has been made, it is believed that War Secretary Seely has already resigned. It is also declared that Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, has positively taken steps toward retirement.

An official report submitted to the house of commons today by Colonel Seely detailing the negotiations between the war council and the officers of regiments stationed at the curragh who resigned rather than serve in Ulster, was declared by unionists to be the "most amazing document ever submitted parliament."

Responsibility for the entire army upheaval was placed upon the shoulders of War Secretary Seely by Premier Asquith.

Replying to a question in the house of commons the premier admits that the original sent to General Paret in Ireland was not submitted to him.

Commenting on the Seely report, the Pall Mall Gazette, unionist, declares it to be a "humiliating acknowledgment of a disastrous blunder."

"It should be called Gough's treaty," the Gazette concludes.

"Such bargaining between the government and army officers is incredible. We refuse to believe that it was sanctioned by the cabinet."

The greatest confusion prevailed in the house of commons. Radical and labor members jeered the reports of the war secretary. Coupled with reports of the expected resignation of the cabinet were rumors that Lloyd George might head a new ministry.

Sentiment against the government was further stirred when Winston Churchill, first lord of admiralty, admitted in the house of commons today that a squadron of battleships was ordered to the proximity of the Irish coast in view of possible disturbances, but was later recalled.

The subject surrender of government to the army has brought about a situation which today was declared assuredly to forecast the downfall of the Asquith cabinet.

On the contrary," said Fackler. "It is only now a proposition of how long we are going to wait on Rockefeller to pay up. His assessment will be placed at an amount in keeping with what we find his holdings to be."

Attacks of Indigestion

"I believe Chamberlain's Tablets have saved my life, writes Mrs. Maggie Coil, Golden City, Mo. 'I had pains in my stomach so bad I thought I could not live. Our doctor said it was congestion of the stomach. I would go to bed perfectly well and wake up in the night as bad as I could be and live. Our doctor said it would do no good to give medicine internally. He had to inject medicine in my arm. Since taking Chamberlain's Tablets I can eat anything I want without hurting me. This form of indigestion is extremely painful and often dangerous. By taking Chamberlain's Tablets after eating, and especially when you have fullness and weight in the stomach after eating, the disease may be ward off and avoided. Chamberlain's Tablets not only aid digestion, but strengthen and invigorate the stomach."

Public Land Bill Considered Today. WASHINGTON, March 25.—Consideration was begun today by the house public lands committee of another "administration" bill—that for development, free from monopoly, of coal, oil, phosphate and other mineral sources of the public domain.

Secretary of the Interior Lane who drafted the bill, was invited before the house committee today to inaugurate hearings upon it. President Wilson has given his approval to its general features. Western senators and representatives, who conferred with Lane also approve the general leasing plan, which is adopted as the administration system of opening and developing Uncle Sam's resources which have been locked up tight for years.

The bill proposes that all leasing fees shall be paid to the interior department, half to be used in reclamation projects and the other half to be given to the states in which the leased land is situated for public schools, public works or other state improvements. For development of oil lands, the bill proposes "prospector licenses" for limited areas up to 2.56 acres and, if oil is discovered, that the prospector shall receive one-fourth of the tract free for his work.

A royalty of 2 cents a ton and an acreage charge of from 25 cents to $1 per acre for coal leases are provided. Stringent provisions against monopolization are included in the bill. The hearings will continue for about three weeks.

Grain Review. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] CHICAGO, March 25.—Wheat resisted bear movements stubbornly today and at noon showed a loss of only 1/4 from last night's closing figures, despite continued weakness in corn, and easier feeling at Liverpool and reports of light rains over the winter wheat belt. The general feeling was that this downpour was not sufficient to counteract the effect of recent dry weather.

Corn continued to decline today, dropping a fraction at the start and losing 1/4 more for May in the forenoon. Weakness at Liverpool and more favorable news from Argentine were the depressing factors.

Oats followed corn, showing losses of from a fraction to 1/4. Provisions were a shade easier though hog prices at the yards shaded higher. The demand was light.
