KINDERGARTEN AT LINCOLN SCHOOL

Will be Opened Next Week in Addition Which Will be Completed When School Opens.

IS SECOND IN SCHOOLS

High School Pupils Will Read Excellent Work on Hygiene Which is in Their Library Now.

With the opening of the kindergarten room in the Lincoln school next week, the second of the kindergartens to be established in the Keokuk schools will be available. The first one in the Wells school proved to be the most successful. It is expected that the new one which will open next week will do as much for the Lincoln district as the one in the Wells did for that district.

Children from four to six years of age will be admitted to the Lincoln kindergarten. Five year olds can go into the primary department if the parents wish, but it has been found in the case of the Wells kindergarten that the five year old who stays another year in the kindergarten is much better fitted for the primary work than is the five year old who has not had kindergarten.

It is to be hoped that the mothers in the Lincoln district will avail themselves of the excellent opportunity offered by the school board to give their children just the sort of training that they need at this age. Their play is directed, and the work they do is of the sort which furnishes a foundation for the work in the future. The kindergarten graduate makes a much better pupil for the other grades it has been demonstrated.

Competent Instructors.

The Lincoln kindergarten will be under competent instructors. The addition to the Lincoln which is being rushed to completion for next week will house the kindergarten room, and the children will be given the best of care and training amidst pleasant and healthful surroundings. The kindergarten will be opened on Tuesday, September 8. The board is opening these kindergartens for the benefit of the children in various districts, and the success of the one in the Wells school, not only in the matter of training the children but in bringing the parents and the schools in closer touch is convincing.

The establishment of the Wells kindergarten has been the means of bringing into close relation with the school the parents of the district. The mothers especially have been brought into the school life and work, and the Wells Kindergarten Mothers club is one of the stable organizations of the city. The same will be true at the Lincoln school.

Useful Subjects Taught.

In the kindergarten the child is taught to work and he is taught to play. He is taught colors and he is shown various shaped beads and then identifies these at another time by their right names. All this work is building a foundation for the work which is to come.

The kindergarten graduate is easily identified in the primary department, the teachers say. For the kindergarten graduate is quick to sense and do what he is told to do. It can easily be seen that he is getting the best out of his work, and taking the least of the teachers' time, which is limited to say the least, when she presides over a roomful of fifty or more.

There seems little doubt but that the Lincoln kindergarten will be one of the most attractive features of the school and the parents will doubtless be quick to see the advantage of this to their children and to see that they are given this training which is so conveniently provided.

Hygiene in High School.

Principal R. L. Reid will introduce something novel and worth while into the high school work this year. Copies of a volume entitled "Hygiene for the Worker," have been secured, and Dr. Reid plans to have each class spend a required length of time in reading this work.

The volume is most complete, covering every phase of the hygiene question which is likely to arise. Hygiene in the laboratory, class room and at home is discussed and it is Dr. Reid's idea to thus instill into the pupils a better standard along this line.

An Idea.

Of Interest To Women

Nowadays we accept the club federations as a matter of course without thinking very much of how they came into existence. The first federation came about in this way: In 1890 Sorosis in New York became of age and had a birthday party. They invited every woman's club that could be located—ninety-seven in all. The party was held in New York, and many of the clubs sent representatives. Before the session closed some one suggested a federation, and those present banded themselves together to work "for the cause of womanhood throughout the world." Today there are in the federation six thousand clubs, with over a million members.

Perhaps no other word is more overworked by women or in speaking of women than the word "charm." It is greatly abused in its use because few people really possess it. In a current magazine the late Frederic Townsend Martin, a man known in society in many lands, has this to say about it, and he seems to have pretty clearly defined the quality "charm." "It is a combination of culture and religion. Wherever it is found it is the greatest social force known in society. The possessor of it may be comparatively poor in worldly goods, may not be the intellectual peer of those around her, but nevertheless she possesses the greatest possible social force. Charm is the fruition of a really unselfish, loving character. It is a flower that does not require a hot house; it can be grown in a humble abode as easily as in a palace. On the bosom of a village maiden if she be well born it reposes as exquisitely as on the corsage of a queen. Perhaps that is why we leave no spot unexplored in our wistful search for it."

Do you know the name of the man and the woman who discovered anaesthesia and took away the horror of surgery and indeed made possible many surgical operations which were quite impossible without anaesthetics? It was Dr. and Mrs. William T. G. Morton of Boston. They experimented with ether on animals and convinced themselves of its safety and its annihilation of pain. To make certain its use Mrs. Morton gave it to her husband and when he was under its influence thrust a pin into his leg and ran her finger across his eyeball. He did not wince and she knew he was unconscious and feared that he might not regain consciousness, but that the absolute insensibility to pain meant death. When he came out from the influence, they knew that they had conquered pain.

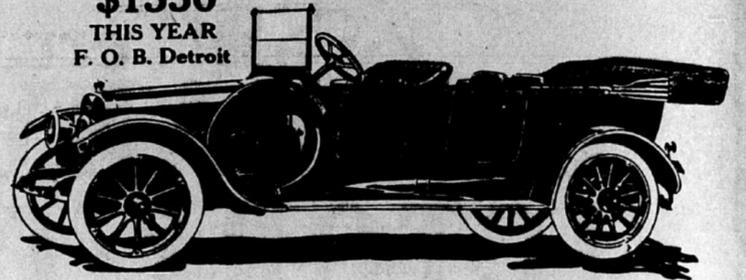

Professor Adrian on his Burbank lecture tells this remarkable story of the finding of the first seed from which timothy is raised. A man years and years ago in New England, went duck hunting. He tramped all day, but didn't succeed in shooting a single bird. On his way home, a flock of ducks flew high above his head and he took a shot at them and winged one which he carried home. In its craw was found a spear of grass with seed on it, the like of which he had never seen. He planted it in the garden and saved the seed the next season and from that strange source came timothy. Scientists have not been able to discover whence it came or in what land that bird had picked up the strange new seed. The hunter's surname was Timothy, hence the name of the grass.

Ten thousand women gathered one day last week in Denver to pray for peace and adopted a resolution which they sent to President Wilson expressing appreciation of his peace proclamation and of his attitude regarding war. The convocation of women included every creed and sect and reflected the attitude of American women as a whole on the blessings of peace and arbitration.

The young woman will read with appreciation this advice which Bob Burdette once gave to a young man who said he wanted to marry a girl with domestic tastes. "You say that you demand a domestic, useful woman as your wife. If that's the case, marry Nora Mulligan, your laundress' daughter. She never had a sick day in her life, takes in washing and goes out house cleaning and cooks for a family of seven children, and her mother and three section men who board with her. I don't think she would marry you, because Con Regan the track walker, is her style of man. Let us just examine your qualifications as a model husband after your own matrimonial ideas, my boy. Can you shoulder a barrel of flour and carry it down cellar? Can you spade up a half acre of ground for a kitchen garden? Do you know what will take the lime taste out of the new cistern? And can you patch the little leak in the kitchen room? Can you bring home a pane of glass and a wad of putty and repair damages in the sitting room window? Can you fix the front gate so it won't sag? Can you do anything about the house that Con Regan can't? My dear, dear boy, you see Nora Mulligan wants a higher type of manhood. Believe me, my son that nine-tenths of the girls who play the piano and sing so charmingly, whom you have thought mere butterflies, are better fitted for wives

HUDSON Six-40 1915 Model

$1550 THIS YEAR F. O. B. Detroit

48 Experts—48 Months

Four years ago, Howard E. Coffin, the great HUDSON designer, started to build this ideal Six.

The whole HUDSON corps of 47 engineers worked with him. For 48 months these 48 experts have given their best to this car.

This is their finished product. Since last year's model these men have added 31 new features. Now every detail shows their conception of the model modern car.

No Waste

Their chief aim has been to eliminate excesses—to wipe out over-tax.

Here is modest size, yet there's ample room for seven.

Here is modest power—47 horsepower; yet no man has use for more.

Here is one of the sturdiest cars ever built, yet it weighs 2,890 pounds. Former cars of this capacity weighed 4,000 pounds or more.

And here is a new-type motor which saves about 30 per cent in fuel.

Tire cost, upkeep and operative cost have been reduced to the farthest limit for a car of this capacity.

Means New Zest

All these new things mean new zest in motoring. And there are many others. There are new beauties, new comforts, new conveniences. There are scores of modern attractions. Every part and detail will interest you because of its apparent perfection.

A New-Day Price

This new HUDSON also marks the end of over-price. No quality car has ever before sold anywhere near so low.

When a car like this sells for $1,550 it means that prices must be revised.

All these things invite you to come and see this car. Compare it with cars of two years ago. Compare it with cars of today.

We promise you an interesting hour when you come to inspect this car.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm.

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. BERNSTORFF'S REPLY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Declaring that the statement of Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, was based on wrong premise and calling it merely another effort to deceive the American people, Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, today gave the United Press the following reply to Churchill:

"Mr. Churchill, who is largely responsible for the war and who is known to have proposed an attack on the German fleet before the war had begun, is certainly not a fair authority in the case. Mr. Churchill's appeal to the American people is based on the entirely wrong assumption of a separation between the emperor and the so-called military aristocracy of Germany on the one hand, and the German people on the other.

"This assumption is entirely wrong. It is proved so by the fact that the German socialist democrats voted the credits in parliament for war and the leader of the German socialist democrats arose in parliament and said:

"We have always been against war, but since our country has been attacked by the worst autocrat the world knows, we stand with one mind with all the rest of the German people."

"In striking contrast to this attitude of the German socialists, the leader of the independent labor party in England (Kier Hardie) arose in parliament and said that the British government had not done all that it might have done to prevent war."

Referring to a phrase in the Churchill statement implying superior democracy and civilization of England over Germany, the ambassador said: "I cannot understand how the coalition which has been formed to attack us can complain about the German methods of warfare after they have drawn oriental races into the European struggle and after they have colored and Indian troops to fight their European battles."

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 120 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief." writes E. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.
