KEOKUK GRABS GAME IN EIGHTH

Indians Made a Lucky Finish Against Ottumwa Speed Boy Saturday, Copping by the Score of 3 to 1

BRESNAHAN IS PEEVED

Angered at Decision Made by Bennett on Third Base and Latter Wilted or Clash Would Have Resulted.

With that youngster Clark wielding the willow like a seasoned vet and lucidly breaking Keokuk's way in the eighth round, the Indians copped. It was a loosely played game on a muddy field before a wee-small audience and the Saturday afternoon pastime with Ned Egan's speed boys went our way, 3 to 1.

The packers never should have scored in the world and it was only some work by Hilly that was anything but exacting, that enabled the visiting contingent to map the score board. Air-tight ball and the absence of some ivory headed work early in the game would have made Egan's bunch look like what nots, for Big Jim Blue Jacket pitched ball that should easily have meant a shutout for him.

Connie Bresnahan gave a display of temper in the eighth that served to enliven the fray. He doubtlessly would have had a run in with Umpire Bennett, but the indicator man decided not to mix with the youngster and passed the incident by unnoticed.

No Mixing for the Umps. The upset was brought about when Cavanaugh shot to second to pick Matt, who was playing wide. Matt was not to be caught asleep and with the ball coming to the midway slipped in the direction of third. Pennington took the throw and heaved to Bresnahan, who thought he had the runner. Bennett had not been performing very gallantly during the previous rounds, and when he declared Matt safe Bresnahan blew up and started for his ribs. Bresnahan brushed against Bennett rather forcefully, but the latter chased himself back behind the pitcher to escape causing a scene. Broiling under the heat of his temper Bresnahan resumed his position. It was one of those brief spats which are often seen in the big show. The decision was a close one, but it looked as though the runner was on the bag with the ball. Immediately following this stir, Matt scored. Wise hitting to Hilly, which the latter pegged wild to Cavanaugh, making his third error of the game. In her half Keokuk jumped into the fray and broke up the tie, but was very fortunate in so doing, the winning run being counted when Griffith, a promising young backstop, nervously allowed the third strike on Reichle, which would also have meant the third out, to escape him.

Clark and Cavanaugh Hit. Two Keokuk men stood prominently forward in the swatting end of the melee. Clark hit enough to win the game, driving out two long doubles, one of which almost cleared the left field fence. Cavanaugh, following closely upon the heels of O'Brien, who got two hits Friday, swung three pretty singles. None came at a time when needed, but simply went to show that the backstop is going to display some batting qualities this season.

If Ned Egan has one of the strongest clubs in the Central Association, Keokuk has the pennant already nailed to the flag pole. Egan was shy one or two vets yesterday, but otherwise his team was intact. He has a good ball club, but it is far from having anything on the local squad. He has picked up a clever youngster in Elkins, who is holding down first base. This player has speed and handles himself well. He is a left hander. Smithson, the southpaw twirler, was no puzzle, and failed to hold the heavy Keokuk slugger.

Field Was Heavy. The decks were cleared for action at 3:30 o'clock, one-half hour after the scheduled time for starting. Less than one hundred people were in the stands, but Egan said he'd take his $4.25 and play, so the game began.

During the first four innings Ottumwa made one hit in each inning, but got only one man to second base. The game looked safe, especially when Keokuk scored in the first and started after more of them in the second.

To open the game at bat Bresnahan sent a long double over Russell's head and was advanced to third by Pennington's sacrifice. Clark stepped into a fast one and sent it skying far into right center, giving Dunn a long chase. Bresnahan counted with a run. Murray was passed, but was forced at

ELEVEN ENTRIES FOR BIG MEET

Many Athletes Will Gather Here Next Saturday in Greatest Tri-State Meet in History of School.

RECORDS CERTAIN TO GO

Some of the Best High School Men in the Middle West Will Battle for Honors on the Cinders.

[By H. S. Student.]

Prospects for the biggest Tri-State meet that has ever been run off in Keokuk are very bright. If the weather man gives us a good clear, warm day there is no doubt but that the meet will eclipse anything ever heretofore attempted by a High school in this part of the country. Entries from the different schools are rolling in on every mail and to judge from the number of athletes that the various schools are sending to represent them there will be a host of thin clad warriors here.

Even at this early stage one can predict that the Tri-State records will certainly be shattered. With the coming of five new schools yesterday it is hard to pick a winner. Galesburg boasts of a fast man in the person of Tinkham, who Saturday, April 22, ran the century in 10:15 seconds, which, if properly timed, will make some of the hundred men move to break the tape first. Earl Kendall, of Chillicothe, Ill., Parsons of Iowa City, and Davis of the local track team are all fast men that will have to face each other on the track.

Stars in Hard Runs. To predict a winner in the 220, 440 and half mile is very hard. Among the men of known ability in these runs are Parsons of Iowa City, who ran the 440 last year at the meet at Iowa City in the fast time of 52:35 seconds, Merrill of Chillicothe, Hoffman and Yetter of Iowa City, Fulton, Davis and Strickler of the purple and white team, Temple of Galesburg will prove a fast man in the mile. In a dual meet between Galesburg and Kewanee he made the run in the time of 4:55, which is considered fast so early in the season. This record is 8 seconds faster than the present record here.

The high jump is uncertain. The men entered so far when will, in all probability, show up the best are Ryan and Phillips of Galesburg, both of whom tied for first at the height of 5 feet 6 1/2 inches last Saturday. Shrader of Iowa City, who won the high jump here last year at the height of 5-3, Pringle of Pittsfield, who tied Shrader here last year, and Bauman of Quincy, who made the five foot mark very easily in the dual meet last Saturday. With all this competition it is sure that the record here will go.

Death of Weight Men. Up until the last few entries that have been received there has been a great dearth of weight men but with the coming in of the entries of Iowa City, Kewanee, Burlington and Stronghurst, the list is increased considerably. From Kewanee comes a man who in a recent meet showed the shot 44 feet 3 inches. If this Spear, of Kewanee, comes anywhere near his usual form, the shot record will certainly go up. In the discus it is very probable that Hawkes, of the local team will take a place, as he has been hurling the missile around the hundred mark line in practice.

At this date with many other schools yet unheard from it is difficult to really estimate what Keokuk might do. She pins her hope on several men of known reputation. In the century Capt. Davis should place, as well as in the 220; in the half mile Fulton has been running fast, but he will have to hit up a little faster clip to win a gold medal. He should be good for a second or third at least. In the broad jump Teague should have first place pretty secure. In the weights the best form shown is that of Hawkes, with 100 feet. If in good form the day of the meet he should score. There chances for the relay are good.

Display at LeBron's. In one or two days all of the trophies of the Tri-State meet will be on display at LeBron's Jewelry Co. In this list of trophies are some very fine articles that will undoubtedly prove valuable to the school or person winning the same. The complete list is as follows: The large LeBron loving cup given to the school making the highest number of points in the meet; the Harry King trophy, which will be given to the school winning the half-mile relay race; the large

8 WALLS OF INSULATION

ALWAYS INSURES A LOW TEMPERATURE

Is Ice Worth Saving

If so; then, in buying a refrigerator the question of insulation is the one you must not overlook. The has eight walls of insulation. Two of wood, three of water and air-proof paper, one of Mineral wool, one of Porcelain Enamel or Zinc, whichever lining you prefer, and one air space. If it were possible to surround a piece of ice with absolute dead air the ice would last forever, because dead air is an absolute non-conductor. The nearest thing to dead air is Mineral Wool, which is tiny threads of glass—fine as human hairs—and each tiny thread contains absolute dead air. Mineral Wool then, is absolutely the best non-conductor of heat and cold known. The Mineral Wool wall in the Automatic is almost an inch thick. The outside heat simply cannot penetrate these eight walls of insulation. An even, low temperature is maintained with a small amount of ice.
