

Indians Take First With Red Sox, 14-5

PRODIGALS CELEBRATE RETURN WITH 14-5 WIN

Indians Exterminate Two Red Sox Pitchers In Fourth and Sixth Inning Swat Fests.

M'COLLOUGH OFF FORM

Peerless Twirler Supplanted by Whittaker in Fourth—Bill Holds Visitors Helpless.

Driving one pitcher to cover and slaughtering another, the Indians humbled the sensational Red Sox in a 14 to 5 batting orgy at the ball park yesterday afternoon. It was the second defeat of the season for the Manushers and their second fall before the tribe.

It was a much changed lineup that the Indians presented to the fans. Besides new and strange faces, the batting order was renovated from top to bottom. Pennington, a new man, worked in left field and led off in the batting. Marshall played the first six innings in right, relieving Sweet behind the bat at the beginning of the seventh. Both of the new men looked good, and more than that, they hit the ball.

Marshall made a very favorable impression while working in Sweet's place.

Whether it was the change in the line-up or the fact that the Indians were back on native soil that effected their batting, they outplayed the Pathfinders in every department of the game. Manush's $100,000 infield, heretofore called the best in the league, was responsible in a large degree for the big score made by the home guards. They had a total of just twelve opportunities to boot the ball and they passed up but six of the twelve.

The Indians were playing better baseball than they did at any time before starting on the road. The infield was more steady and gave the pitchers better support. On top of that they brought in runs where runs were needed.

McCullough Starts Game. McCullough started the slab work for the locals but lacked the control that is one of his big assets. He successfully pulled himself out of deep holes in the first and second innings but slipped in the third, spilling four hits and three runs. He started to slide again in the fourth but Abbott unruffled the derrick and sent Whittaker to the rescue. With two men on bases, Whittaker gave his first batter a hit which scored Singleton from third. He issued two walks before the side went down, but they received no more runs from him until the ninth when Rolleg drove a long fly, good for four bases, behind a sign on the left field fence. The tribe got down to business in the first inning. Pennington whiffed, but Hunter and Hensling were each safe on errors. Hunter had taken third when Whittaker's hit was thrown wild, giving Hensling his chance to steal second. Both scored on Gottschall's double to left. Abbott and Giffin flew out, ending the period.

Big Time in Fourth. Things went comparatively smoothly for the visitors until the fourth, they having a two run lead by that time.

Marshall started it, taking a stroll. Sweet grounded to Lowthers, but Red stopped the ball with his feet only and the catcher was safe. Whittaker attempted suicide but his bunt was fielded after Bill had reached first and all hands were safe. Lowthers generously booted Pennington's roller, letting Marshall count. Hunter forced Sweet at the plate but Hensling rapped out a clean single on which Whittaker and Pennington rode home. Miller supplanted Watson and Gottschall, the first man to face him, walked, filling the bags and scored after Hensling and Hunter when Abbott lined a single over first. Meindert elected to contribute the third error of the inning, mussing the ball till Abb reached second. Giffin rolled out, but Marshall, batting for the second time in that inning, singled, bringing home his boss. Sweet fanned, ending the agony of joy for the bleacherites.

Get More in Sixth. Of the remaining periods of the game only the sixth proved eventful for the locals. A walk and five hits, one a triple, brought in five more runs in this period. Hensling lead off with a single, stealing second. Gottschall walked and Abbott laid the ball in center field for a safety, scoring Hensling. Gottschall stopped on third for a short rest, coming on in center field, was still holding the ball. Giffin singled, scoring with Abbott when Marshall lined a three bagger to the right field fence. Sweet whiffed but Whittaker poled the ball through short for a safe hit, bringing Marshall home for the last run. Pennington and Hunter fouled out.

Unbounded Joy. Owing to the bad weather the crowd was small, but the game was as good as any that has been seen here this year. When the Red Sox, made formidable by their reputation, took three runs in the third and another in the fourth, giving them a two run lead over the Indians, hope practically died in the hearts of the fans who had hoped to see McCullough repeat his win over the Manushers. The local's half of the fourth, however, brought nothing but unadulterated, unbounded joy that continued in evidence during the rest of the game.

Notes of the Game.

Red Sox again today and tomorrow. The two errors chalked against the tribe yesterday were in a way, easily excusable. Hensling was given a demerit for dropping a fly ball in left field when he and Pennington collided. Hunter booted Meindert's runner in the second inning, Lunte having passed between him and the ball a second before it reached him. It shut off the second basemen's view of the ball just long enough to cause him to muss it.

It was a rough battle, that of yesterday. Sweet was hit on the foot by a vicious foul tip, early in the game. It was evident that it bothered the big catcher for a long time. He was finally relieved in the seventh by Marshall.

In the fifth inning Gennis was injured in the same way, a foul tip striking him on the shin. Gennis said after the game that the ball had hit him in exactly the same spot that another foul tip had struck him while he was umpiring a game at Ottumwa the other day. The pain made him sick and he was unable to continue the game for several minutes.

Whittaker Hensling took a dangerous roll in the first inning. He had grounded to Lowthers and was trying to beat the throw to first. As he reached the bag, going at a terrific pace, he tripped and took a bad spill. It was lucky that it did not hurt him as he brought back from the road trip a bad hand and a spiked leg.

Abbot planned to work McCullough again in today's game. Mack worked only long enough to get warmed up yesterday and the boss figures that he will go back in today and clean up. With any kind of control Mack can hold the visitors to one or two runs.

After Burlington, comes Clinton for a three game series. Clinton is about ready to give Burlington a close chase for the top of the percentage column. Hough seems to have one of the strongest clubs in the league this year, his men being for the most part, old heads who know the game. Smithson, one of his pitchers, is a find of the season. He holds the strike-out record for one game so far this year, and seems headed for a no-hit game record as well.

Cedar Rapids comes here immediately after Clinton, giving the Indians nine straight games at home with first division clubs. After that they hit the road for six games with Cedar Rapids and Clinton, after which they return here for engagements with Muscatine and Ottumwa.

After Saturday's game, fans will get their first real chance to get a line on the relative strength of the teams in the league. Before this series with Keokuk, Burlington had played but two clubs. Judging from the results of those games, the Red Sox were clear out of this league's class. They look different, however, when playing against the Indians. Sunday they meet Cedar Rapids. If the Red Sox can clean up on the Bunnies, Ottumwa, Clinton and Muscatine like they have on Marshalltown and Waterloo we will hand them the roses, but not until then.

J. J. Callahan

40 years old and still able to swing the ball. Manager of the Chicago White Sox. In his prime he was one of the most famous pitchers. Managed one of the teams which has just completed a trip around the world. He is the idol of the Chicago fans and is considered a Chicago "boy" although born in Fitchburg, Mass. The first ball used in the game recently played before King George V. was tossed by the King to James Callahan.

ABBOTT CUTS OFF HEADS OF THREE

Leydecker, Donovan and Herring Given Blue Slips by Boss Before the Game Yesterday.

WERE WEAK AT BAT

Five Men Available for Use in the Outfield at Present and Others Expected Soon.

Leydecker, Donovan and Herring were released yesterday. The first named, Leydecker, is a young catcher from St. Louis. In many respects he looked very good, but he lacked the knowledge of the game that a catcher should have above every other man on the team. Leydecker played in but one game during the championship season, that being the last three innings of a game at Waterloo.

RITOHIE EXPECTS TO FIGHT IN ENGLAND

Declares London Promoters will Meet His Terms for Fight with Freddie Welsh.

[United Press-Leased Wire Service.] MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 22.—While Ritchie fully expects to battle Freddie Welsh for the world title in London some time in June, he said today. He declared that the London promoters would meet his terms which call for $35,000 or 50 percent of the receipts.

As to his match here Tuesday with Charley White, of Chicago, the champion has no fears. "Wolgaat made him waver and the Bear Cat was just beginning to come back," he said. "I hope to slip over the K. O."

His training program today was golf in the forenoon and seven rounds with Ritchie Mitchell and Freddie Andrews this afternoon.

AL M'COY BADLY DEFEATED BY MURRAY

Alleged Middle Weight Champion Almost Unrecognizable, Following Bout Last Night with Murray.

[United Press-Leased Wire Service.] NEW YORK, May 22.—Al McCoy, alleged recognized middle weight champion, was almost unrecognizable today. He persisted in getting in the way of a bad left hook in his bout with Billy Murray of California last night and about the only championship characteristic he showed was further taste for punishment. Murray carries some signs of the fray, but his win was by a wide margin. He did his best at close range.
