MELOAN IS CUT LOOSE FRIDAY

Outfielder From St. Louis Is Not Yet Ready for Central Association Ball and Draws Release.

RUST WAS DISSATISFIED

Sloan Is Rapidly Rounding Into Form and Will Be Used in the Opening Game Next Wednesday.

Quelsser swung the axe again Friday night and cut the rope on Owen Meloean. Meloean is the change catcher and outfielder from St. Louis, a brother of "Molly" Meloean, formerly of the White Sox. He left for his home Saturday morning.

The team is now shaping up so that the best possibilities can be picked. From the way things look, the following men are sure of their places: Sloan, Murray, Hilly, Bauman, Bresnahan, Madigan and Jones. The two places on the infield are still very much in doubt. Rust is giving Davy Moore a hard fight for the short-field position and may beat the old man out of the steady job. However, he wants to go south and it is doubtful if he can be induced to stay. He received a message yesterday and transportation to Little Rock and would leave immediately if the boss would release him. Quelsser says that he is too good a ball player to let go without a trial and will not cut him loose.

Vidovich and Middleton are the men who are giving the boss the most trouble. The men are getting faster each day and not much can be seen to choose between them. Vidovich is an unlucky ball player. Thursday he was hit a hard blow by a pitched ball and yesterday was hit in the back of the neck by a thrown ball while running to second. The neck is stiff today and may keep him out of the game this afternoon.

Opening Line-up.

From the present appearance of the team, the probable line-up of the team for the opening game will be: Sloan, Murry and Richmond, pitchers; Quelsser or Summers, catchers; Hilly, first; Middleton or Vidovich, second; Moore or Rust, short; Bauman, third; Bresnahan, left; Madigan, center; Jones, right.

It is very likely that two umpires will be used in the opening game. McCarty is already here and working out with the Indians every day getting his eyes in shape for the regular season. He has more pepper than any other member of the team, running after foul balls, following the runner down to first base and taking his run around the field each day. His decisions in the practice games are, for the most part, taken in excellent spirit, although Roberts, the prize crab on the squad, got pretty much riled at his decisions on balls and strikes yesterday.

Sloan is working hard and will be in good shape for the opener. His work in the south, before he reported here, put him in excellent condition and only the unfavorable weather of the past two weeks has kept him from being ready now. His arm was slightly sore the middle of the week but is getting better every day. There is no doubt that he will be ready for the curtain rise next Wednesday.

Murry is also rounding into shape and should be down fine by the time the bell rings for the big dry goods banner. He and Sloan are the only ones of the pitchers from last year, with the exception of McCray, that are here. Both of the righthanders seem as good as ever but the big southpaw does not seem to take kindly to the weather conditions and is complaining of a kink in his pitching arm. Richmond is coming along nicely and is just beginning to extend himself. With a few hot days he is apt to make the bugs sit up and take notice.

Bronchitis Barnes.

Barnes is not working on account of a bad attack of bronchitis and will not be in uniform before Monday, if he obeys the orders of the club physician. He is one of the most likely candidates for the steady twirling job. Hetti is going along at about the same gait that he has kept up since his arrival here and seems to be a mighty consistent worker. Roberts and Reinert are not saying very much but are confident of being the men picked to stay. Both are good performers and are capable of playing good ball. Roberts is slow on the bases but with his size, if he can develop his pitching ability should make a valuable man for a team. Reinert is faster than Roberts and a better kicker than Roberts and is probably the header player of the two.

Sporting Views By the Editor

With fair weather and efficient street car service on next Wednesday, the fans that gather at the ball yard should number well up into four figures. The directors are making arrangements to take care of a record breaking crowd and the grounds are now in better shape than ever before. The score board has been repainted, putting it in white so that the figures can be easily seen from the grandstand.

The only thing that will prevent the citizens of Keokuk from enjoying baseball this year as never before, will be the dust and dirt flying in from the field. It would be an easy thing for them to make some arrangements whereby the dust could be done away with and materially add to the enjoyment of the game by the patrons of the park. It has never been the habit in the best leagues, in the past few years to allow the innocent bystanders at a game to deliberately fill their eyes, mouth and ears with reddy belonging to, or leased by, the directors who control the ball yard. No record can be found where the bystander has been charged with grand larceny for obtaining real estate under difficulties, but if the said directors get all that is wished on them by the said patrons of the grand art of baseball, Helmsong will certainly be a most popular place.

It is to be hoped that the men in charge will heed the request of the many fans who are helping keep baseball in Keokuk and make this much needed improvement.

The face of Manager Quelsser and many of the rabid bugs wear a smile that could not be made to denote anything except relief and satisfaction yesterday when the announcement was made that "Tod" Sloan had finally made up his mind to sign the contract offered by the local management. The price that will be paid the southerner was not made public but it is thought that he was given a little more than was originally offered. With Sloan and Murry signed up, the nucleus of a strong pitching staff is now ready.

Quelsser said the other night during a fanning bee in which the wonderful achievements of the pitchers were being told of, that in his opinion the pitchers were many times given credit for winning ball games that only luck pulled them out of. "No matter what kind of a game that pitcher is twirling," continued the boss, "the fact remains that unless the team behind him is playing ball and putting runners across the rubber, he is sure to lose the game."

The logic of this statement is clear to everybody. Just let the men who make up the balance of the team come in for a share of the glory when the Indians are winning.

Bowby gave him a race though and finished second with twelve. Captain Helmsong was also well up in the list with a total of ten points. A very small crowd was in attendance, owing to the lack of proper advertising. A cool wind was also in evidence which prevented the athletes from doing their best work.

Manager Craft Will Take His Post-eges to Warsaw This Afternoon and Put on Alleged Ball.

The Elks' baseball team will go to Warsaw today and endeavor to show the village champions how to play the great American game. Manager Craft was at Hubinger park yesterday afternoon picking up some hot tips from the Indians on the inside work of the game and promises to have the horned specimens of Keokuk architecture running rings around the favorite sons of Warsaw.

The lineup has not yet been determined for the Elks and the general supposition is that Manager Craft is none too sure of having his men at the car when the time to leave comes. It may be that several A. D. T. boys will be pressed into service to route the team from the Sunday morning beauty nap in order to escape a fine by the manager. From the expression on his face last night, he has been having some very uneasy moments since he took charge of the antlered herd and fear is felt among his friends that he is laboring on the verge of a nervous breakdown, due to the strenuous duties that he has in connection with the management of the ball team.

The track was slow, the only fast time being made by Anderson who ran a five mile, finishing strong in four minutes and 22 seconds.
