transporting the average yearly number to the Atlantic coast ports. This is a more than probable forthcoming condition to be faced by our fellow-trade unionists of Washington, Oregon and California.

The Federation gained 200,000 in membership during the last year.

All of the contested delegates were seated on recommendation of the Credentials committee. The delegation representing the International Car Workers made a futile effort to prevent the seating of the delegates of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, a rival organization. An attempt to shut out the delegates of the so-called McNulty faction of electrical workers also failed, few of the delegates supporting the movement.

Richmond, Va., is making a strong bid for the 1912 convention but it is generally understood among the delegates that the next meeting will go to the Pacific coast, probably to Los Angeles.

With the preliminaries over the convention is ready to get down to business.

No signs of the threatened "insurgency" against the present administration have appeared, although some of the delegates predict that opposition will develop.

Cooking in Bags.

The latest discovery in domestic science is the remarkable new system of cooking brought out by M. Nicholas Soyer, chef of the celebrated Brooks' Club, of London, England, known as "Cooking in Paper Bags." It is claimed that the system is labor-saving, doing away with the washing of pots and pans; that it keeps the smell of cooking from pervading the house; that it makes every dish more savory and nutritious than is possible with the pot-and-pan system of cooking; that it is economical, the food weighing practically the same when drawn from, as when put in the oven; that it makes possible hygienic cooking, no germ-laden cooking utensils being employed, and that it means quicker cooking, lower fuel bills as a consequence, and because of better cooking, better health.

The Chicago Daily News is exploiting the system in great detail and announces a series of descriptive articles and practical recipes, by the new system, to run every day for a period of two months. The subject is of course, of the most practical interest to every household.

FROZEN STIFF AT HIS OWN GATE

Old Man Was Blown Over by the Wind and Could Not Get Up.

MONROE CITY, Mo., Nov. 14.—Miss Bertha Sullivan, an old and highly respected resident living about six miles southwest of here, was frozen to death during the storm Saturday. Mr. Sullivan had been in town during the day transacting business with the law firm of Merrivewater and Merrivewater. When the storm started he left for his home driving a one-horse rig. A number of friends had tried to persuade him not to go, but he was anxious to get home and went against their advice. His family supposed that he had remained in town Saturday night on account of the storm, and did not worry, but when he did not arrive home Sunday morning they started out to look for him, but did not have to go far before he was found dead at his own gate. It is supposed that he tried to open the gate and was blown down by the wind, and being very feeble could not get up. The horse and rig were found in the pasture near the house.

Mr. Sullivan was born in Ireland over eighty years ago. He has lived here for many years and has been successful in farming. He was well known throughout this vicinity.

As health talks to women become more general, both in the newspapers and on the platform, the mass of women are beginning to realize what the more cultivated have always known, that good health cannot be found in a powder box. The external of health may be obtained in that way, but the basis of health lies deeper, and yet is just as easily obtained.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Girl I Love."

For the first time in this country a genuine bit of the famous English style of entertainment known as "extravaganza-pantomime" is being presented to the theatre goers of this country as a feature of "The Girl I Love," the merriest of La Salle opera house successes which will be seen at the Grand opera house. Pantomime entertainments are particularly popular in England during the Christmas-tide holiday period and are the delight of both grown-ups and children.

When Manager Harry Askin decided to introduce fifteen minutes of this peculiar and exquisite entertainment into the performance of "The Girl I Love," experts declared that it would never go on this side of the water regardless of its popularity in the British Isles. It was too fanciful, too picturesque, too elusive, they argued, for audiences long accustomed to slapstick musical comedies that are barren of all imaginative delights. Mr. Askin however turned a deaf ear to such suggestions. Suffice it to say, that after tireless effort and exhaustive study, Mr. Askin succeeded in getting a pantomime scene into just the shape he wanted it and it was used as the opening feature of the second act of "The Girl I Love."

From the very first night this novelty registered a distinct triumphant success, and it is one of the most applauded scenes in the performance. The scene illustrates the joys and innocent pranks that gladden the festive hours of Halow'een when young hearts thrill with merry excitement and old hearts become young for then once. In the course of the action, all the delightful games and revels sacred to the evening are introduced to a bewildering array of beautiful costumes and effective lighting schemes. Several thousand of dollars were spent in the staging of this "Halow'een" number, but it is by no means the only elaborate feature in "The Girl I Love."

"The Girl I Love," a musical comedy headed by Victor Morley, who was last seen here in the famous "Three Twins" will be seen at the Grand Monday, Nov. 20. Seat sale opens Friday at 10 o'clock.

Both Are Dead.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Miss Bertha Atwood, 26 years, who is supposed to have come to Chicago from New Orleans and who is believed to have had a sister in St. Louis, died in a hospital here, the result of having been shot in the neck last Monday by her sweetheart, Wm. J. Grush. Grush committed suicide directly after he had shot the young woman. The shooting is said to have followed Miss Atwood's refusal to marry Grush.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Marooned for eight hours on a sand boat about a mile north of the Quincy bridge, with the thermometer steadily falling, a blizzard howling about them, and the rising waters of the river threatening to sink their craft, George Scott and Al Dairy, river men, had a narrow escape from death by freezing or drowning Saturday night. When they were rescued by Ray and Roy Rossiter at 11 o'clock Saturday night, they were both nearly frozen. The rescuing party started from the Quincy harbor at 8 o'clock and such was the force of the storm that three hours were required to make the round trip. Both Scott and Dairy are sand diggers, and Saturday afternoon they took their skiff and rowed up to the sand boat, where they had been working. They failed to notice that the storm was brewing, and before they realized it their skiff had been washed away by the rising waters. The torrent of rain that fell raised the river considerably, and the waves, together with the hail and rain, threatened to sink the craft.

The machinery of the sand boat was started and while one man constantly sounded the distress whistle, the other kept the pumps going. The pumps were working well, which is probably what saved their lives. About 8 o'clock the men around the levee heard the distress whistle, and

MEXICAN FATALLY INJURED; 3 HURT

Foreigner Struck Dynamite Cap With His Pick, Causing Discharge Which Will Result in His Death.

WAS RIGHT OVER BLAST

Rock Was Shot Into His Body Just as if He Had Been Facing Gun Barrel Loaded With Buckshot.

Silbano Alcala, a Mexican, was fatally injured and three other foreigners slightly hurt by the explosion of dynamite on the Iowa division of the water power works shortly before 9 o'clock this morning.

The accident was peculiar in its character, but is not altogether unusual. The four men were working together in the excavation for the new lock, using picks to break up the large rock so that it could be lifted from the place. Alcala, according to the company's report of the accident, struck the cap of a dynamite charge which had not exploded when the last blast was set off.

Both Eyes Put Out.

Being right over the explosion, Alcala was horribly mangled about the face and body. Fine rock shot up into his face just as though he had been facing the barrel of a shotgun loaded with buckshot. The small particles of rock entered every part of his face, putting out both eyes. His right hand was torn off and the arm shattered to the elbow. Small rock was shot through his clothing and stuck in his body. When unclothed at the police he was in a pitiful shape. Scarcely a part of his body escaped the fury of the blast. Some of the small particles of rock penetrated the flesh so deep that a surgeon's knife was required to remove them. No hope for his recovery was given, at an early hour this afternoon.

Slight Injuries to Three.

While there were other laborers working in the near vicinity of the unexpected discharge of dynamite, only three others were near enough to be injured. They were peppered in the face and body with the flying pieces of rock, which inflicted small wounds just like birdshot and larger. Two of them were able to return to their bunk houses today, while a third was requested to remain in the hospital by the company's physician, because of a two-inch scalp wound.

The charge of dynamite which exploded this morning is thought to have been one put in for a blast last Friday. As is known by those familiar with this work, when a blast is being prepared a number of holes are filled with dynamite and the discharge occurs simultaneously. In the present case, however, one of the caps failed to discharge, possibly because of defective wiring, or one of several other reasons which may be assigned. After the blast is shot off the workmen go down with picks and break up the rock into such pieces that it can be loaded into the scale boxes and lifted from the excavation.

First Accident From Dynamite.

"It is remarkable that we have not had an accident from dynamite before this time," said J. P. Allen today. "Since beginning work on the present job we have used forty cars of dynamite and this is the first accident from the blasts."

Geo. Scott and Al Dairy Were Tossed Around on Angry Waters During the Storm.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 14.—Marooned for eight hours on a sand boat about a mile north of the Quincy bridge, with the thermometer steadily falling, a blizzard howling about them, and the rising waters of the river threatening to sink their craft, George Scott and Al Dairy, river men, had a narrow escape from death by freezing or drowning Saturday night. ASHAMED OF HER FACE

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Pickard of North Carolina. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema and that was three years ago." This is but one of thousands of cases in which D. D. D. has simply washed away the skin trouble. D. D. D. cleanses the skin of the germs of Eczema, Psoriasis and other serious skin diseases; stops the itch instantly, and when used with D. D. D. soap the cures seem to be permanent. Nothing like D. D. D. for the complexion. Trial bottle 25 cents, enough to prove the merit of this wonderful remedy.

We can also give you a full size bottle for $1.00 on our absolute guarantee that if this very first bottle fails to give you relief it will cost you nothing. McGrath Bros., Wilkinson & Co.

Roy and Ray Rossiter, brothers, and experienced river men, started out in a row boat to rescue them. They returned at 11 o'clock with Scott and Dairy who were drenched to the skin, nearly frozen and utterly exhausted. Three hours were required to make the trip from Quincy to the sand boat and back, and at times the waters threatened to swamp the boat. Two men were kept constantly bailing the water out of the tossing skiff, while the two others tugged at the oars.

GEORGE YEISER STILL A TROUBLER

Negro Who Formerly Worked Here and Is Police Character, in Bad at Ft. Madison.

George Yeiser, well known to the police in this city, has been arrested for crime at Ft. Madison. The Gem City of last night has to say of the negro's offense:

George Yeiser, a negro, who was arrested Sunday morning charged with stealing a revolver from Chester Matson's restaurant, was found guilty this afternoon in Justice Nunn's court, and sentenced to twenty days in jail.

In court the following story was told by Matson, in which he stated that Yeiser was admitted to the kitchen, where the revolver was lying on the ice box. After remaining there a few minutes Yeiser left the restaurant and shortly after, Mrs. Matson discovered the revolver was missing. She notified her husband and he notified the police.

Saturday afternoon Yeiser entered the second-hand store conducted by W. W. Cassidy and sold the revolver, for $1.50. Upon investigation, the police learned of this and Yeiser was arrested.

The prisoner was brought before Justice Nunn for trial and found guilty of petty larceny and sentenced to twenty days in jail. The prisoner has served a term prior to this.

At Southwark, London, and at St. Ouen, France, street rubbish is transformed into a marketable product. At Southwark all the refuse is crushed to a powder, which is sold as a manure. At St. Ouen the powder thus made, with the addition of combustible substances, is formed into a cheap fuel.

ARGUE MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Judge Hamilton is Hearing Attorneys Craig and McManus in Roland Case This Afternoon.

FIFTEEN GROUNDS GIVEN

One is That County Auditor Read Passages From the Bible in His Argument to the Jury.

Judge W. S. Hamilton is hearing arguments for and against a new trial in the case of John Roland, found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Lily Jones, in the district court this afternoon. The motion was argued by Attorney John E. Craig with E. W. McManus representing the state.

Fifteen grounds are set out in the motion for a new trial. They follow: Because the verdict is contrary to law.

Because the verdict is contrary to the evidence.

Because court erred in giving instruction No. 8 in that the court let out of the instruction the word "premeditate" when it should have included it after the word "deliberate."

The court erred in giving instructions Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15. The court erred in giving instruction No. 16 in that it is not broad enough to cover the question of intoxication.

Because court erred in giving instruction No. 17 in its abbreviated form, failing to cover fully the question of intoxication.

Because court admitted the testimony of Dr. C. A. Jenkins with regard to conversation that took place between the defendant and Dr. F. B. Dorsey in jail, while the prisoner was confined and suffering from a self-inflicted wound which he had inflicted upon himself after the killing, and Dr. Jenkins was his medical adviser and physician and permitted the interrogation of the prisoner by Dr. Dorsey under circumstances that were highly prejudicial to the defendant, and was in the nature of a privilege communication.

Because court refused motion of the defendant to strike out the testimony of Dr. Jenkins with regard to conversation he had at the jail.

Because court permitted the state witnesses to testify to declaration made by the deceased which was objected to by the defendant.

Because the verdict of the jury was the result of passion and prejudice of the jury against the defendant.

Because counsel for the state in the closing argument to the jury read from the bible against the objection of the defendant's counsel such passages as "Who so sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed," and other like passages. Said reading from scripture being highly prejudicial to the defendant, and because court did not instruct the jury that they must disregard the reading of the scripture by the state's attorney and not consider the passages read to the defendant's prejudice.

Because court refused to grant to the defendant upon his application for a continuance of the cause until the 27th of November.

Mad Man Killed Three.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A triple murder was brought to light when Michael Lefora, a tailor of Brooklyn, upon his return home for lunch, discovered the bodies of his mother-in-law, his wife and his daughter. All had been shot to death. The police declare the crime was the work of a mad man. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Antonio Delano, lay dead on the floor and nearby lay his wife with the body of his 2½-year-old daughter lying across her mother's breast.
