FUTURE IS BRIGHT FOR LEE ORCHARDS

Ames Experts Say That With Proper Care They Will be Among Most Productive in State.

FIND SOIL EXCELLENT

Spraying and Attacks on Tree Foes Will Serve to Boost Yield From These Orchards.

The Ames orchard experts who visited this section of the state on Saturday, left this morning for Bonaparte where they will visit the Meeks farm, which is quite a famed orchard and one on which many of the scientific experiments in growing have been tried.

That the southeastern part of Iowa has an excellent soil and that the orchards of this vicinity should be in as good shape or better than in the other sections, if proper methods are taken to put them into shape, were opinions expressed by the four experts who made the trip.

Professor Beach wanted it understood that the extension department of the bureau would be glad to send literature or men even to help the growers with their problems, if they would make known their wants in the matter. The work of the extension bureau is at the command of the growers, if they will but make known their problems and wants. Bulletins and the like are proving of much use to orchardists and growers all over the state, and the orchardists in this vicinity will receive these if they will ask for them.

One of the experts with the party said yesterday that southeastern Iowa has felt that it didn't have much to offer in the way of big orchards. However it was said that the section has the basis for as good orchards as can be found anywhere if the growers will only take the proper precautions, and take the necessary measures to war on the foes of the trees.

Considering the manner in which the trees are cared for, or rather the lack of care given them, the experts feel encouraged over what they saw. They believe that if there is proper spraying and pruning, and if the borers and blight are cared for and the trees generally taken care of scientifically, the orchards here will produce excellent yields. The soil is excellent and by applying modern methods, the orchards may easily be built up.

FUNERAL SUNDAY OF J. B. COCHRAN

Veteran of the Civil War, Enlisting in Company A, First Iowa Cavalry.

BORN IN LEE COUNTY

Was the First Principal of Torrence Public School and Served for Several Years.

The remains of John B. Cochran, former resident of Keokuk and a veteran of the civil war, whose death was announced in The Gate City last week, arrived here for burial, and the funeral took place at 10 o'clock Sunday forenoon at the funeral parlors of I. S. Ackley, 1007 Blondeau street, conducted by Rev. J. F. Sanders.

The pallbearers were Messrs. William Wyatt, Ollar, Peter Nelson, Oliver Conn, Curtis Hart and Mr. Pickard, the latter of Charleston.

The burial followed at Oakland cemetery.

Biographical.

J. B. Cochran was born July 30, 1845, and was the first born child of W. J. and Elizabeth Cochran. His birthplace was West Point, this county. While at school at Iowa City, he enlisted in the army at the age of eighteen years, in Company A, First Iowa cavalry and continued his service to the end of the war. After returning home he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He was the first principal of the Torrence school in which capacity he continued for several years. His health failing he went west where he was a conductor on the Union Pacific railroad for a year, then went to California and was a traveling salesman for several years.

At the Torrence school the saber and carbine which he carried during the war are enclosed in a case. Of the company of which he was a member, Company A, there are only seven living, William Wyatt, Peter Nelson, John Wright, Elmer Reed of Montrose, Harry Wilson, Doc. Ollar and Oliver Conn.

The funeral was well attended, including a number of near relatives from out of town, and many comrades who knew him in life and knew him favorably as a brave and faithful soldier and a useful citizen and firm friend.

CITY NEWS.

—Ask for Puritas beer and insist on getting it.

—Automobile parties who were driving in the vicinity of Montrose yesterday report a heavy rain in that section.

—Sarah Jane Long, an old resident of Clark county, near Alexandria, died at her home in Centralia, Washington, last night of heart failure. Funeral will be held Tuesday morning at ten o'clock from her home in Centralia.

—The retail grocers will close Wednesday, July 29, at 11 a. m. on account of excursion to Bluff Park. Patrons are requested to have their orders in not later than 9 a. m.

—Puritas beer should be the beer for Keokuk people. Phone 139.

—Application was made in the district court today by Mrs. Lillian E. Whitney for the appointment of a temporary administrator for the estate of the late Howard Whitney. The time for probating the will was set for the September term of court. Mrs. Whitney was appointed temporary administratrix.

—Dr. G. H. Sumner, secretary of the state board of health, has issued a booklet advising residents of Iowa to wage war on rats to protect the state from the bubonic plague. The state official fears that rats may carry the disease up the river from New Orleans, where the plague has appeared.

—Phone 84 for a case of Laisy beer when you're out.

—Nauvoo Independent: The new Nauvoo steamboat landing has been completed. Mayor Hobbs notified the steamboat lines to that effect, and a letter from Capt. Blair of the White Collar line states that his boats will begin to land there in a few days. The Streckfus line steamboats are expected to land there, too.

—Order today that case of Puritas dark lager or pale beer, Phone 139.

—Arthur L. Barkley of the United States department of justice was in Shenandoah Thursday taking depositions preparatory to starting suit to divorce the Keokuk & Western railway from the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. It is charged that the Keokuk & Western was acquired by the Burlington in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman law.

—Phone 84 for a case of Laisy beer when you're out.

—A reader of The Gate City who is visiting in a northern city missed a few copies of the paper and requested the missing copies be sent. In closing a letter the subscriber took occasion to say that The Gate City for good news beats the papers in the city where she is visiting and that she was proud of the Keokuk product.

—Drink Puritas beer if you want a good, pure and wholesome beverage. Dark lager or pale. Phone 139 for a case today.

—There is positively a water famine in this section of the country, says the Nauvoo Independent. Many farmers are out of water and the watering of stock is a problem. Of course we have the river handy here, and many are hauling water from there, but farther away farmers are up against a hard proposition. Many wells have gone dry. We know of several instances where parties having good wells are selling water to their neighbors.

—A brief conception of the vast number of automobiles now owned throughout this section of Illinois may be obtained by the statement of attendance at the circus in Quincy Monday. The trains into that city which usually haul a circus crowd of 5,000 to 6,000 took in only about 1,100, yet the attendance at both performances of the show was normal. The people got there just the same, but many of them went in their automobiles. Dozens upon dozens of cars passed through Camp Point, show day, enroute to Quincy, and those who were on the road that day say the automobiles were thicker than flies.—Camp Point Journal

—Sunday's Register and Leader contains a two column picture of Frank Nagel, dean of the college of music at Highland Park College. Dean Nagel is a former resident and teacher of this city. He has seen fifteen classes graduate at Highland Park, and the Register and Leader comments on this fact in the following: Fifteen classes have graduated under Dean Nagel since he became a member of the faculty of the college, so next Wednesday evening when the annual alumni banquet will be held there will be present representatives from each of the fifteen classes to do honor to the dean's years of effective service not only in his own department, but on behalf of the college as a whole.

CLOUDS THREATENED BUT NO RAIN FELL

Keokuk Didn't Get Any Relief Yesterday, Although There was Rain at Montrose.

Keokuk almost had a storm yesterday. But Montrose was as far as the rain got before somebody threw the block against it. As a result, Keokuk didn't even get very much cool weather from the Montrose storm, just enough to make last night bearable. Today the city is sweltering again.

The highest temperature yesterday was 98, according to the government instruments. During the afternoon, thunderheads piled up, and there was considerable rumbling and some wind. But this was as far as it got here.

Above Montrose, however, there was considerable rain, about two inches, being reported in that vicinity. Autosist who were coming down the river drive could see a sheet of rain when the sun shone, and rain into rain at Montrose. There was no rain in the city yesterday.

MRS. MARY ROONEY DIED NEAR ARGYLE

Her Death Occurred Unexpectedly, Following a Stroke of Paralysis Sunday Morning.

Mrs. Mary Rooney, a prominent old resident died unexpectedly at her home near Argyle, this county, Sunday evening. Mrs. Rooney was a woman of apparently robust health, not complaining of any ailment, while her husband is delicate and has been for some time.

She was stricken with paralysis Sunday morning and in a few hours, at 8 o'clock Sunday evening her suffering was ended on earth.

She was a woman of wide acquaintance in the vicinity of her home and her unexpected death casts a shadow over the entire community where she was known so long and where she had formed many lasting friendships.

Aviator Killed.
[United Press Leased Wire Service.] PARIS, July 27.—Another name was added today to the long list of those killed in aeroplane accidents when Lieutenant Vallens, of the French army aviation corps, fell from a distance of several hundred feet while maneuvering over the field at Juvisy. The plane crumpled and the officer was planned under the wreckage. He died almost instantly.

MOTORCYCLE AND AUTO COLLIDE IN ACCIDENT

Willis LeFavre, Rider of Motorcycle Thrown to Sidewalk and Received Severe Bruises.

Willis LeFavre, 910 Morgan street, was severely bruised and shaken up when he crashed into an automobile at Fifth and Main streets at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His machine was reduced to a mass of wreckage and the car, owned and driven by Fred G. Glaser, was slightly damaged.

According to witnesses the accident was due to the speed at which LeFavre was riding on his way west on Main street. Glaser was driving his car in the opposite direction on Main street and had started to turn up Fifth street when he saw LeFavre approaching.

Glaser said later that when he saw LeFavre it was too late to stop his machine or to get around the corner before LeFavre would get to him. Believing it would be impossible to avoid an accident of some kind Glaser attempted to make a complete turn on Main street so that LeFavre would strike his car a glancing blow instead of running directly into it.

LeFavre was forced into the gutter just before his machine struck Glaser's car. LeFavre was thrown on the sidewalk and badly bruised. A physician was called and LeFavre removed to his home. No one in the automobile was hurt.

The motorcycle rider this morning said that Mr. Glaser did all he could to avoid the accident, and that his action in turning his car as he did probably saved his life. LeFavre held on to the car when the collision occurred, and this helped in keeping him from serious injury. He does not blame Mr. Glaser for the smash which both men declare to have been unavoidable.

Farm Life Commission. COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS, July 27.

—The Texas farm life commission held its annual meeting here today. The agricultural products of Texas farms are yearly the largest of any state, but home life conditions of the farms are admittedly discouraging and are the cause of the drift of farmers' sons and daughters to the cities. The Texas farm life commission was appointed by Governor Colquitt under an act of the legislature several years ago. The commission's studies of conditions and recommendations for improvement have been a factor in the current agitation for better marketing, cotton warehouses and state aid.
