DO THESE THINGS INTEREST YOU?

Do you or your children ever drink soda water or eat ice cream? Look what chances you take. Soda fountain syrup often contains benzoate. Much commercial ice cream is made of glue. Such sweets will kill your children. The story on page 79 of Pearson's Magazine for July explains the kind to dodge.

With the Initiative, would we have storage regulation to prevent foodstuffs being stored for high prices? If the Recall could be applied to Lorimer, what would happen? Why don't we have these laws? Do you want them? Look on page 87 of Pearson's Magazine for July.

Thirty thousand war veterans, disabled and aged, live in Soldiers' Homes. The homes are beautiful on the outside, but inside—look inside. Jail fare is better. These old soldiers are shamefully treated. Look inside the homes. Read the story on page 3 of Pearson's Magazine for July.

Are you a baseball fan? Look at Umpire Billy Evans's story on page 40 of Pearson's Magazine for July. He describes famous disputed plays, and shows how umpires look upon players. It's a story that will do fans good. It's a bully good baseball story.

Do you like good stories? Then you'll like Pearson's Magazine for July. It has eight rattling good complete stories—romance, mystery and adventure—eight stories which make entertainment that is entertainment. Eight complete stories of the time-destroying kind.

The way to get a farm is shown by Governor Hadley of Missouri on page 63 of Pearson's Magazine for July. Mr. Hadley explains how the city poor may get farms of their own, and in doing that shows dissatisfied farmers that their own farms can be made to pay.

Another tale of the Apaches of New York is told by Alfred Henry Lewis, beginning on page 113 of Pearson's Magazine for July. This is the story of Little Bow Kum, the Chinese rose, and the New York Gun-Men. It is a first-class "police" tale.

Fifteen years ago a few men were struggling hard to make one automobile run. To-day thousands of men make thousands of cars every year. That's some development. And they all run. The story of the first cars and their makers is on page 129 of Pearson's Magazine for July.
