In Favor of Anything Which Will Bring About Peace But Objects to the Proposed Treaties.

GIVES HIS OPINIONS

Does Not Like the Idea of the Way Russia Was Treated While We Shouted for Peace.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—On the eve of the widely-heralded "peace dinner," to be held here tomorrow night and at which President Taft will be the guest of honor, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt today emphasized his antagonism toward the general arbitration treaties which are among the chief policies of the national administration by bitterly denouncing them as being designed to "tell against peace and put us as a nation in an attitude of unctious and odious hypocrisy." By inference at least he severely criticises President Taft in regard to the treaty matter. Abrogation of the Russian treaty, he declares, puts this nation in a position where it cannot, "in honor," adopt the proposed arbitration treaties. In his editorial, the former president said:

[By Theodore Roosevelt.] [From the current issue of the Outlook.]

I cordially approve the action taken by congress in abrogating the Russian treaty, because men must vote and act on the situation that actually confronts them; and in the actual event congressmen had only two alternatives, namely to abrogate the treaty, or to submit to the continuance of conditions which have become intolerable to our national self-respect and which represent continuing wrong, especially to American citizens of Jewish faith. I still believe that in so serious a matter it would have been well first to endeavor to secure a decision by the Hague court on the interpretation of the existing treaty. I am confident that such a decision would, of necessity, have been in our favor; and, if so, it would have enabled Russia to have retired from an untenable position with good grace and no loss of self-respect—an object that should always be held in view in dealing with any foreign nation with which at any time we have difficulties; while if the decision as to the interpretation of the clause in question had been adverse to us, we would then at once have abrogated the treaty, and have been clearly right in so doing.

This was the position held by that distinguished diplomat, Mr. Oscar Straus. But no movement has been made by either nation looking toward any other method of settling the matter than the one actually adopted. Congress was confronted by the simple fact that unless the treaty were abrogated conditions would remain as they are; and under the circumstances congress acted wisely and properly in declaring for abrogation.

But this action was taken while the universal arbitration treaties are pending in the senate. These treaties are avowedly championed as being of the kind we are to enter into with all nations, including Russia as well as England and France. These treaties, if ratified by the senate unamended, will explicitly pledge the honor and good faith of the American nation, to arbitrate precisely such questions as that which at this very moment we announce that we will not endeavor to arbitrate in the case of Russia.

Under these circumstances to ratify the general arbitration treaties would put the American people in an attitude of peculiarly contemptible hypocrisy, and would expose us to the derision of all thinking mankind; for we would put ourselves in the position of making sweeping and insincere promises, impossible of performance, at the very time, when by our own actions, we showed that we would certainly not keep such promises, nor translate them into action. I believe that we can normally arbitrate the question of the interpretation of a treaty, even if only as the preliminary to adopting the very serious action of denouncing such a treaty. But I do not believe that we can arbitrate, with the intention of abiding by the arbitration, such question as treating all our citizens alike, without regard to their creed, in the matter of passports, or such questions as the Monroe doctrine, the admission of Asiatic immigrants or the refusal of states to pay bonds, or many other similar matters. In short, I do not believe that we can afford to arbitrate questions of vital interest and national honor, or questions of settled American governmental policy. Moreover the abrogation of the Russian treaty shows beyond possibility of doubt that if we are so foolish or so timid as to agree, as an abstract matter, by general arbitration treaties to arbitrate such matters, we should instantly repudiate the agreement whenever a concrete case arose in which any considerable number of our citizens took an active interest. Under such circumstances to proceed with the ratification of the general arbitration treaties unamended would be not merely a farce, but a farce played at the expense of our reputation for national good faith and sincerity.

I believe most earnestly in peace and in taking any step for arbitration which will genuinely tell in favor of peace, and I oppose these treaties, because, if unamended, they would tell against peace and put us as a nation in an attitude of unctious and odious hypocrisy. Both the Lodge and Root amendments should be adopted. It cannot be too often repeated that these general arbitration treaties are nothing whatever but general promises. These treaties are drawn in such sweeping terms, especially in the use of the word "justifiable" that they might, in any concrete case, be held to mean anything or nothing; and to encourage the kind of double dealing and bad faith that is now being shown. I believe that we were right in abrogating the Russian treaty, just because I also believe that the general arbitration treaties are not worth the paper they are written on. It is arrant hypocrisy for this nation to support the unamended arbitration treaties at the same time that they abrogate the Russian treaty, and to do so in a put this nation in a thoroughly false and discreditable attitude. Hypocrisy is as revolting in a nation as in a man; and, in the long run, I do not believe that it pays either man or nation.

That Feeling Of Fullness

Disappears in Five Minutes After Taking a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

A Trial Package Sent Free on Request.

All of the unpleasant sensations attendant upon eating too heartily are instantly relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. Like sticking a pin into a rubber balloon. The reason is simple and easy to understand.

Inflation of the Stomach From Undigested Food Quickly Relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

When you take food into a stomach that is tired and over-taxed the gastric juices do not form fast enough to digest it properly. So the food becomes sour and at once begins to throw off gases. Your stomach becomes inflated just as surely as if you attached a toy balloon to a gas jet. Then the gases and foul odors issue forth and pollute your breath making you an object of nausea to your friends. Your tongue quickly becomes coated and you can taste the foulness that is within you.

Now all this condition is changed almost instantly by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. This little digester gets busy at once—supplies all the digestive juices that were lacking—digests the food in a jiffy and opens up the clogged stomach and bowels. It also sweetens and refreshes the mucous lining of the stomach and bowels and restores peace and content.

If you will give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance they will not only sweeten your stomach but also your disposition and you will never have another stomachic ill. One grain of a single ingredient in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. This saves your stomach and gives it the rest it needs. All muscles require occasional rest if they are ever over-taxed. The stomach is no exception to this rule.

Try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and you will wonder how you ever got along without them. They are sold at 50 cents by all druggists everywhere. A trial package will be sent free on request to F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

GETTING UP AND HUSTLING

Cedar Rapids Has Made Good in the Forward Movement of Men by Doing Just That Thing.

MAKES A REPORT

Keokuk Churchmen Will Receive Some Tips From the Following on How to Press the Work.

What other cities in Iowa are doing and the progress that has been made to date by the Men and Religion Forward Movement committees and others who have fallen in line with the largest plans the country has ever known for the winning of men and boys to clean lives, is fittingly exemplified in a dispatch or "assembled reading matter" from Cedar Rapids that is published periodically by a news service which is one of the facilities of the M. and R. F. movement.

In today's paper a part of this report from Cedar Rapids, is published that the men of Keokuk in the churches may know what is going on elsewhere as well as here. The following will be of most readily reading nature:

Several weeks have passed since the Eight Day Campaign of "The Men and Religion Forward Movement" in Cedar Rapids, and they have been weeks of unparalleled activity on the part of Cedar Rapids churches and Cedar Rapids churchmen.

Church organizations have been strengthened, city-wide campaigns have been inaugurated, and work in the associated centers has been carried out with great results. The individual pastors declare that their men were never more ready to work. Laymen assert that their pastors never outlined such tasks for them. It is the universal opinion of eastern Iowa pastors, laymen and non-church men that "The Men and Religion Forward Movement" has made good. The same men are convinced that this movement has just begun. Great policies have been outlined and better still are being carried out. The enthusiasm of the eight day campaign has been succeeded by a conviction that Cedar Rapids "has hard work to do and leads to lift," which no one but Cedar Rapids men of this generation can accomplish. The work is characterized by the spirit of the slogan left by John Alexander, "Shoulders together! Shoulders together! Shoulders together!"

The Cedar Rapids eight day campaign and convention exceeded the expectations of its promoters. Institutes, platform meetings, the parade, and mass meetings were attended by thousands of the Christian men of the city. Five hundred out-of-town delegates, representing one hundred and ten different towns and cities of eastern Iowa, registered and attended the convention. These delegates on returning to their towns and villages carried back the spirit of the message of the movement.

Auxiliary Cities Active. The Associated Centers committee has already arranged for twenty-four conventions in the larger cities, and will put on several campaigns in smaller towns. At the first associated center campaign, held at Toledo, Ia., more than one hundred out-of-town delegates were registered. The sessions were attended by two hundred and fifty men and boys and five hundred packed the convention church on the last evening. Eighteen Cedar Rapids laymen and pastors spoke and conducted institutes. The Toledo "committee of 50" took a social service survey of conditions, has adopted a five-year policy, and has already set up campaigns in twelve surrounding centers. A series of evening meetings, under Correct Time Flashed to Sea. Since the wireless method of sending messages has been perfected it is possible to flash the correct time each day to vessels far out at sea. The tallest wireless station in the world is the Eiffel tower in the city of Paris. From this and a number of other tall stations throughout the globe the time is sent at noon, midnight and at eight in the morning and evening. Thus the officers of vessels in a great part of the earth's great waterways do not have to depend for their reckonings on the correctness of their chronometers. This is a step forward, and one of the many made possible by the wonderful wireless. We do not know what to expect next.

Cured in His Home Town. COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia. Patrick Danabhan, 414 N. 8th St. tells the way for his fellow townsmen to be cured of kidney and bladder ailments as he himself was cured. "For about a year I suffered from kidney trouble and at last rheumatism set in. the auspices of the Cedar Rapids committee, were held at Springville, Iowa, and a week-end campaign was carried out in Vinton. The Associated Center division demands from each center a complete survey of conditions, recognition of the entire six-fold message, an adequate financial policy, and assurance that the campaign will be reproduced in from ten to fifteen smaller towns. The schedule of towns so far arranged is as follows: Toledo, Springville, Vinton, Waterloo, Washington, Iowa City, Maquoketa, Anamosa, McGregor, Mason City, Keokuk, Charles City, Clinton, Burlington, Davenport, Muscatine, Oelwein, Decorah, Manchester, Eldora, Iowa Falls, Dubuque. On April 25 and 26 a conservation congress of delegates from eastern Iowa will convene at Cedar Rapids for the purpose of reporting definite work accomplished, and to plan for a five year work.

Federation of Christian Men. Just a week following the eight-day campaign in Cedar Rapids, the committee of one hundred and members of the local church committees met on the call of the conservation chairman and adopted his report which called for the formation of a church federation. This "Federation of the Christian Men of Cedar Rapids" is composed of a member from each participating organization representing each of the following divisions of work—Membership, Publicity, Evangelism, Bible Study, Community Extension, Social Service, Missions and Boys' Work. Practically every English-speaking evangelical church in the city has officially appointed its representatives. Each of these divisions met on the call of the chairman, mapped out a policy of work, and estimated the amount of money necessary to carry on its work. With these policies as bases, these eight inter-church councils have been carrying on aggressive campaigns.

The Membership committee has secured the appointment of committee men from twenty-two churches out of a possible twenty-six.

"Best on Earth" This is the verdict of R. J. Howell, Tracy, O., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure case of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure." Wilkinson & Co.
