

REFUSED TO SUPPORT FAMILY

Arthur L. Ainsworth Placed Under $300 Bond Today After Entering Plea of Not Guilty to Desertion Charge.

SIXTEEN MONTHS CHILD

Good Looking Young Wife Sat in the Court Room Part of Morning With Baby Girl in Arms.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Arthur L. Ainsworth when he was arraigned today in the superior court on charge of deserting his wife, May Ainsworth, and falling to provide for her and their sixteen months old baby girl.

Ainsworth's bond was set at $300 by the court and he falling to furnish same, was returned to jail to await the September term of the grand jury. He will have time to secure counsel to take up his case for him.

Ainsworth was arrested in Dean, Iowa, a little flag station town near Centerville on Tuesday. Chief Henry M. Schavers sent a letter to the authorities to hold Ainsworth when he arrived with the Waugh circus. Ainsworth was one of the musicians in the band with the tent show.

Chief Schavers returned last night with the wife deserter. Ainsworth was married to his wife in this city a couple of years ago. They have a child, Ethel May, sixteen months old. The young wife is a trim, quiet little woman, good looking, and with an appealing look in her face that makes Ainsworth's chances to plead "cruel and inhuman treatment" slim.

Ainsworth had been working for the Sinton and Alton liveryies, until his departure with the circus.

TABER LUMBER CO. DREW A FINE

Failed to Comply With Government Regulations in Not Having Licensed Master.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Aug. 3.—The owners of the "Georgia S," a boat used in rafting at Keokuk by the Taber Lumber company, were fined $200 by Surveyor of Customs Junk for failure to comply with the government regulations. This is the first instance this season of a fine being imposed, but there are more to follow.

The government regulations require all steamboats to have licensed officers, to consist of one licensed pilot, two licensed engineers and one licensed master. In the instance of the "Georgia S," she was operated for thirty days by the owners without a master. The local official was very lenient; both as to time to secure a master and in the size of the fine.

Importance of Healthy Kidneys

Keokuk Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed of poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a cold, chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching begins, and is usually accompanied by some irregularity of the urine—too frequent passages, sediment, or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles 75 years. You will make no mistake in following this Keokuk citizen's advice.

Mrs. Lina Sommer, 827 High street, Keokuk, Iowa, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and have proved very effective in removing backache and pain and lameness in the loins, caused by disordered kidneys. We are certain that Doan's Kidney Pills deserve all the praise they have received."

owners in and around Burlington who have not complied with the law regarding motor boats and the surveyor finds it necessary to enforce the regulations by assessing fines. He has been lenient in this particular also, but those who have not complied show no tendency to do so therefore it will cost them some money to square themselves with the government. The department will not consider any extenuating circumstances, for motor boat owners are fully aware of the requirements and ample time has been given to make preparations. The fines in such cases are from $10 to $100.

HOME BURNED AT CARTHAGE

Residence of Howard Ellefritz Destroyed by Fire—$400 Insurance.

CARTHAGE, Ill., Aug. 3.—About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, the residence located at corner of First and Locust streets, and owned and occupied by Howard Ellefritz and family, was discovered to be on fire and before the fire company got to the scene it was all gone. The fire started in the front part of the house and no one seems to be able to fathom the mystery. Practically everything was saved. It was a five room, one story, and probably worth about $1,250. Insurance, $400.

The citizens of Carthage are congratulating themselves on having a new band. This has been needed for a long time and now that it has been organized, it is hoped they will aid it in every way possible to be successful in a financial way, as the members of the band can be relied upon to take care of their part of the work. There are twenty pieces in the band and the following officers were elected at the meeting: William Milburn, treasurer; Roy Moore, secretary; O. P. Brink, manager, and C. M. Wheeler, director. The members are all experienced musicians and are now practicing regularly and the town is expecting to hear some excellent music in a short while.

Breathing Exercises.

SLUM ARTICLE LIKED BY KEOKUK LABOR MEN

"The Slum" Title of Piece Which Appeared in Workers' Journal, Telling Conditions.

The Keokuk Trades & Labor Assembly has become interested very much in an article published in a recent labor edition. The writing is headed "The Slum" and has to deal with social conditions of cities, large and small, which all classes are interested in.

The article in full text appears below: If the slum of a great city were produced by the people who live in it, its suppression would be a hopeless task. But the slum is a product of social tendencies—of social pressure operating steadily in one direction; and there is nothing quite so irresistible as a tendency.

You can see the slum on the small scale in almost any country village, though it is not called a slum there. A few poor families, so poor that they live on the very edge of destitution, make the village slum. Whenever a death or sickness occurs in one of these families, the charitably disposed find "relief work" to do next door. This is charity at its best. As the village grows into a town, the number of its poor increases, their poverty deepens, and the slum begins to take form as a slum; when the town becomes a city, its poverty area widens until there are literally acres of it; and when the city becomes a metropolis, there are square miles of slums (streaked with "tenderloins" and "red light" districts).

For all of this there is a competent cause. The cause is economic pressure, scarce opportunity to earn a decent living. Water never knows why it runs down hill. Neither do slum dwellers know why they are so conditioned. They do not reason it out—they cannot explain it. And if the powers of civil government were thrust into their hands on condition that they remedy these neglects of a society which they are part but not as members, they would be helpless to do it. Social regeneration cannot come through its worst victims. Nor can it come from charity. When Bolton Hall said that charity is an "institution for relieving the condition and increasing the number of poor," he stated a solemn truth. Charity scarcely touches the problem. There is no substitute for justice. Nature defies us to find one.

The only practical remedy for the slum is to reverse the tendency that produces it. Repressive legislation will not do it. It fails as often as tried and it has been tried times without number. Purity propagandas and anti-vice crusades are equally futile. Nothing permanent can be accomplished until these social currents which produce the slum are reversed.

It is a push from the outside not a pull from the inside, that peoples the poverty stricken area of a big city. There is nothing there to pull. Pull is attraction and poverty is not attractive. The push on the outside is caused by an artificial narrowing of opportunities due to monopoly of land. The relation between the two may not be seen at a glance. Deep-seated things never are, and this is socially subterranean. But the relation is there and easily demonstrated. Once relieve land monopoly pressure from the outside, and the same force that has made the slum will destroy it. It will do so by process of elimination.

Every aspect of the slum is ugly; it does not possess a single virtue; it is all vice. The "struggle" against poverty in the slum is a virtue imported from the outside. You will find this struggle not only in the slum but throughout society, discoloring its life as a drop of ink discolors a clean blotting pad. When once the tendency is reversed the slum will be destroyed in much less time than it takes to create one. The wonderful wealth-creating, and therefore poverty-abolishing, forces of the industrial world will do it.

But in this case as in all other things, men exhaust every avenue for doing things wrong before trying to do them right. Our experiments with the slum have been failures to date. The slum persists—larger, more menacing than ever, and more hideous. To scatter the slum is to spread its contagion; to concentrate it is to parade its atrocity and foulness. To deny its existence is to play the ostrich. To abolish it by legal enactment directed

The Tent Meetings.

To the Editor of The Gate City: Last evening I chanced to be in the neighborhood of the tent meeting at the corner of Eleventh and Palean, and hearing the singing I stepped in and took my seat at the rear of the tent and was more than pleased with the service. The new songs which they sang were some of the best I have heard. The people sang as if they enjoyed what they were singing. The speaker used for his subject "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." It was surely fine.

Coolness and Comfort for a Summer Day

Don't make a fire in the kitchen. A hot kitchen means a hot house and a hot temper. It doesn't promote domestic happiness nor does it encourage sweetness of disposition. Here's freedom from kitchen worry and work: Have a deep dish for each member of the family; place in each dish two

SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUIT

(whole or crushed) and cover with berries of any kind—raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries or other fresh fruit, then pour over them milk, adding a little cream and sugar to suit the taste.

You will find it deliciously appetizing and nourishing, supplying all the strength needed for work or play. Shredded Wheat is ready-cooked and ready-to-serve. It is the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked—nothing added, nothing taken away. A food for the Summer days when the stomach is tired of heavy meats and soggy pastries.

MAKE YOUR "MEAT" SHREDDED "HEAT"

against the thing itself, is folly. Scientific treatment alone will suffice. When science discovered that the mosquito was responsible for the spread of yellow fever, how silly it made an armed posse look, quarantining a town. Shot guns for mosquitos! Yet it is by just such clumsy methods that society handles the slum question. We deal with the slums as we did with yellow fever—killing its victims instead of killing its cause.—Henry H. Hardinge.
