CITY NEWS.

—Read The Daily Gate City. —Dr. Harter, 30 North 4th Street, ground floor, Iowa phone 1254 red. —Iron fire escapes are being installed on the Keokuk National Bank building, corner of Fifth and Main streets.

—Rev. A. V. Kendrick, who with his wife, left Keokuk last Tuesday for the west coast, received the following notice in one of the Burlington papers today: Among the older ministers in southeastern Iowa, few are so well known and none are more highly esteemed than the Rev. A. V. Kendrick, who has been stationed here at various times, and who is held in high esteem, as well by members of his church as by hundreds who belong to other denominations.

The good old man is beginning to feel the weight of the years, and the result of many years of hard work is beginning to tell on him, and with his good wife he has started for California in the hope of regaining his health and strength. His Burlington friends hope that his fondest expectations may be more than realized.

—A report has been submitted to the city council by a committee of five elected to investigate the condition of Burrows Row and the building has been officially condemned. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. H. D. Fleming, John Young and Frank L. Griffey, contractors and Commissioner J. P. Gray and Fire Chief Anderson visited the old building on north Ninth street and found it to be in an unsafe and unsanitary condition. The brick were found to be in a cracked and crumbling condition, from six inches to four feet of water, stands stagnant in the cellar and causes stench and odors and the place is otherwise in an unfit condition for inhabitants. A resolution was drawn up by the visiting delegation stating the status of the aged structure and recommendation that it be torn down immediately was advocated by the five.

FIRST CRIB WORK IS COMPLETED

Last of Eighty-eight Cribbs Has Been Constructed and Nearly Two Million Feet of Lumber Have Been Used.

FENDER TO PROTECT

One Has Been Constructed From the Northeast Corner and Extending Diagonally up the Mississippi.

The crib work for the first big coffer-dam built by the Mississippi River Power Company is being closed today. This work has been under construction for nearly three months, having begun on January 23 when the first crib was built on the north line. The coffer-dam cribs number eighty-eight and in each crib there are 20,000 feet of lumber, or a total of 1,760,000 feet. With the completion of this upper division of the crib work, the Canadian builders will turn their attention to the lower division immediately. The first cribs in this construction will be built to extend south from the line running parallel with the river.

Extending diagonally up the river from the northeast corner of the power house coffer-dam the company has built a big fender, which will have the effect of throwing the current further out into the river, and will protect the east line of the coffer-dam, when the cribs are closed, dirt being heaped up against them forming an embankment. Without the fender as a protection much of it would undoubtedly be washed away by the current.

Work is progressing on the Illinois side rapidly. Work of putting in concrete will likely be resumed some time next week. At the present time the work of putting up the traveler is going on, and this big piece of apparatus will be in place and ready to be operated in a few days. The steel forms are arriving and the first set is being put into place.

How One of the Old-Time Yankee Peddlers Made a Trade in a Southern Town.

The genuine Yankee peddler passed out of existence with the creation of the "motion store," but he was a most interesting character, astoundingly "sharp," and frequently amusing. One such appeared in a general store in a southern town on one occasion, deposited his pack on the floor, and remarked to the merchant:

"I guess I couldn't drive a trade with you, colonel?"

"I reckon you calculate just about right!" was the decided reply of the merchant, who had "had dealings" with Yankee peddlers on previous occasions. "Get out!"

"O, well, don't get riled up—no harm done. Now, just look at this dozen genuine razor strops, easy worth three dollars—let you have 'em for two dollar, colonel."

"I wouldn't touch any of your trash—you get out!" the merchant declared. "Well, now, colonel, I always like to do some business in a place. Tell you what—I'll bet you five dollars that if you make me an offer for them strops, we'll make a trade."

"I'll go you," said the merchant. "and," he added, when the stakes had been put up, "I'll give you a quarter for the strops!"

"They're yours, colonel!" said the Yankee, pocketing the wager.

HOUSE BULGING WITH PLUNDER

Fort Madison Laborer, Who Was Placed Under Arrest, Believed to be Implicated in Many Robberies.

POLICE SOLVE PUZZLE

Chief of Police Schier Believes He Has Run Down the Man Responsible for a Number of Them.

[Special to The Gate City.] FORT MADISON, April 20.—A veritable storeroom for plunder was discovered by the police here today and has led to the arrest of Joseph Bolte, a laborer, who is believed to have been implicated in at least eight robberies that have occurred in Fort Madison during the past six months.

Joseph Hueser's saloon, corner of Maple and Second streets, was robbed Tuesday night and Bolte was suspected by the police. Today his home was visited and some of the stolen property found in addition to hundreds of dollars worth of other merchandise which is thought to be a part of that stolen from various stores and homes recently. In nearly every room in the house from cellar to garret were found articles, many of which have been identified by the officers.

Bolte was immediately placed under arrest. Two charges have been preferred against him and others may follow. He is a married man and has four children.

In his robbery of the saloon Tuesday night his sixteen year old son was made to leave his bed and assist in breaking and entering the place. The son will not be prosecuted. In the instance of this robbery entrance was effected by cutting a circular hole through the panel of the door and unlocking the spring lock and raising the catch. Fifty dollars worth of whisky and cigars were taken.

The police have long been puzzled because of the daring acts of the robber, who, until the recent one, left behind him no clues which could be followed. At headquarters this afternoon Chief of Police Henry Schier advanced the theory that Bolte did not have an accomplice in any of his robberies with the possible exception of his son, who is believed to have worked only in the saloon entrance.

Newspapers have discovered somewhere that entire trade presumably in favor of buying oats on breaks. The steadiness of corn is its own advertisement. Movement of all grains will be small until May 15. If the longs in May wheat and May corn stand to their guns the hedgers will have to compromise as they have more sold than they can deliver.

Local house reports 20 per cent more active than last April. This is not excessive and is not bearish at this level.

Broomhall Cables.
LIVERPOOL, April 20.—Wheat, weaker. American cables offset here by active covering big shorts and during the morning the market was highly excited with the principal strength in May and July.

Buying was prompted by the firmness in spot for which there was better demand and the firmness of cargoes in all positions.

The closing strength in Buenos Ayres was the leading feature and this together with firm La Platte offers and tightening up of Australian offers caused free covering and induced outside speculative support.

The Prussian official report was very bullish and this contributed largely to the advance.

At 1:30 p. m. market strong and bare of offers with values 1 to 1 1/2 higher.

Corn 3/4 to 5/8 higher with heavy covering by shorts on the strong closing at Buenos Ayres, had Argentine crop news and the strength in spot and rood demand.
