Heartiest of Welcomes Greets Rev. Brown and His Family at Trinity Church.

The reception tendered the Rev. J. M. Brown, new pastor of the Trinity Methodist church and his family, Friday evening in the church auditorium and assembly room, was an occasion which will carry with it long memories to the members of the parish and friends who participated.

Rev. Brown does not preach his first sermon until this morning but with his pleasant wife and daughter-arrived recently to establish their home in Keokuk. As a pre-pastorate courtesy, the reception of Friday evening honored the Browns.

Addresses of welcome were made by both laymen in and out of Trinity church, Henry F. Krueger, Rev. Geo. C. Williams, W. J. Fulton, speaking and a response, fittingly worded by the new minister.

An orchestra composed of Miss Ida Heule, piano, Corlas Meador, Julius Rabe and Ben Felz, violins, and Chas. Radasch, cornet, furnished a program of instrumental numbers that was greatly enjoyed.

The auditorium was used in rendition of the program and following the numbers, Reverend Brown, the members of his family and reception committee, were greeted by the four hundred or more members of the church who were in attendance. Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, pickles and wafers were served by the Ladies Society. Here a general jollification was had, and further, personal welcomes to Doctor and Mrs. Brown and daughters, succeeded until a seasonable hour for departure. Mr. P. G. Benner, presided ably as chairman of the evening.

Mr. Henry F. Krueger in welcoming the new pastor, bade him glad reception to the church and all its auxiliary departments in behalf of the church membership and societies. Mr. Krueger remarked that had the opportunity of giving that self same welcome at the parsonage or residence of Mr. Brown, he could have done it with much more comfort than his present status. As a representative of the church, the speaker welcomed Rev. Brown to all organizations of the church and further stated that the pastor must needs join all of them—even to the Ladies Aid Society. Rev. Geo. C. Williams, the Congregational minister, in his welcome to the new pastor a short time later said that if the Ladies Aid Society of Trinity church comes to know Rev. Brown the same as the Congregational ladies know their pastor, Mr. Brown will be thrown out.

Continuing, Mr. Krueger stated that in the leaving of Dr. J. W. Potter, the Sunday school department had lost four good members of the school, but a gain of one is made in the coming of Mr. Brown and family, there being five of them. The crowd of the evening had come to welcome Rev. Brown before he commenced his work here but it is useless to try and express in words how glad the church is to have him come and as he continues his residence here, Doctor Brown will learn to love and become a part of the church life and his work will become fruitful.

Rev. Williams said that the Scottish people were always glad to get rid of the old pastors and welcome the new. The speaker knew, however, that the church felt keenly the loss of Dr. Potter. Three years previous coming of Rev. Brown, Mr. Williams had been one of those to welcome at a reception, the coming of Dr. Potter, and the Congregational preacher has begun to wonder if welcoming Methodist preachers to Keokuk is going to be a life job for him.

In behalf of the ministerial association of the city, Rev. Williams welcomed Rev. Brown to the city and the activities of the association and in conclusion, said he knew that the Methodist pastor would receive a hearty welcome in the pulpits of the city as well as in the ministerial association.

W. J. Fulton said that in welcoming new ministers to his church it was always customary for only ministers to be on the platform but he was glad to note the way in which the Methodists bid welcome to their minister. Welcoming Mr. Brown to the city with the greatest future of any in the west, was the mission of Mr. Fulton. As an outside observer, Mr. Fulton noted that Rev. Brown has come to a church where all departments are active and especially the primary department, where the life work and consecration of one noble woman, Miss Ritter has built this portion of Sunday school life, to the largest in the city. The speaker knew that the new pastor would unite with the others in the work of saving the young manhood of the city and be a power for great good in the community.

Dr. Brown knew that the hearts of the church members were still tender with the memory of Dr. Potter and that some have the idea that the bishops were the cause of the transfer of the two ministers. The belief of Dr. Brown however, is that the change came through prayer. The members of the church and their new pastor will labor hand in hand for the success of the coming Kingdom of Christ.

A solo, beautifully rendered, "Beloved It Is Morn" was sung by Miss Martha Baldwin. As the crowd passed into the Sunday school rooms to shake hands with the pastor, his family, and reception committee, the orchestra played several selections. The reception committee was composed of Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Blom, Mrs. C. W. Hartley and Messrs. A. G. Peterson, H. F. Krueger and P. G. Benner.

That Ostende Dance With the Roller Skate Glide. Keokuk's younger set has lost its head, speaking figuratively, over the "Ostende," that new dance with a roller skate glide. No dancing assembly is popular nowadays unless the Ostende is played two or three times during the cotillion and the orchestras are kept busy playing the "repeats" or encores. Exactly the same positions are assumed in starting the Ostende as partners in roller skating, commonly adopt, the holding of hands with the arms crossed in front. Holding the arms behind the back is entirely unconventional with the Ostende in dancing it.

Several new schottiches have made their appearance among the dances of today and the old style of three stepping, and schottiching are gradually giving way to something more up-to-date. The barn dance, it is reported, will make its appearance in different form among assemblies this winter and something new in "tripping the light fantastic" is in store for those who enjoy the so-called "hop."

Too Bad That She's Gone. Somebody who has taken the trouble to investigate has found that Elizabeth Barrett Browning tried to make "eagle" rhyme with "vigil," "helress" with "terrace," "nature" with "suffire," and "woman" with "gloom-ing." It is a pity that Mrs. Browning is dead. She might, if she could return, make a wonderful success as a writer of lyrics for musical comedies. Undoubtedly she possessed the chief qualification.
