—The Elks are having good success in getting up their Iowa City party. A number signed up yesterday to go with the special train to the convention city on the 19th and more are expected to sign before the time for departure but it is important that the committee know as far in advance as possible how many intend to make the trip so suitable arrangements can be made.

—The Gate City again urges all patrons of the classified columns to make payments for that class of advertised at the time of publication. It is inadvisable to attempt to carry book accounts of so many small charges and cash payment is requested. Where it is impossible for the patron to make payment at the time of publication the collector will call the following day.
—The work performed by the fire department at the Collins fire Sunday was of an exceptionally high order. It was a long run but the trip was made quickly and the fire restricted to the ice house. Considerable favorable comment was heard from those who witnessed this work of the department and Mr. Collins, who always had a high appreciation of the firemen, is further impressed with their efficiency.
—Next Tuesday, boards of supervisors in the ninety-nine counties of the state will begin the official canvass of returns of the primary election. It is not thought that the official count materially will change the result of the election, although there is some speculation as to what effect it will have on the nomination of John Mulvaney as democratic candidate for congress in the seventh district, and on the majority of C. W. Ramseyer of Bloomfield. Under the provisions of the state law the secretary of state should have complete and accurate returns early next week.

P. M.'s Convene Minus Congressmen.
LINCOLN, Neb., June 9.—Postmasters from the cities, towns, villages, hamlets and cross-roads of Nebraska are gathering here today for the opening of the annual convention of the Nebraska postmasters, which will be concluded on June 11.

Owing to reluctance or inability on the part of congress to adjourn in due season the usual flock of fence repairing congressmen were not here to speak to the superintendents of mail distribution in the Cornhusker state. Consequently only home oratorical talent is being depended on for that part of the program.
