

THAT TIRED FEELING IN THE SPRING

That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring, year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality, just as pimples, boils and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition in which it will be easy for you to contract disease if exposed to it.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. Get Hood's today.

IRWIN HAS SEEN MANY

Program at Westminster Brotherhood Banquet, Brought Out a Number of Interesting Incidents.

Possibly no Keokuk person has had the privilege of seeing as many world notables, as has John R. Irwin, who was one of the speakers at the annual banquet of the Westminster Brotherhood, held Friday evening. It will be remembered that his father, the late John N. Irwin, was governor of Arizona and United States minister to Portugal and during these years, his son, then but a small boy, accompanied the family to the west and to the other side of the ocean, where he saw rulers and great people. His talk at the brotherhood meeting was a most interesting one and his father's gift of speaking was incidentally brought out during his remarks.

John A. Logan was the first great man he could recollect. He visited at his father's house when he was a youngster. At Phoenix, Arizona at a ball given in honor of the new governor—his father, he was impressed as a boy with a man decorated in uniform, the governor's adjutant general, who was afterwards noted at Buckley O'Neill, the first volunteer in the war with Spain and who was killed at San Juan after making the remark that the Spaniard had not yet moulded a bullet which could kill him. O'Neill was prominent in the west as a journalist, soldier, sheriff, mayor, gambler—nothing there was that he would not tackle. At one time he captured a band of train robbers and saved the express company $350,000.

While in Arizona, he saw Francis J. Heney and in Keokuk met Senator W. B. Allison, D. B. Henderson, Robert Cousins, George R. Wendling, Col. D. B. Henderson, William E. Curtis, Pete Hepburn and others, prominent at that time.

On board ship, sending his first wireless messages, he saw the wizard Marconi, whom he said looked more like an Irishman than an Italian and who spent his spare time on the ship making love to an American girl.

In London, he was at a dinner party with Ambassador Joseph H. Choate. In Brussels he saw Minister Townsend to Belgium, in Paris he saw Ambassador Porter who was instrumental in bringing the remains of John Paul Jones back to America and in Madrid, he saw Bellamy Story, United States minister to Spain, whose wife taught the king of Spain how to do the American cake walk.

In Lisbon, on the avenue of Liberty, he saw Queen Amelia on horseback meet and exchange salutations with Don Carlos. The meeting was as dignified and set as though rehearsed for a stage scene. The duke of Oporto, the king's brother was often seen driving a span of four stunning mules down the avenue, and cursing in Portuguese to the mules. He also saw young Manuel, later king, and now deposed and the duke of Orleans of the house of Bourbon, who often came to visit his sister.

He had also gazed upon the dead faces of two kings and an emperor—the father and grandfather of Don Carlos and Dom Pedro, emperor of Brazil. The last scene in his story, takes place in the little eastern college town where three great men were known. One was Henry VanDyke, recently appointed minister to the Netherlands, the sage of Princeton who became twice president. The last was Professor Wilson, now President Woodrow Wilson, whom the students did not love as they did others of the faculty, but they admired his intellect and are proud that he now sits in the president's chair. Mr. Irwin said that his class started Wilson's boom for president, by a college song they used to sing about "Our Woodrow."

Other Speakers.

Other speakers on the program told of various great men they had seen or been acquainted with.

Major D. B. Hamill recalled seeing Presidents Grant, Harrison, Taft, McKinley and Roosevelt, most of the great generals of the civil war, Henry Ward Beecher and the giants of the early days of Keokuk when this city was a representative town and of immense power in the state: Governor Lowe, General Reid, the Kilbourns, Bridgemans and others who were giants in religion, politics and everything else.

Dr. G. Walter Barr told an interesting experience he had as a boy reporter for the Wiegman, when John A. Logan made a speech, turning the issue in the 1880 national campaign over to the tariff question. Logan saw that the young reporter was falling behind and he killed five minutes in order to give him a chance to catch up.

He told of spending a Sunday with

Sour Stomach, Heart Burn

In October, 1910, we received a letter from Mrs. Hall, from which we make the following extracts:

"About twelve years ago my health began to fail. I couldn't eat anything without suffering for it. I had heart burn, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, smothering spells, pains in my sides and back. In fact, I suffered all over, and a cough almost like consumption. Doctors failed to relieve me; in fact, they didn't seem to know what ailed me. I continued to grow worse until I was able to sit up only a part of the time. I had almost lost all hopes of ever being any better.

"But one day some one threw some books in at my door. I read them and found them to be Peruna books. 'They described my feelings so truly I sent at once and got a bottle and began taking it. You pronounced my ailment systemic catarrh, and gave me some advice.

"When I had taken two and one-half bottles I began to eat without suffering. I continued to improve. 'When I had taken eight I was like a new person. That was nine years ago.

"I think Peruna the greatest family remedy there is, for so many ailments are due to catarrhal trouble. I would advise any one afflicted with catarrh to take Peruna and I am sure it will leave."

In the Revised 'Tis of Life' we have many similar testimonials which should interest sick people everywhere. Sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

James Whitcomb Riley, of interviewing Buffalo Bill and arguing for two hours with LaFollette and how John N. Irwin was always nervous before he gave one of his great speeches.

Captain A. H. Evans saw and heard Lincoln several times and though what an awkward man he was when he saw him journeying to Washington to be inaugurated president of the United States. He shook hands with President McKinley at Buffalo.

Rev. E. B. Newcomb knew "Jim" Riley, before he became famous and told of some of his practical jokes as a boy. He told of taking snap shots of Bryan and Roosevelt when they visited Keokuk and of seeing all of the great statesmen of the day when he was a page in the senate just after Grant was inaugurated.

He knew President Harrison intimately and closed the evening's program by saying that it being said "a cat may look at a king", he was glad to have taken a kitten's part in looking at great men.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since."—A. E. Davis, grocer, Sulphur, Springs, Tex. —Advertisement.

ROB RESTAURANT AT HAMILTON

Blood Hounds From This City Track Three Men to River—No Arrests Made.

SENT TO KNOXVILLE

Mat Hogan Will be Sent to Hospital There Monday—Wife Sent to Mt. Pleasant.

A restaurant in Hamilton, situated near the depot, was robbed Friday night by thieves who broke in through a window. Two twelve pound butts of Star tobacco and 350 cigars were stolen. Saturday morning W. A. Daley of this city, was called and his bloodhounds put on the trail. The dogs trailed the men to the river, just below the bridge. It is believed that there were two or three men, and that they got in a boat and escaped. No arrests have yet been made in the case.

Mat Hogan and Pina Tipple Hogan have been ordered committed to hospitals for inebriates at Knoxville and Mt. Pleasant. Mat will be sent to Knoxville while his wife will be sent to Mt. Pleasant where women are treated. They have lived for some time in rag alley and have given the police much trouble this year. They have both been incarcerated in the city prison a number of times on charges of intoxication. Friday the two were arraigned in the superior court when an arrangement was made whereby both agreed to leave the city, the penalty for returning being that they be sent to the inebriate institutions. Friday night at about 9 o'clock Pina Hogan was arrested on Exchange street. She was enjoying a happy spree. Mat arrived at the station shortly after. He was also intoxicated and was locked up by the police. Both will be sent away tomorrow.

John Farris has been reappointed special officer at the baseball grounds and Charles Scheffler was appointed special watchman at the Hubinger Brothers plant.

Asbury Grannison, a colored employee of a farm near this city was arrested at Eighteenth and Main streets Friday night. Grannison was intoxicated and was attempting to conduct a religious meeting. He was released yesterday on payment of costs.

PUBLIC OPINION

Danger in the Ordinary Fly.

To the Editor of The Gate City:

I do not believe people generally understand and know the danger there is in the ordinary fly. In New York recently a test was made as follows:

Two sections as nearly alike with 311 families in each were selected for the test. In one section there was 1,725 people and in the other 1,744. The number of babies under one year old respectively, 109 and 98; under two years, 175 and 160; one to five five years, 262 and 298.

A close watch was kept on the two sections in one of which everything was done to protect the children against the flies. Screens were put in, fly paper, fly traps and fly swatters provided.

Covered garbage pails furnished, premises kept clean and stable manure not allowed to provide a breeding place.

In the protected district there were 22 cases; in the other 65.

Total days of sickness in the protected district, 273, and in the other district where the flies flourished, 984.

In the flyless district 20 cases of summer complaint, and in the other, 57.

Theories may be discussed but facts like these do not admit of discussion. We grow wild over the prospect of a factory but ignore the fact that the life of one child is worth more than any factory.

We get excited over a "clean up day" and then go on with our eyes shut to menaces to health that can be found in every alley in the city.

Keokuk, April 25, 1914.

Yours Respectfully,
J. H. COLE.

Industrial Association Bulletin No. 32

Thursday of this coming week, April 30th, is the day when all of our back yards should be cleaned up, our alleys cleaned out and the rubbish hauled away. It won't cost much now to clean up in this way and the city will be ever so much more attractive. It's a well known fact that the spring of the year is the time to get rid of the rubbish and keep it out of the way. Rubbish and refuse piles are the breeding place for flies. If there are no refuse piles there will be fewer possibilities of hatching flies. The city of Lincoln, Neb., has solved the fly problem by keeping down the rubbish, manure piles, sink holes and every other sort of a pile or accumulation of waste and decaying matter.

It is said on good authority that flies cost the United States $350,000 annually. This, to a very great extent, is a needless waste. Many try to remedy the fly evil by setting a large number of traps in the summer and catching them. The time to get rid of a fly is before he is hatched. After it is hatched the damage is done. The present is the time to kill flies before the weather becomes warm and the "hold overs" begin to propagate.

One fly now means innumerable billions later on. The extermination of the winter fly is the duty of every householder. Don't let a single one escape. Clean out their breeding places. Catch and kill the few who do hatch in the spring. The winter fly and the fly of early spring are the parents of the destructive swarms of the summer. A single fly is capable of depositing 150 eggs at one time and of producing five or six batches of 150 during its own short life time of a few days. These eggs, of course, will hatch provided there are rubbish heaps for them to hatch in. It is said that the progeny of a single pair of flies, assuming that they all live, if pressed together at the end of the summer, would occupy a space of over 14,000,000 cubic feet. The only remedy is the destruction of every possible place in which these flies may hatch. That will solve the fly question.

The only way to solve the fly question is to solve it now by cleaning up your back yards and alleys in all parts of the city and keeping them clean from now on all summer.

The efforts being made by the Brighten Up Crusade General Committee should not be ignored or overlooked. It is worthy of our careful consideration and immediate attention.

Don't forget clean up day.
