YOUNG MAN, do you wear Weil's Clothes? If you don't, it's time you did. An investigation will prove to you conclusively that you're not getting all that you are entitled to for the money you expend unless you buy your clothes here.

We clothe most of the young men who know in this locality, and there's no reason why we shouldn't clothe every one of them, and we will eventually.

We'll give you more style, better service and save you money. If you're puzzled about any question of good form or taste in dress, we are counselors-at-fashion. Come or write to us, and we will advise you free of fee.

We've assembled a big line of our famous Young Men's Suits and Spring Overcoats and we're ready to show you.

THERE are coats and coats. The coats in Weils Hand-made young men's Clothes" are tailored with fashion features all their own—little conveniences that "count big" with young men who are style-punctilious. For example:

Extra watch pocket in outside breast pocket of coat.

Bartell Pat, tuck in all coat pockets to prevent sagging.

Fancy hand-made buttonhole in lapel of coat. Razor edge on all coats. Bouquet holder on reverse side of left lapel of coat.

The waistcoats and Trousers are tailored the same unusual way.

$15 to $30

THE drape of your coat make or un-makes the shape of your coat. The daily strain of an ill-draping garment soon throws it askew, curling and crumpling it over shoulders and chest.

Our clothes are cut with such calculated accuracy of poise and proportion, that the coat clings and curves to the figure, like a well-fitting glove to the hand.

Whether you wear the coat buttoned or unbuttoned and whether you walk, stand or sit or stoop, its perfect drape remains intact, because scientific designing prevents creasing and bulging.

As with the coats, so with the Waistcoats and Trousers. They stand the strain of wriggle-and-twist, because of their exactness of proportion and excellence of needlecraft.

$15 to $30

BEST thing about buying clothes here is that you get the new things the month they're born.

Just as soon as they reach the "everybody and his brother" stage, we drop them.

Another good thing about buying clothes here is that you're safe. We'd rather satisfy you than have to pacify you. Therefore, your money isn't ours, until you get suited and stay suited.

"Weil's Hand-made Clothes" carry a double guarantee—the maker's and ours. They don't need it, but we want to surround your purchase with every security.

$15 to $30

THE length of the wear in a garment depends upon the strength of the fabric. If it's all wool you're all right. If it's cotton, look out! You take no chance, if you buy Weil's Hand Made Clothes. They're pure wool. We not only claim it, but we "clinch" it with a binding guarantee.

But—you want more than just all-wool garments. You want a style-expression, that will stamp you as a man of individuality in dress—as a devotee of advanced fashion.

Weil's Hand-Made Clothes" mirror the latest approved modes. They will single you out and set you apart from "the throng" by their compelling style.

$15 to $30

JUDGE a suit by the coat and you'll judge it justly. The well-cut coat should self-conform to the figure so that it becomes a part of the wearer's personality. Does your coat merely cover you, or does it cover you with distinction?

Weil's Hand-Made Clothes" for young men, from 18 to 50 breathe ease and elegance. The coats are tailored individually and tailored with individuality. Natural shoulders—symmetrical lapels—non-sagging pockets non-sagging pockets—non-breakable fronts.

Each coat is as much a work of the tailor's art, as a fine portrait is a work of the painter's art. Each finished garment is tried on a living model to give it virile, vigorous lines. "Weil's Hand-Made Clothes" are every shred and thread wool. They cannot shrink or stretch, because all of this has been taken out of them.

HERE'S the Spring Overcoat that's over all in polish of style and perfection of drape. It's a "Weil Hand-Made garment for young men from 18 to 50.

Not so tight as to drum your legs in walking and not so loose as to seem bag-like. Irreproachable in cut and contour. Breast pocket to tuck your kerchief, centered in the back. Other overcoats a plenty, as plain as you like and as fancy as your fancy dictates. All of them modeled on young-mannish, athletic lines to give your body ample room to "spread out."

"Weil's Hand-Made Clothes" are different—can-be from ordinary garments. They have the look of being made "expressly for me."

—The Mills-Ellsworth Co. closed Saturday afternoon during the hour of the funeral of William Mills, who was buried at Portageville, Mo. Mr. Mills was the founder of this company and his death occurred at Cairo, Ill., as before mentioned in this paper.

—Buggies selling at low prices at Sherwood's.

—At the Des Moines river bridge, water power activity is very lively. From this location sand is being pumped upon the banks and thence loaded into cars and hauled to the Illinois shore. A large force of men and a large amount of machinery is located at that point.

—See our $2.50 two-strap pump, in all leathers. Hulskamp & Son.

—Keokuk is indeed fortunate in getting the water power and the chance to identify Stone & Webster with the commercial life of the city. An up-to-date electric light plant and street car service are certainly needed. Don't fail to vote for the franchise May 25.

—For shafting, pulleys and gearing see Kollmyer & Talbot, 319 Bank St.

—People who live in glass houses should not go away from home and allow bonfires to be built back of the house so that the light shines through the windows and make people believe the house is on fire. Such a thing occurred Friday night and caused an alarm to be turned in from Seventeenth and Carroll streets. The department made the long run for nothing.

—Nothing new is offered by the grocers in the way of new fruits or vegetables, but the dealers have some interesting news in the way of better things and lower prices to give out. Local gardeners have not been able to bring much to town as yet owing to the cool spring which retarded everything. A week or two of warm weather will make a big change and then everything will be plentiful. Strawberry shipments are now coming regularly from the Arkansas fields. Tomatoes are still scarce. During the past week or two, the price has advanced steadily until now it is $1.25 a crate. The retail price of choice stock remains at fifteen cents a pound, but it will not be long before the supply will be more plentiful and the price more reasonable.
