is being built with money from the New York millionaire.

The theory upon which the new treatment is based is that every person is possessed of two personalities, conscious and subconscious. It is held that when a person is asleep the conscious personality is at rest and the subconscious is predominant, hence dreams are the natural interpretation of the repressed ideas of the subconscious personality.

"Dream analysis" is the chief method employed in the diagnosis which affords a guide to the proper treatment of the disease.

Psychoanalysis will be practiced in the Johns Hopkins hospital by Dr. Trigant Burrows, who has been studying his science for three years in Europe under Dr. Freud and Dr. Jung, of Zurich, Switzerland, who are authorities in the same line.

The treatment aims at the unification of the personalities. Knowing the wishes and wants of the conscious personality as derived from the conversation of the patient, there remains to be ascertained the wishes and wants of the subconscious personality.

The principle of the school is that there lurks in every dream, often disguised, a repressed wish for fulfillment of the subconscious personality.

Although this phase of treatment of nervous diseases will, in all probability, be in the hands of Dr. Burrows, yet it is due, in great part, to the efforts of Dr. Meyer, head of the department for the treatment of neurotic diseases, that the ward will be established. Dr. Meyer is a native of Zurich, Switzerland, and the possessor of degrees from many prominent universities of Europe. He came to Johns Hopkins last year from the New York State Pathological Institute at Ward's Island, New York City.

BOMB NO. 50 WAS EXPLODED

Big Racket in Hardware Store When Missile Was Touched Off at the Rear of the Building.

EVERY WINDOW BROKEN

People Living Over the Store Were Shocked But Escaped Without Being at All Injured.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Heavy hardware was lifted into the air, the interior of a store was wrecked and the occupants of four flats severely shaken up by a terrific bomb explosion in the rear of Fred Werdel's hardware store, 3955 Sheffield avenue, shortly after ten o'clock last evening.

The explosion is the fiftieth of the labor gambling series and, in the absence of any other explanation, was credited to angry union men. The hardware man was too excited to discuss the possible cause of the attack saying that he was unable to guess why he had been singled out as a target for the bomb.

The family of James Kafer, occupying the first flat over the store, was preparing to retire when the bomb exploded with a deafening roar. Every window in the building was broken and great pieces of iron hardware were hurled from their places in the rear of the store to the front of the building. Several plumbing tools were found in the middle of the street, where they had been thrown by the force of the explosion.

It was evident that the bomb had been placed under a heavy weight of some sort near the door leading to the alley.

The force of the explosion had been expended inward. This was shown by the fact that heavy timbers and a section of the wall had been thrown in by the concussion.

It is believed that this alone saved the occupants of the flat above. Had the explosion taken an upward course, with the same effect, it is declared that the entire building would have been wrecked.

A hurried search of the alley in the darkness last night failed to reveal any trace of the bomb. It seemed to have been lost in the wreckage it had wrought.

OFFERED BODIES TO COLLEGE

Quincy Coupled Wanted to Raise $200 by Selling Their Corpses to the Kirksville College.

NO BARGAIN MADE

Dr. Still Routed Out of Bed to Listen to Peculiar Proposition From a Couple of Freaks.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Jan. 12.—Lawrence Dumpert and Jesse Beardsley both of Quincy, Ill., and both recently married, left Kirksville after an unsuccessful effort to sell their bodies to the American School of Osteopathy, for dissection. Both said they were hard pressed for money, and they hoped to get $100 each for their bodies, the school to get possession after death.

Dr. C. E. Still refused the offer. The offer was so peculiar that Dr. Still notified the Kirksville police officers, and the two were arrested and held for investigation, but the city authorities decided that there was nothing illegal about the proposition, as they disclaimed any intention of suicide and released them.

Dumpert and Beardsley arrived in Kirksville late last night and aroused Dr. Still out of bed to make their offer. They explained that, while they had no idea when they would die, they thought they could contract with the school for the future delivery of their bodies, and they expected the contract would require them to report to the institution at stipulated intervals.

According to information from Quincy Dumpert is a bartender in that city and is at present employed, although it is said that he has been needing money. Beardsley has been out of work for some time and has been unable to find employment. When they were arrested both men had return tickets to Quincy.

INAUGURATION OF GOVERNOR

B. F. Carroll Takes Executive Office of the State of Iowa This Afternoon at Des Moines.

FOR THE SECOND TIME

Parade on the Streets, Address in the Capitol and Windup Tonight With Reception and Ball.

DES MOINES, Jan. 12.—Gov. B. F. Carroll was inaugurated for the second time this afternoon and delivered his address in the rotunda of the capitol after a street parade.

There will be a reception and ball this evening.

Governor Carroll began his address by saying:

In assuming, for a second time, the duties of chief executive of our state, I want to acknowledge with gratefulness that continued confidence has been reposed in me and the honor that has again been conferred.

In the two years before us I shall put forth every possible effort to so conduct the affairs of the state as to merit the consideration that has been so generously extended by the suffrage of our people.

A few days ago I transmitted to you a message in which I discussed at length many subjects pertaining to the affairs of the state and made a number of suggestions as to matters of legislation. In this address I shall deal more particularly with the growth and development of the state and with those questions which relate to the doings and actions of the people as a whole, rather than to their officials and to the general assembly.

Good. Our idea of "false" modesty is for a woman to hate to be caught with her hair on the dresser.

OVER BODIES OF TITLED DESPOTS

London Newspaper's Political Remarks Sound Very Much Like Threats of Physical Violence.

LIBERALS INFURIATED

Blocking Power of the Lords Must Go and the People Given Credit For How They Vote.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Threats of what sounds very much like physical violence are beginning to be made in connection with the battle for and against the preservation of the legislative powers of the house of lords.

Lord Roseberry—once a Liberal, not now a decided conservative—started them before the recent election, with the plain statement, in a campaign address relative to the lords' veto, that contained assaults such as the masses were making upon the hereditary lawmakers would soon leave the latter no recourse but to resort to force.

Now the Liberals, infuriated by the danger that the aristocracy may continue to resist even after three successive defeats at the polls, are beginning to reply very outspokenly. "There must be no hitch this time," is the declaration of Reynolds' Newspaper, a Sunday publication which is perhaps the foremost of the progressive organs. "The blocking power of the lords must go. The people have had the privilege of recording their votes but the peers the higher privilege of rendering the votes of no effect.

"Democracy will no longer be content with the barren honor of resigning at the polling booth. It is determined to rule at Westminster, and rule it shall though its passage to the legislative chamber should be over the prostrate bodies of titled despots." The conservatives are taking Reynolds' reference to "the prostrate bodies of titled despots" literally, and there is much excitement over it.
