A resident from Franklin, Iowa, in the city last week, said the visit of the Retailers League and the people of Keokuk generally to the Donnellson fair was a big hit and he felt that The Gate City boosting had considerable to do with the success of the movement, which to his mind will result beneficially to this city. The horse which daily draws Sam Ireland's meat market wagon about the streets, never shies at automobiles, street rollers or flying paper, but when a hand organ grinder began turning out rag time right behind the horse yesterday afternoon, the animal thought war had been declared and took to its heels on Reid street, running several blocks before stopping.
