

URGES PRECAUTION IN USE OF MILK

Dr. W. P. Sherlock, State Inspector, Recommends That Milk be Heated to High Temperature This Summer.

RESULT OF INSPECTION

Thirty Per Cent of Dairies Scored in Six Months Averaged Only 41 Points.

"Heat all milk to 167 degrees Fahrenheit for twenty minutes, especially so where it is intended for infants and children and during the hot summer months."

This is the advice that Dr. W. P. Sherlock, local state and city milk inspector gives in compiling his report for the month of May. Dr. Sherlock's warning to milk consumers of the city is based on the inspection of thirty percent of dairies of Keokuk in the past six months.

Here is what Dr. Sherlock says of conditions which have been found in the inspections carried on by the department:

"During the past six months about thirty percent of the dairies supplying milk to Keokuk have been inspected and scored, with an average of forty-one points out of a possible one hundred. In two of the herds were found cows suspected of having tuberculosis.

"Many dairies have not been scored but it is reasonable to believe that they are in no better or worse condition than the ones scored and as it is impossible to score all dairies supplying milk to Keokuk under the present system, it would be well to heat all milk to 167 degrees F., for twenty minutes especially so where it is intended for infants and children and during the hot summer months."

Report of Inspection. Dr. Sherlock's report of the various dairies for the month of May is found here, giving the average for month in butter fat and sediment found in the milk:

constitutionalists at Agua Prieta, Mexico. Obergon heretofore had been regarded as one of Carranza's staunchest supporters in the rebel army.

Private messages indicate Colonel Elias Calles, constitutionalist commander in chief, in Sonora, is loyal to Carranza and is planning active opposition to Obergon. The messages expressed the belief that he was acting upon instructions from Carranza. The reports were unconfirmed.

Holmdahl at the Head.

OAKLAND, Calif., June 20.—Major Emil J. Holmdahl, of Oakland, has been detailed by General Francisco Villa, military head of the Mexican constitutionalists, to equip and lead a military expedition from the state of Sonora to the territory of Lower California. Three previous expeditions having failed in their attempts under Mexican leadership, Villa has decided to entrust his final expedition to the Oakland boy, who was formerly his chief of artillery.

Holmdahl left Agua Prieta for Nogales last night and following his departure, the constitutionalist officials announced that the expedition is being formed of the flower of the rebel fighting strength in northern Sonora. Holmdahl gained his military experience while a member of the United States army in China and the Philippine Islands.

At the beginning of the Madero revolution in 1910 he joined the revolutionists in the state of Coahuila and served throughout the rebellion. When Madero was assassinated, Holmdahl went to Villa's army. He commanded the rebel artillery at Torreón, Santa Rosalita, Chihuahua, Juarez and Tierra Blanca, but retired to the secret service under instruction of Villa who made him a major. Villa recently recalled Holmdahl to his personal staff.

Villa Says No Break. TORREON, Mexico, June 20.—General Felipe Angeles, chief of artillery in General Francisco Villa's Mexican constitutionalist army, has not been proclaimed by Villa as provisional president of Mexico, also so far as Villa knows, Angeles is still secretary of war in the provisional cabinet of General Carranza.

This was the information given out tonight at constitutionalist headquarters before Villa and his staff started for the south.

In a brief interview this afternoon, Villa again declared that he had not broken relations with Carranza and reiterated his subservience to the "first chief." In replying to a telegram addressed to him as "first chief" of the revolution, the general informed the signers that their dispatch was evidently intended for General Carranza and requested them to communicate with the latter at Saltillo. Villa also denied reports that General Manuel Chao, whom he deposed as military governor of Chihuahua state, had been executed. Chao and his brigade are actually at Canitas, prepared to march against Zacatecas. Villa and Angeles are well on their way south tonight. The rains have ceased and the floods which delayed the movement of troops in the Zacatecas campaign are subsiding rapidly. If the railroads are in shape to carry heavily laden troop trains, it is believed the general movement of the investment of Zacatecas will be under way tomorrow.

Villa will be in supreme command and will have 20,000 of his own men and about 10,000 troops of the commands of General Natera and ten Arrieta brothers of Durango. The artillery division under personal command of General Angeles will have fifty-nine guns with a plentiful supply of ammunition. It is believed Villa has nearly 100 machine guns of all kinds scattered about various points in northern Mexico.

More Mediation Needed.

EL PASO, Texas, June 20.—Movement started tonight among prominent Mexican leaders of the constitutionalists here and at Juarez to advise the United States government to mediate the differences existing between General Francisco Villa and General Venustiano Carranza to end that the constitutionalists may again present a united front against their common enemy. It is believed by men behind the movement that the United States could immediately show the warring leaders the folly of any division in the constitutionalist ranks. Hugh L. Scott, assistant chief of staff of the United States army, and formerly in command of United States troops stationed along the Mexican border is suggested by many constitutionalists as an ideal mediator.

Carranza had deposed General Angeles from his position as secretary of war did not occasion any surprise here. Despite Torreón dispatches denying knowledge of such move, the report is generally credited. The removal of General Luis CobiFero as commandant of the rebel troops at Tampico and his summons to Monterey and Saltillo leads many to believe that Carranza intends to appoint him commander in chief of the northeastern military zone. This belief is based on the supposition that General Pablo Gonzalez, now commander of that zone, is to be given some higher rank. The statement that General Angeles had been proclaimed by Villa provisional president was issued by Arturo Elias, Huertista consul here. It was based on a story told him by a man whose name he refused to divulge, that Torreón had been placarded with such a proclamation. Constitutionalists here and in Juarez, both Villistas and Carranzistas, both denied that Angeles had been proclaimed provisional governor although both admit Villa would like to see his chief of artillery in that position. Angeles prefers the field to an office or staff service and has been attached to Villa's army ever since the capture of Juarez.

Huerta is Confident.

MEXICO CITY, June 20.—General Huerta tonight expressed confidence that the mediation conferences at Niagara Falls will not be disrupted through difficulty in deciding upon a provisional president to succeed him. From an inspired source came word that he is confident that they will solve the problems with Mexico and the United States.

Judge Douglas is Wrathful.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—"Mediation is not over by any means," was the comment tonight of Judge Douglas, attorney here for Carranza. He was wrathful over published reports that he had been attempting to mislead the administration by misrepresenting actual conditions as to the constitutionalists' affairs.

At Niagara Falls.

[By Fred S. Ferguson, United Press Staff Correspondent.] NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 20.—On the historic battle field of Lundy's Lane, Ambassador Naon of Argentine, and Frederick W. Lehmann, of the American delegation to the mediation conferences, this afternoon decided that war with Mexico might be avoided and the southern republic pacified.

The extreme pressure due to the absolute disagreement between the United States and the Mexican delegates was in no wise relieved tonight.

Arriving here this afternoon from Washington, Naon explained to his colleagues the results of his conferences with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. For an hour the mediators were together. Lehmann then arrived and spent an hour with the A. B. C. envoys. Later Lehmann and Dr. Naon went for an auto ride. They motored through the parks and then out to the battle field, where they talked of the possibilities of some agreement being reached here which would prevent further bloodshed in Mexico. It was definitely learned tonight that Ambassador Naon told the other two mediators the Washington administration had no new proposal to submit. President Wilson is firm in his determination that a constitutionalist shall be named provisional president, if such an officer of Mexican government is to be chosen here. The mediators took members of the Mexican delegation one at a time for walks in the park and explained the final word from Washington. The Mexicans remained firm in their demand that a neutral should be chosen and the deadlock was as complete as ever.

The visit of Dr. Naon to Washington brought no change in the situation. The mediators do not believe that in view of the firm stand taken by both sides that time will result in any change in their opposition, but it was believed tonight that conferences might not break up abruptly as appeared certain only yesterday. Publication of mediation correspondence first by Mexicans and then by Americans is now recognized as unfortunate as it has both sides firmly on record publicly and matters of pride enter into it. Northern Mexico has, it is believed, saved the peace conferences from immediate disruption. The control which General Villa has apparently gained over the constitutionalists has encouraged the administration to believe that the constitutionalists may yet be brought to accept some man selected as provisional president here or take other action which would make acceptance of a man agreeable to them possible for the Huerta delegates. It was learned tonight that the mediators believe that if a constitutionalist should be named provisional president, the rebels should give some constitutional guarantees as to the election to follow.

If the conferences are held together here, it is declared the administration may have to get some such assurances from Carranza through Villa, who has favored the delegates to Niagara from the start. "This country cannot afford to allow this conference to fall of its main object, the restoration of peace in Mexico," Short, secretary of the New York Peace association, said in a talk here.

by payment of current dues and assessments and by filing health certificates. Head officers expressed the belief that a large share of the 300,000 members reported to have quit the order after the Chicago encampment, will return.

The per capita tax was raised from $1 to $1.20. A special tax of three cents per member per month was ordered levied to enlarge the order's sanitarium at Colorado Springs, Colo., and to extend the fight against tuberculosis. A resolution authorizing Head Consul Talbot to order funds from Illinois state because they were subject to taxation were referred to a special committee.

Major C. W. Hawes of Rock Island, Ill., who retires this year after twenty-seven years of service as head clerk, was made a life member of the head camp with all the privileges of a delegate at tonight's session. W. A. Northcott of Springfield, Ill., former head consul, is the only other member of the order upon whom a similar honor has been conferred.

C. A. Ingram of Wisconsin, endeavored to have an amendment inserted in the bylaws, providing for the payment of ten cents per month by all members under sixty years to pay extra cost on members over that age and taking $10,000,000 out of the present surplus to be used in the same connection as a fraternal fund. R. W. Greene of Washington presented a table of rates but assessing members on age of entry and not on attained age. This was referred to the membership for approval. John L. Sundeau, the original insurgent, spoke in support of this plan, but the general attorney of the order gave an opinion that no new rates could be put into force until the supreme courts of Illinois and Iowa had given decisions on the Chicago rates. Amendments were therefore withdrawn. Before adjournment the head camp passed a resolution expressed confidence in the society and exploring the cause of trouble during the sessions.

HINDUS MAY

BURN THE SHIP

While some sort of an arrangement will be made with Admiral Kuroki in command of the Japanese warships Asama and Adzuma now in the harbor here to escort the Komazato Maru across the Pacific, the Komazato Maru arrived in British Columbia waters May 21 and since then every legal article has been used to prevent her from leaving for Seattle.

Labor unions are especially aroused, claiming that an unbearable situation would be created by the entrance of the Hindus into British Columbia.

The Warsaw Gate City

Warsaw, Ill., June 21, 1914.

Joseph Drouot, wife and boy, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, arrived Friday morning in Mr. D's Locomobile. They will remain several days, making trips in the surrounding country and visiting relatives here and in Carthage, and will possibly visit the Plymouth oil fields, a few miles east of Warsaw. Resuming their journey, they will take the trail for Colorado Springs, Colorado, and perhaps further west.

Mr. Drouot was some years ago engineer of Grace Mills, but ever since leaving here has been interested in the oil business and is now a member of the Britton-Johnson Oil Co., and general manager.

Wm. Mussetter has bought the Ames property on Crawford street, between Ninth and Tenth, and is painting the house and greatly improving the property.

The Eagles of Keokuk will play baseball with Warsaw club Sunday, June 21, 2:30 p. m., at fair grounds.

Roger Sullivan, candidate for United States senator, was here Thursday with a party of friends in his big Pierce Arrow touring car. He was making a tour of the country towns, looking after his fences; he and his party did not stay long.

Warsaw's silver cornet band of twenty-two pieces, has been engaged to lead Warsaw Eagles in the big parade of Eagles in Keokuk on Wednesday of next week.

J. S. Prosser and John M. Hungeat laid out the tennis courts at the Lake View club on Lake Cooper.

Mrs. John C. Nesbit is gradually recovering from an operation performed at St. Joseph's hospital several weeks ago.

It has been suggested that the Warsaw band be engaged for the Fourth of July to live up the day; at least to play in the evening; consulting the calendar it is found the Fourth comes on Saturday, which fact might make some difference with some members of the band. Warsaw will not celebrate but save all her patriotism for September 29, 30, and October 1.

Arthur Marsh Post and the W. R. C. will hold memorial services in the "Little Brick" at 3:00 p. m. Sunday, June 21, in honor of the old soldiers who have died the past year, viz: Dr. B. J. Fuller and also in honor of Mrs. Mary H. Woolfolk, the wife of a soldier, who was a cordial friend and generous contributor to the W. R. C. Rev. A. E. Cole will deliver the address. The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. J. B. Price, visiting here for some time, called from New York for Europe this week. She will visit England a short time and will then locate in Berlin, where she will take up the study of German. Mrs. Price was formerly Miss Jennie Adams, was born in Warsaw and resided here many years.

The telegraph tells us that conditions are far from harmonious at the M. W. A. head camp in Toledo. Turning down the legitimate delegates from several states is the cause. The credentials committee has not made complete report, and the insurgents threaten vengeance if the administration does not "tote fair."

There was a large attendance at the boat show Thursday night. The band gave a fine parade and concert in the afternoon; a novelty was a Scottish piper with bagpipes, and there was also a small martial band; these boats often come close together as there will be Emerson's Golden Rod tonight.

Miss Eaton will erect an eight room house on Clark street, adjoining Miss Marsh's; excavation for the cellar has commenced.

Wheat harvest will begin the coming week but the yield will be greatly cut short by the recent dry weather. Mrs. J. B. Worthen is home from Chicago, where she attended the graduation of her daughter, Miss Eunice, at the University of Chicago.

J. A. Gordon of Hamilton made a flying visit to Warsaw Thursday. He promises to come down soon again with the chautauqua programs.

Because of an open letter from R. O. Marsh, president of the Tri-State Traction Co., in which he stated that the obstruction and delay caused by Navvoo property owners along the line of the railway near Navvoo, might compel him to build several miles back of Navvoo, the citizens there have awakened to their peril and will doubtless be reasonable and show that they really do want a railroad and will prove it at once to President Marsh's satisfaction, and grant him the right of way, so that the building of this great trunk line will not be delayed.

Warsaw won the baseball game at the picnic of the men's forward movement at Cedar Glen, yesterday. There was a large attendance from Warsaw, Hamilton and a number of other towns. It was a success considering it was the first, and will hereafter doubtless be an annual summer event.

The Warsaw delegates to the Y. P. and Sunday school convention of this district to be held at Kahoka, June 23 to 25, are Miss E. Meyersick, Miss Irene Schlenck, and Rev. E. H. Jagdstein, who will address the convention on the theme "Y. P. S. and Juvenile Courts."

Thos. Hill and Blair Schram arrived Friday in Mr. Hill's car, from Beaver Dam, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brinkman are in Chicago visiting their son Harry and family.

Old settlers predict high water this summer, even to the danger point.

The bankers' meeting and banquet Thursday at the Lake View club house was reported as well attended and a most enjoyable affair. Warsaw was well represented.

Thursday night the manager of the show boat was noisy and quarrelsome and was warned by Marshal Bennett to desist; he said the boat was his and he would do as he pleased, and forthwith got into a fight on the stage plank, throwing a man off onto the ground, tearing the latter's clothing badly. Marshal Bennett promptly marched him to the cooler and he was assessed a fine of $5.00 and costs, which he paid.

Alderman Wm. Swartz of the third ward, now in Dr. Newbury's sanitarium, Jacksonville, is reported as improving and in good spirits.

R. O. Marsh, president of the Tri-State Traction Co., took the mayor and a number of officials down over the new line, Saturday morning.

C. B. Bennett, the genial salesman for the A. E. Anderson Clothing Co. of Chicago, was visiting patrons last week, and gave Warsaw a friendly call.

Judge and Mrs. O'Conner of Chicago, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Albers the past week.

What Londoners Forget. "What Londoners Forget," is the title of an article in the London Daily Mirror which shows that the people of that great city are in the first rank of the careless and absent-minded. A report from the commissioner of police shows that during one year 84,876 lost articles were sent to Scotland Yard, including 10,164 bags, 3,428 purses and 32,254 umbrellas, an average of 88 umbrellas a day. This report of lost umbrellas is not considered by any means complete, as Scotland Yard probably gets no more than half the lost shower sticks.

The basis of representation in said state convention shall be as follows: One delegate for each county and one additional delegate for each two hundred votes, or fraction thereof not less than 100, cast for George W. Clarke for governor at the general election held November 5, 1912. The counties from the First district of Iowa will be entitled to send the following delegates: Des Moines 14 Henry 10 Jefferson 9 Lee 14 Louisa 8 Van Buren 8 Washington 10 L. B. WHITNEY, Secretary. Murdered Her Husband. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] EXTER, N. H., June 20.—Charged with murdering her husband, Mrs. Henry H. Folsom was arrested here this afternoon as she stood revolver in hand over the body of Folsom, which lay in the road between here and New Market. Police say the woman confessed: "I had to do it to keep him from marrying another woman."
