GLASCOFF MAKES REPORT OF WORK

Secretary United Charities and Humane Officer Was Busy With Many Cases During Month of May.

SOME PITIFUL STORIES

Work is Made Possible Through the Kindness and Financial Cooperation of People of Keokuk

The monthly report of David A. Glascoff, humane officer and general secretary of the United Charities, has been prepared for the month of May. It is interesting to note the work which Mr. Glascoff has been doing for the two associations, and his report gives evidence of the need of the societies and the good that is being done here by them.

His report follows:
Naturally with the approach of warm weather there is a diminution in the number of dependents asking material aid. This is in part due to the fact that many of them possess small plots of ground where they raise a little garden truck and also to the fact that there is more city work. This cessation does not mean that the work is at a standstill but rather that there is a chance for a change. A chance to do more preventive and constructive work. We are now turning our attention to these phases and hope to inaugurate some features new to Keokuk.

During the month of May there were thirty families brought to our attention from the following sources: Private and individuals, twenty; applicants in their own behalf, ten; Y. W. C. A., two, and city and county officers, two. This group of distressed humanity represented forty-nine individuals over fourteen years of age and twenty-three under that age. Socially they were divided as follows: Twelve married couples, four widowers, three widows, two divorced or separated couples, four single men residents, two single men transient, and three single women.

Give Substantial Aid.
Through the hearty co-operation of our friends we have been able to do the adequate thing in a few instances as indicated by the following: Twenty-seven meals were served to two old women and sleeping accommodations were furnished for eight nights. Groceries were provided twenty-six times, work once, rent paid, once, furniture moved once, transportation secured twice, thirteen were helped to get along without public assistance and five others were referred to other organizations or officers. Our attention was directed to suffering animals in five instances and in four it lay within our power to correct conditions, while in the fifth there was no need of interference as there was no cruelty.

In order to do this work, ninety-four visits were made and the telephone used one hundred twenty-nine times. Four associations, societies or institutions, the county and several individuals united in the giving of money or its equivalent in material aid, thus making possible the work accomplished.

Characteristic Stories.
Nearly three years ago there was employed in one of the great cotton mills of Virginia a young man about twenty years of age. His health had been gradually failing and there were days when he could not work and other days when he would not have gone to the mill if it had not been that his widowed mother needed his earnings. Finally the time came when the family physician told him he would have to change climate if he would live. He had tuberculosis and went to Denver, Colo., where for two years he lived the lonesome life of all one lungers who are neither blessed with friends or an abundance of money. Under these circumstances it is not to be wondered at that he did not regain his health and six weeks ago the city physician told him he had better start home if he wished to reach there alive. Selling a trunk and a suit of clothes, he paid his way to Omaha, Neb., here he disposed of more of his belongings and paid his way to Des Moines, Iowa. At the latter place he had the good fortune to become acquainted with a stock buyer who gave

Marble Pudding

Steamed puddings will not be heavy if made with K C Baking Powder and cooled slowly to give the pudding time to rise before the dough is cooked through. Have a low blaze under the water for at least the first fifteen minutes.

K C Marble Pudding

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.
2 cups sifted pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1/2 teaspoonful cinnamon; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup sugar; 1/4 tablespoonful melted butter; 1 cup cold water; whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry; 1/2 ounces melted chocolate.

Sift together, three times, the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. To the yolks add the sugar, butter and water, and stir into the dry ingredients. Add the whites of the eggs. Divide the mixture into two parts and add the chocolate to one part. Dispose the two parts in a buttered mold to give a marbled appearance. Steam forty-five minutes.

Vanilla Sauce
Boil 2 cups of sugar and a cup of water six minutes; add 2 tablespoonfuls of butter and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

him a pass permitting him to ride on a freight train to Burlington. At this place he disposed of the remainder of his personal effects and purchased a ticket here. He was now striving to reach a sister in St. Louis instead of going home. His sister could give him a home and so he was sent on his way rejoicing, for he was going straight to her. This was made possible by the kindness of the captain of the steamboat W. W. and two friends who contributed money enough to buy a ticket from Quincy to St. Louis.

Army Officer's Widow.

The widow of a Wisconsin attorney who during the civil war served his country first as a captain and later as a brevet major, was sent to our office with the hope that we might be able to do something for her. Her husband was a sad one, since her husband's death, and the loss of considerable property. She and her son, who was supposed to be making a living for the two as an itinerant painter and decorator, had traveled much and lived a hand-to-mouth existence in spite of the fact that she drew a pension. He could do a pretty fair job of decorating or painting a set of scenes for an opera house but like many of his kind, was over fond of his cups. An injury to one of his eyes and the idea that the only place where it could be properly cared for was in Chicago, his home, caused him to borrow all the money his mother had, thus leaving her stranded and to the mercy of the public. After satisfying ourselves that she should really be in Chicago, we were able to raise money enough to pay for her ticket and give her a little money, so she would not reach her destination penniless.

Seeks Missing Husband.

Stranded and with no chance of being able to earn a living for herself and two small children, a woman applied to one of the county officers for assistance in finding her husband who had suddenly disappeared. After making all efforts possible, the officer sent her to us, asking that we take care of her if possible. We found her to be alone so far as relatives who could or should take care of her were concerned, and greatly in need of help for the next month. We undertook her care and are providing rooms, provisions and other necessities of life. All this is costing money and the carrying out of our plan has been made possible through the co-operation of churches, societies and individuals. When she is able to travel, the mother and her children will return to a relative who can give her a home, but nothing more.

Vote is Close.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—Latest figures on Tuesday's primary election show the race for the democratic nomination for governor between Daniel W. Lawlor and W. S. Hammond narrowing down to a few votes. Lawlor's strong lead in the cities is being overcome by Hammond's strength in the country and with eight hundred precincts yet to be heard from the vote stands: Hammond, 19,828; Lawlor, 20,579.

To Keep Skin in Fine Condition All Summer

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautifying. Ordinary mercerized wax will do more for the complexion, and without giving an oily, streaked, spotted or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clean, but daily removes particles of scarf skin which have been soiled by dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white, satiny, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or artifices commonly employed. One ounce of mercerized wax, obtainable at any drugstore, will completely renovate the worst complexion. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To keep the skin from sagging or wrinkling, or to overcome such condition, there's nothing better than a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in 1/2 pint witch hazel.

MARSH MEETS CITY COUNCIL

Explains Railway Project to Burlington Aldermen at Regular Meeting.

Burlington Hawk-Eye: The city council met in regular session yesterday at 9:00 a. m., with all members present. Councilman Wieseley returned home Wednesday evening. The council was also favored with the presence of a distinguished visitor, Mr. R. O. Marsh, of Warsaw, Ill. Mr. Marsh is the man who is promoting a new bridge and says he will bring a new railroad into Burlington. He appeared before the city council to explain the situation and his plans, and also to insure the city council that his project is not dead, but is as alive as ever. Matters have been moving slower than he had hoped for, but he believed the situation was such that they could soon proceed with the work without delay.

The company, he said, is at present working a big force of men between Quincy and Warsaw, and expect to reach the latter town by August 1. From there they will work toward Ft. Madison, reaching that point by December. From there they go to Niota, and from Niota to Burlington. No rail nor ties have been laid as yet, but it is expected to begin this work the latter part of August or September. In the building of the new bridge at this point, he desires the co-operation of the city, and he was positive this new bridge would surely be of material interest to the merchants and citizens of Burlington. He estimated that a bridge could be built across the Mississippi at a cost of about $600,000.

Mr. Marsh is still a young man and is quite enthusiastic over his scheme, and while it is working a little slower than he had hoped for, he predicts and sees only success.

BIG CROWD GOES ON ELKS SPECIAL

Train Which Left This Morning Carried Large Number of "Billie" to Iowa City.

TAKE PART IN PARADE

Ft. Madison and Burlington Delegates Joined Train at Stations Which Were Only Stops.

Over 150 Elks left Keokuk this morning on a special train enroute to the state convention at Iowa City. Headed by the Keokuk band, they marched from the Elks club to the station at 6:30 o'clock. The special left about 6:30 for Iowa City. It was scheduled to arrive at 10 o'clock. A large number of ladies accompanied the Elks on the trip, and a special coach was reserved for them.

The local Elks are determined to carry off the first prize for the best appearing delegation and also for the largest number in line in the parade, which was held at 10:30 this morning. They were garbed in white ulsters with purple trimmings and white hats with purple bands, and every one carried an American flag.

The Keokuk special stopped at Fort Madison to pick up a delegation there and another at Burlington. These were the only stops scheduled until Iowa City was reached. Some of the local Elks already are in Iowa City and they met the train on its arrival.

Will Return Tonight.

The local delegates planned to spend the entire day at Iowa City taking in the amusement and entertainment features and will return this evening on the special.

Keokuk was honored yesterday at the election of officers by having Dr. Fred C. Smith chosen first vice president. Dr. C. L. Leigh of Davenport was chosen president of the Iowa state association of B. P. O. Elks. William Rainbold of this city who has been state secretary, was not elected to that office again yesterday. He was defeated by F. J. Kiest of Des Moines.

Officers Who Are Chosen.

Following are the officers chosen:
President—Dr. C. L. Leigh, Davenport.
First vice president—F. B. Smith, Keokuk.
Second vice president—C. J. Welsh, Muscatine.
Third vice president—J. Lindley Coon, Newton.
Secretary—F. J. Kiest, Des Moines.
Treasurer—A. Henigbaum, Davenport.
Doorkeeper—John Wiegand, Muscatine.
Chaplain—Rev. Dr. E. A. Rudd, Fort Madison.
Sergeant at arms—I. Metzger, Muscatine.
Trustee—Marion Guard, Marshalltown.
Thousands of Elks—as many as 10,

The most economical of all quick-leavening agents

600 visitors, friends and families of the "Hello, Bills" being included—came on special trains. Wednesday night brought many, others came yesterday. Special trains from numerous cities are scheduled to arrive this morning for the final big day of the convention and reunion.

Initial Program is Held.

The initial program of the ninth annual reunion was held yesterday morning at the Iowa City Elks' home. George T. Reddick, of Iowa City, a national officer, presided. Rev. Dr. E. H. Rudd, of Ft. Madison, offered the invocation. The address of welcome was delivered by Hon. George W. Koontz, mayor of Iowa City, on behalf of the city, and W. H. Bates, exalted ruler of Iowa City lodge, spoke for the lodge. The response was by J. E. McDonnell, of Des Moines, state president.

The city is ablaze with purple and white; and incandescent globes stud stores, offices, homes, public buildings and business thoroughfares. Iowa avenue has thousands of electric lights mounted on pedestals, from one end of the boulevard to the other, and the scene is surpassingly brilliant at night.

Convention on Boat.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] ON BOARD STEAMER NORONIC, (By wireless to Detroit, Mich.), June 19.—Completing the most successful convention in the history of the International Association of Circulation Managers, aboard the steamer Noronic of the Northern Navigation Co., today were nearing Detroit where the convention will close today, after a six day tour of the great lakes. The result of last night's balloting for officers of the association for the ensuing year announced today was as follows: President, A. W. Mackinnon, New York World; first vice president, J. W. Chevrier, Le Devoir, Montreal; second vice president, J. M. Schmidt, Indianapolis News; secretary-treasurer, Joseph J. Taylor, Grand Rapids Press.

Pleasant Girls.

Burlington Hawk-Eye: Mt. Pleasant's high school girls made their own graduation dresses and in no case did the actual cost of the gown exceed $3.75, and they looked just as charming and perhaps more so than if it had become necessary to stand off the landlord and the butcher and the grocer in order that the fair girl graduate might appear in expensive finery. The Mt. Pleasant plan ought to become the rule in every high school in the state.

Y. M. C. A. ITEMS

Park Meeting.

The outdoor gospel meeting will be held at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Ezra B. Newcomb will be the speaker. The music will be as at the former similar meetings, led by a large chorus and a quartet from the Young Men's Christian association composed of Ben D. Chapman, Homer T. Orsborn, Hugh J. Askey and Lester H. Knapp.

Delegates Return.

The boys delegates to a conference of the boys department of the Young Men's Christian association, having performed their duties, two of them Carroll Joy and George Hoffman have already returned. Clarence Alling will take a trip through the state before returning. The boys report an excellent time at Lake Okoboji, baring the familiarity of a numerous swarm of Jersey skeeters who each give a quart of milk, morning, noon and night.

Agriculture.

Alton Democrat: Agriculture has always been honorable, but never so profitable as at the present time. Cincinnati was called from his plow to govern an empire, yet Cincinnati never saw an ear of corn, his plow was an exceedingly primitive affair and the self-binder and mowing machine were unknown. Consequently agriculture flourished only by the main strength of man. Today the horse and gasoline engine do most of the work on the farm and the rewards of farming are increased almost beyond belief. Nor have the comforts and luxuries of the farm ever been so profuse and so general as they are now. The smooth road, usually in good condition through an intelligent system of supervision, the swift and easily managed motor car, combine to remove that isolation that has always been regarded as one of the disagreeable features of farm life. The neighborhood of former days was no larger than the school district, while now it is the county. Farmer Jones finishes his corn planting in the forenoon and spends the rest of the day with his family visiting Farmer Smith twenty miles away. His work is done, why should not the time be spent in play? The sun is shining, the soil is at work and his investment of labor is surely multiplying without further care. No other occupation is so dignified, so independent, or so generally profitable.
