A GREATER CAR AT LESS COST

The 1914 Overland is ready for demonstration and delivery. Our production for next year has been increased to 50,000 cars. This greatly increased production, combined with the natural manufacturing economy of restricting ourselves to one chassis, again enables us to make our customary annual offer of considerably more car for considerably less money. While the price has gone down the value has gone up. The motor is larger; the wheel base is longer; the tires are larger; the tonneau is larger; the equipment is better—including such additions as electric lights; the body is more handsomely finished, in rich dark Brewster green, with heavy nickel and aluminum trimmings; in fact, in every single and individual respect it is an improved car at a reduced price. We already have applications on file for more cars than we can deliver during the month of August. Therefore, it is advisable for you to see the nearest Overland dealer promptly, in order to secure an immediate delivery. 1914 catalogue on request.

Power of the Press Discussed at the Hague.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22.—"What the press might do for the cause of peace," was the main question under consideration at today's sessions of the twentieth annual meeting of the universal peace congress which has been in convention since Monday. Herr Fried and M. LeFoyer were today's chief speakers. Both emphasized the power newspapers have in promoting peace among nations. Both strongly condemned those newspapers "which are continually clamoring for war or warlike demonstrations behind a mask of false patriotism." Herr Fried declared "the jingo press the greatest menace of the present day to commercial advancement." He argued that the "jingo" press by continually grasping every opportunity for calling for war could not help but stir up a certain amount of unsettlement in business circles. The congress will adjourn tomorrow.

LAWYERS PROMISE THAW FREEDOM

cannot under existing treaties compel the deportation of Harry K. Thaw under the immigration laws, as requested by both of New York's governors, Sulzer and Glynn. The administration's legal corps decided that extradition, not deportation must be demanded before the question of federal influence can be passed upon.

Glynn Seems Positive. ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—A telegram was sent today by Martin Glynn as acting governor to Governor Fletcher of Vermont, saying: "I am informed that the Canadian authorities will deport Harry Thaw into Vermont on or about Wednesday, 27, that being the state from which he entered Canada. I respectfully request that you have him apprehended immediately upon his arrival in Vermont and have him held awaiting requisition from me."

Good Roads Enthusiasm. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 22.—Thoroughly impressed by the marvelous success of the two good roads days in Missouri Governor Hodges departed for Kansas today, pledging to follow Governor Major's example in his own state and assist in bringing every state in the union into line for good roads days as an annual event and if possible make them nation-wide legal holidays.

Suicide Pact. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 22.—Embracing each other Ross Gros, 22, was found dead early today with an unidentified young woman in his room. They had taken poison in a suicide pact and the girl died shortly after being taken to a hospital.

whole through the United States treasury had not furnished the capital for these new banking institutions." Hepburn's address was followed by a short recess. His principal objections to the pending currency bill were to be made the subject of discussion at two more sessions to be held today. At tomorrow's sessions the bankers hope to agree upon some concerted action of protest. Members of the currency commission today would not predict whether protest would take the form of a draft of an entirely new bill or whether amendments to the present measure would be submitted to congress.

Other big bankers made most bitter attacks on the Owen-Glass measure following Hepburn's keynote address in spite of the remarks of George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago, who counseled moderation. Reynolds returned today from Washington where he conferred with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and he advised the bankers that if they displayed a spirit of helpful co-operation the pending bill might be amended to meet their suggestions.

Charles G. Daws, former comptroller of the currency and president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, and James B. Forgan, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, led the assault.

Daws expressed the fear that the enactment of the currency bill in its present form would precipitate a financial disaster comparable to that which followed "currency reform" in Andrew Jackson's administration. The bill he said would put the country and banks under political control and put national banks in competition with private banks. Forgan declared that business would be paralyzed if the Owen-Glass measure becomes a law. One third of the $197,000,000 currency now in circulation would be segregated in bank reserves, causing a contraction that would halt industrial activity instead of currency expansion promised by the authors of the bill. At the conclusion of his talk Forgan offered two resolutions embodying the declaration that it was the sense of the conference that if the Owen-Glass bill becomes a law national banks will have only two courses open to them—to dissolve or to cease doing business as national banks and assume state charters.

F. J. Wade, of the Mercantile Trust Co., of St. Louis attacked the Forgan resolution and defended the Glass-Owen bill declaring it could be amended to meet the needs of a majority of the bankers of the country. "I do not want it understood," said Wade, "that the remarks of Chairman Hepburn or Mr. Forgan represented the attitude of this commission. To adopt Mr. Forgan's resolutions means to condemn the bill in its entirety. And it has many beneficial features." Forgan suggested to the conference that it recommend to congress that action on the pending currency bill be postponed and that a committee of nine be appointed to draft a new bill as a substitute. He would have the committee consist of the following: three members to be picked by congress, three to be appointed by the commercial interests of the country through the National Chamber of Commerce and three by the national bankers organization.

LATEST MARKET QUOTATIONS

United Press Associations Telegraph Market Report Over Gate City Leased Wire.

Grain Review. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Wheat futures ruled a trifle easier today despite the decidedly bullish tone of the Liverpool cable based on the fear of frost in Canada. Local markets received no such information though weather predictions were unfavorable, leading longs on the selling side. Rain drenched the southern portion of the corn belt and temperatures were more seasonal. Liverpool cables were higher, partly on the report that an American firm had chartered a vessel to transport corn from Argentina but locally prices were down 1/4 to 1/2 under those prevailing at yesterday's close.

The oats trade was of moderate volume with prices easier in sympathy with wheat, but buying on an early dip checked any decided decline. Provisions started easier but the continued hog prices caused a rally to yesterday's closing figures.
