

CASTS NEW LIGHT ON WASHINGTON

Rev. John C. Sage Calls Father of Country True Christian Patriot in His Sermon Yesterday.

LAUDS HAY AND BRYAN

Believes Principles of Jesus on Which Nation is Founded Being Carried Out at Present.

Washington, the Christian Patriot—was the subject of the address by the Rev. John C. Sage at the vesper services of the St. John's Episcopal church, yesterday. Although the storm materially lessened the attendance, a group of the old soldiers, and members of the Keokuk chapter D. A. R., and of the Relief Corps, who were especially invited to attend the services were present. Not only did Dr. Sage pay a tribute to the christianity of the father of our country, but he took occasion to laud the principles which have governed the dealings of the late John Hay, and William Jennings Bryan, secretaries of state.

"If we ask what is patriotism, the ordinary answer and the correct one, is love of country," Dr. Sage said in introducing his theme. "A patriot is therefore one who loves his country. But what does this love of country mean. Does it mean that we love only the material things? Does it mean what the song says, 'I love thy rocks and rills'? Of course we love the material aspects of our country. But we must go deeper. We must ask what are the principles on which a state is founded."

"What is it that constitutes a state? Not walled cities, coast defenses and the like, but high minded people. Men who know their duties and rights. They are patriots because beneath their love for the material things is a love for justice, and for the principles on which the country is founded."

Christian patriotism is based on the principles of Jesus Christ, Dr. Sage held. Justice Brewer wrote at one time that the United States "was a christian nation. He proves this thesis that the government is founded on christian principles, and that christian principles are beneath the laws and constitution of our government. A christian patriot, then is one who loves his country because it supports these principles and because its policy is shaped, guided and developed by Christ's teachings, the speaker went on to explain.

Lauds Hay and Bryan.
"We have two examples of christian patriots in two of our secretaries of state," Dr. Sage resumed. "At no time has this patriotism been so well defined as through the dealings of the late John Hay. Hay showed that we were a christian nation. Especially was this so in our dealings with China. The world, then, looked with wonder on a diplomat and statesman who could tell the truth. "And whatever our politics may be, whatever views we may hold as to party, we must give thanks that we have a secretary of state now, who is guided by the principles of Christ. The very progress of the Bryan peace movement recognizes the fact that this nation is acting on christian principles.

Washington was One.

"George Washington, primarily was a christian patriot. His ancestors were all christian patriots. We must look to them for his inherent military and religious traits."

Dr. Sage then went into some detail concerning the genealogy of the father of our country, showing the God-fearing ancestry of the man, and the traits of character which developed in the man whose birthday the country was observing yesterday. He said he believed in eugenics to a certain extent, but that eugenists were too prone to think only of the material results. We must go back to ancestors for certain traits of character, he thought.

Washington Reverent.

"When Washington asked Governor Dinwiddie for a chaplain, he wrote that common decency calls for the service of such a man, and when the chaplain was not sent at his call, Washington himself read the services. It was Washington who read the burial service over the body of General Braddock. Washington was a regular attendant at church, he was reverent and one of the relics of the man preserved in Mount Vernon museum is a little book of private prayers."

The christian patriot of today who is an American and the American who is a christian patriot, looks to the principles of Christ to solve the problems of the country, was the conclusion reached by the speaker.

SAILOR MAY BE TRIPLE MURDERER

Bears Resemblance to Rowkowski, Who is Wanted in Pittsburgh.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 23.—A sailor under arrest on the battleship Maine under suspicion of being Henry Rowkowski, the Pittsburgh triple murderer, bears a very close resemblance to the police photographs of the criminal, Captain Wallace of the ship said today. Nevertheless he gave it as his opinion that there was no connection between the two. He would not, however, say under what name the man had enlisted as he was waiting the arrival of Pittsburgh detectives here last today.

The man denies all knowledge of the crime which occurred December 28. At that time Constable Martin Windt, Mrs. Estella Yakabiski and Ignatz Rowkowski were murdered when Windt served notice that Rowkowski must cease his attentions to Mrs. Yakabiski's daughter.

RAY PFANSCHMIDT IS GRANTED A NEW TRIAL

Man was Convicted of Quadruple Murder—Supreme Court Reverses Action.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23.—Ray Pfanschmidt, convicted in the Adams county circuit court of a quadruple murder, won in the supreme court of the state when the lower court's findings was reversed on a writ of error. He will have a new trial.

One of the points which won a new trial for the defendant was the decision by the superior court, that the conclusions of bloodhounds were too unreliable to be accepted as evidence. Bloodhounds taken to the scene of the crime were said to have followed a trail to Pfanschmidt's home. The trial court admitted evidence of the trailing by the dogs.

The admission of this testimony was held by the upper court to be an error. In its order, sending the case back for a new trial, the supreme court directed that a motion for a change of venue from Adams county be granted.

The Warsaw Gate City

Warsaw, Ill., Feb. 23, 1914.

John B. Worthen is better, and was out on the street Friday. Rev. J. Forbes Mitchell of Chicago, assistant rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, is here for a short vacation. He is in prime health, and is delighted with his parish, and with the genuine, kindly reception given him.

M. C. Eckbohm is having an immense electric sign hung in front of his garage, guiding visiting motorists to a haven of rest and repair. Warsaw has four factory propositions under consideration. You never know until you try.

R. H. Bowen of Hamilton was a business visitor here Saturday. John S. Moore of Keokuk was calling on Warsaw friends Friday. R. O. Marsh arrived home a week ago and in a few hours left for the east on a business trip.

A big bunch of the makers is expected from the south early in the week. Great improvements are being planned for our electric theatre, the particulars of which may be given later. Warsaw will have a new ferry in the spring, our business men having quickly responded to the appeal of Mr. Geo. Bott, who proposes to build it.

Miss Climer, daughter of Charles Climer of Peoria, is visiting her brother, Charles Climer, of Warsaw. Ernest Longenecker has had a beautiful electric sign hung in front of his barber shop.

The Warsaw band will give a dance in Saenger hall on Easter Monday night, proceeds to be applied to the purchase of uniforms. The contract for the $8,500.00 monument which is to mark the site of Fort Edwards, will be let on Friday March 6. All contributors to the fund are urged to pay up before that time.

An interesting letter from Prof. Harry Cooke of Los Angeles, Cal., reports himself and family in good health. Professor Cooke was long a resident of Warsaw and exhibited all over the United States two mechanical wonders, "City of Jerusalem," and "The Model Farm."

Warsaw's primary election will take place Tuesday, February 24; the "woods are full" of candidates. Three aldermen are to be voted for, also collector, assessor and town clerk. Miss Julia Edwards has returned from a three weeks visit with Milwaukee relatives.

It is reported that Warsaw is to have a "Nickelodeum." Monday, February 23, will be observed as Washington's birthday, the twenty-second coming on Sunday.

Old Lady's Sage Advice.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Mrs. Mamie Towe, of 102 W. Main street, this city, says: "If you had seen me before I began to take Cardui, you would not think I was the same person. Six doctors failed to do me good, and my friends thought I would die. I could hardly get out of bed or walk a step. At last an old lady advised me to take Cardui, and now I can go most anywhere." All ailing women need Cardui, a gentle, refreshing tonic, especially adapted to their peculiar ailments. It is a reliable, vegetable remedy, successfully used for over forty years.—Adv.

to enter into a discussion with Mr. Rowley because "he will be too busy to prepare newspaper articles." Under the head of "Challenge is Declined" was the following item in last Friday's Register and Leader, which we suppose is authoritative:

"Governor Clarke, before leaving for Hawarden yesterday, said he would not debate with John W. Rowley of Keosauqua on state questions through articles in the newspapers. The governor says he is now trying to inform the people of the state on state issues and that he will be too busy to prepare newspaper articles in addition. Some of his addresses may be prepared in pamphlet form for distribution if there is a demand for explanation of the tax, capital extension and road law questions, he said."

We may hear personally from Governor Clarke later on, but as the matter now stands the public can draw its own conclusion.

Governor Clarke Declines Discussion.
Keosauqua Republican: Up to this writing, Wednesday morning, we have received no reply from Governor Clarke to our letter addressed, personally, to him, accompanied by a printed copy of our article in last week's Republican, requesting a joint discussion of capital ground extension "frame up" and other questionable acts connected with his administration. However, we learn through publication in Des Moines papers, wherein he is quoted, that he declines

There's a Reason For Aches and Pains

Often some unsuspected habit, such as coffee drinking, is the root of the trouble.

The average coffee drinker who suffers from sleeplessness, headache, indigestion, nervousness or heart trouble usually says, "Coffee doesn't hurt me," until some day Nature hauls him up with a jerk.

It's poor business to trade health and a clear brain for a few cups of coffee.

The pure food drink

in place of coffee, has put many a man and woman on the Road to Wellville.

Postum is made of prime wheat and a small portion of molasses. It has a delicious Java-like flavour, but none of the drugs, "caffeine" and "tannin" which make coffee a health destroyer.

If your own judgment leads to a trial of Postum, for, say 10 days, and you begin to sleep soundly, digest food better, and your nerves get steady, these signs of returning health will show.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

Postum now comes in two forms.
Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.
Instant Postum—a soluble powder. A teaspoonful, stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.
The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.
