FOUR SOX HURLERS BOW BEFORE TRIBE

Indians Lead by Harry Sweet, Get Sweet Revenge in Red Sox Defeat Yesterday 13-7.

WHITTAKER ENDS GAME

Bill Supplants Faircloth as Pinch Hitter and Finishes Fray—Shift on the Infield.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, July 14.—Abbott's Indians with Harry Sweet leading them got sweet revenge on the Red Sox here yesterday and defeated them by a 13 to 7 score. The game Sunday was a big league game in comparison with yesterday's contest and it was one grand conglomeration of hitting and running. Faircloth started for the visitors but was retired in the fourth to make room for Bill Whittaker.

Schwenk started the mound work for the Red Sox and was removed in the fourth when the Indians started a tattoo of his offerings and before the end of the game there had been four slab artists up trying to stop the slaughter of Manush's men. The efforts were vain, however, the Indians were there with the hits when his meant runs and the work of none of the local lights was of sufficient class to stop the charge.

Faircloth was meat for the Sox, but when Whittaker went in there was another story to be told. Eight hits were made off the last hurler, but the hits came at times when there was none on the sacks and consequently were of a decidedly harmless nature. Faircloth had allowed only six hits, but there were four runs scored and he was taken out to let Whittaker be used as a pinch hitter.

Lunte was still out of the game and his loss was keenly felt. Not that McGlade did not play the game at short but because Harry was badly needed at third where Meyers was supposed to be playing. The third sacker was to bat three times and on each of the three occasions whiffed at wild ones, not even fouling the pellet. With the four fans of yesterday the new man has whiffed seven successive times. He made the bugs forget about his work of Saturday and last night he was given his release by Hayden.

It would be useless and foolish to try and give an account of the game as the runs came too thick and fast to tell about. The hitting was fast and furious with the locals on the long end with fourteen bingles to their credit. The Keokukians got ten blows.

Fleming, as well as the players, had an off day and missed several strikes and balls. He about evaded things up, however, and consequently there can be little "kick" coming.

Bugs had a chance today to see how the Indians would work with a shift in the infield, one that has been expected for some time. Arthur Hensling was placed at third while McGee, the new man, was worked at short. Giffin held down the middle sack and Abbott got in the game at first.

It is believed this combination will give the tribe a much stronger defense. Giffin already has been tested at second and played that position remarkably well. McGee's regular job is that of doing the shortstopping and he will be more at home in this position than at any other place. Hensling expected to play third when he came here. He believes that he will work better at this place than at any other on the infield.

This new combination was inaugurated today in the game here against the Burlington Red Sox. Whether it will work as successfully as has been hoped will require some time to determine. The player, especially Hensling, must become accustomed to his new job before the best kind of work can be expected from him. McGee and Giffin must become thoroughly acquainted with each others playing methods before they can work to the best advantage at second in taking throws, pulling double plays, and so on.

Abb expected to work the new twirler, Welsh, in tomorrow's game here with the Red Stockings. Fans have been anxious to see the St. Louisian perform since the first game he pitched in which he held the opposing batsmen to no hits for seven innings, and was then forced to retire on account of an injury. "Big Ed" Wahl went on the firing line in today's game against Burlington.

The Burlington team looked as bad if not worse in yesterday's game at Burlington than the Indians did Sunday when they received a drubbing of 12 to 3.

President Justice has allowed Hough's protest in the game against Burlington which Umpire Kennedy called at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness. At the time the game was called it was about 5 p. m. on a fair day, according to the reports. The fact that the score stood something like 13 to 0 against the Pilots should have had nothing to do with calling the game. The disallowed game will bring Burlington below the .500 mark and put Clinton up one notch.

There is lots of talk afoot among Three-I managers and officials about Rock Island becoming a member of the C. A., that city being within the five-mile limit of Davenport, the president of the Davenport club, James T. Hayes, is reported as saying that he does not believe the decision of Farrell, made last spring, is final, but says that it is up to Tierney, president of the Three-I, to take the matter up if there is to be anything done about it. Clarence Rowland, manager of the Peoria team, seems to be much concerned about the matter and says that he has always been in favor of dropping Danville and taking on Rock Island in the league.

The Three-I has had plenty of chances to take in Rock Island if it had wanted to. Instead, the league has chosen to make Rock Island bugs go to Davenport if they wanted to see a game. Ned Egan says that in his opinion there will be no difficulty whatever about going into the island city and his opinion is held by other officials in the association.

Ottumwa papers are advertising two more C. A. games in their city, those to be played today and tomorrow.

Just how it feels to be dropped out of a league is reflected by the rain hope expressed in the papers there that it may be impossible for Egan to get into Rock Island and that he will be compelled to remain at Ottumwa for a little while longer.

Unless Keokuk fans turn out to the meeting tomorrow evening at the superior court room and by their presence and assurances, make the local club officials feel confident that the team will receive continued support in this city it seems inevitable that Keokuk be without baseball in the course of a couple of weeks. The club cannot be maintained here without support of the fans in attending the games as well as the support from the merchants.

Welsh pitches tomorrow. Fans, come out and see the games of the present home series. Make the directors know that you want baseball here.

Johnson watched Smith go through some of his training stunts today and declared he would place $5,000 on the American fighter at even money. Smith has impressed the English with his powerful punch. Those backing Carpentier, however, believe the cleverness of the Frenchman will offset the slugging of the gunner. As Carpentier also carries a stiff punch they expect him to keep away from Smith and wear him down until the time arrives to deliver the K. O.

height of 21,654 feet. Last week Aviator Boehm at Johannisthal shattered the duration record, remaining aloft twenty-four hours.

SENTIMENT FAVORING YOAKUM DEVELOPES

Observers Impressed with Denver Lightweight who Goes Against Charley White Tonight.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] DENVER, Colo., July 14.—Although Charlie White was a two to one favorite in the betting today for his 20 round battle tonight with Stanley Yoakum, a strong sentiment in favor of Yoakum developed today. Observers who have watched the Denver lightweight train have been strongly impressed by his condition. Many predict that even his awkward style of boxing will prove a strong point. It is apparently so awkward as to puzzle a clever boxer of White's type and at the same time it is not so awkward that Yoakum cannot put over a knockout punch with lightning rapidity whenever an opportunity offers. This will be the twelfth
