

PRIZE OFFERED FOR IOWA POSTER

Prize for the Best Advertising Drawing Has Been Authorized by the Greater Iowa Association.

OCTOBER 17 IS THE LIMIT

New Spirit in State Must be Symbolized in Poster Which Can Be Used for Advertising.

CLINTON, Iowa, Sept. 30.—Who wants $50 for drawing a poster design to be used in advertising Iowa? The Greater Iowa association, in order to properly advertise this greater Iowa week which is to be held throughout the state November 16th to 22nd, inclusive, wants a poster, something striking and attractive, something that will make people stop and not only look at the drawing but read what the poster says about greater Iowa week.

In order that the artist sending in the best design will be fairly well compensated the association offers the prize of $50 in gold. Designs may be submitted on ordinary drawing paper but must not be folded. They may be made in black and white or in two or three contrasting colors.

To Explain Greater Iowa Plan.

The idea which the association wishes conveyed in the poster is the spirit of the greater Iowa plan. The posters will be used not only to advertise greater Iowa week but will be revised a little if necessary, and used in some of the general publicity which the association contemplates sending all over this country and possibly abroad.

All designs must be in the hands of the secretary of the greater Iowa association at Clinton not later than October 17th and the jury of award will be composed of the three officers of the association contemplates sending Marsh of Waterloo, Judge Horace E. Deemer of Red Oak, and Woodworth Cium of Clinton.

Should there be several other designs, which in the opinion of the jurors are meritorious, the association agrees to pay for the use of such as do not win with the capital prize.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, prescribed me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

POWER HOUSE OPEN ON OCTOBER SUNDAYS

Company Decides to Keep Plant Open to Public Every Sunday During October.

The water power works in the Mississippi river here will be thrown open to the public on every Sunday in October, it was announced today by the company. The gates will be open from nine to four o'clock, and visitors will go over the same route through the works that visitors with passes on week days see. Children under sixteen are never admitted, however.

Open Sundays in September brought thousands of visitors to the water power, the number last Sunday being 2,000 and almost as many on previous Sundays in the last month. They come in automobiles, chiefly, and many travel hundreds of miles to see

Constipation a Penalty of Age

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as keeping the bowels open. It makes one feel younger and fresher and forestalls colds, piles, fever, and other dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative-remedy, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is the combination of simple herbs with pepsin sold by druggists everywhere under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The price is fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 461 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

GREATEST GUNS IN THE WORLD

German Cannon Which Were Used at Liege, Are Monsters of Destruction.

[By Ed L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.]

LONDON, Sept. 15 (By mail to New York).—The terrible destruction wrought by the great siege guns of the German army has been one of the astounding features of the great war now raging across the English channel. It was at Liege that these terrible weapons got their first real use and there they proved their effectiveness in reducing fortresses to submission.

Ordinary army gunners—men who have seen years of service handling ordinary siege guns and cannons of all kinds—cannot handle the new product of the Krupp factory. Special men trained from the Krupp factory—experts who have been specially trained in the use of the great siege guns—go with every one of the great siege guns sent to the front.

Albert J. Leroy, an Englishman who was present when the bombardment of Liege started, has returned to London and tells some very interesting facts concerning the fall of the forts of that city.

He saw one shell fall in the town. It blew a large house to pieces. Three forts gave in within a week after the first shots were fired. Three forts still held out and the Germans were forced to bring their great siege guns through the town.

To do this they built a special railroad to run the guns over. The guns were moved on flanged wheels about seven feet high.

"As a sailor I have been all around the world," said Leroy, "and never have I seen such large guns as these were. To silence the forts with these guns took only two hours. For one of the forts only four shots were required.

"I saw some of the wounded taken from these forts. Their condition was terrible. They were blackened by explosions and so burned and injured that they died the same night.

"One thing that I especially wish to state and that is that I saw the Germans fire on the Red Cross. I saw Red Cross wounded and dead.

"The Germans took their wounded from the Belgian Red Cross on the plea that they were not being well treated. This despite the fact that the chief medical officer had taken wounded German officers to his home to insure their being well taken care of.

"The last forts were silenced about fourteen days after the bombardment first started.

"I was arrested as an English spy and imprisoned for six days in a room at the railway station. By the soldiers I was treated very badly. They kicked me if I dared to move after they had told me to lie down on the straw and sleep.

"They hit me with the butts of their guns several times. All I had to eat was bread and soup. Finally I was released and went to Liege, out of which I escaped by securing under a false name a pass to go to Maastricht and buy some food. The journey to Holland took me six hours on foot."

Managers of the Belgian powder factories refused to work their places for the Germans even in the face of being threatened with death, Leroy declared. He said the members of the firm that built the defenses of Antwerp also were threatened with death if they did not give up the plans of that city. They refused to do so, he said.

Both they and the powder manufacturers were spared, however, the Germans not carrying out their threats.

Belgian unemployed were offered double ordinary wages to work in the powder factories and to build trenches, he said. They were not tempted by the offers, however, refusing to do the Germans' bidding.

The Germans had a great number injured in the fighting near Liege, Leroy said, as every night he could hear wagons by the score passing through the streets, loaded with German wounded. They were being taken back of their own lines to field hospitals for treatment.

Leroy confirmed the report that the Germans placed Belgians in front of the soldiers to prevent Belgian aviators from dropping bombs on them. These aviators dropped leaflets in the forts, urging them to hold out, saying that the allies would soon appear. Only German money is used in Liege and only German is spoken there, Leroy asserted.

Random Sketches

Suffragists Rejoice. The suffragists of Iowa will be somewhat elated over the news which has come from war-ridden Europe, over the disposition of her vast fortune by the will of the late Baroness De Bazus, Mrs. Frank Leslie, a woman of much prominence in this country. Another fact adding to the bequest is that a former Iowa woman, Mrs. Caroline Lane Chapman Catt, is named as the arbiter of distribution.

Mrs. Frank Leslie.

Baroness De Bazus was before entering her career as a matron, Marion Florence Follin. She was born in the old French quarter of New Orleans and was of Huguenot descent. She was educated in literature and the classics and spoke Italian, French and Spanish. She was married first to E. G. Squier, afterward United States minister to Peru, but separated from him and married Frank Leslie. After the death of her second husband, she was married to William C. K. White and divorced him.

The title of baroness, it is said she took, she claimed, because she did not approve of the policy of the publications which bear the Leslie name and did not wish to be identified with them. Her aunt, she asserted, transmitted the title to her. After the death of Mr. Leslie she assumed charge of his business, and, it is claimed, paid off his debts of more than $50,000, and added to the fame of the Leslie Publishing company.

Mrs. Catt declared in New York when questioned on the subject, her only definite understanding regarding the funds was that Mrs. Leslie did not provide in her will that the money to be used for the promotion of the woman's suffrage as Mrs. Catt's judgment should direct, it was said. How or where the money will be used, Mrs. Catt will not attempt to decide until the will is submitted to probate.

Carrie Chapman Catt.

Carrie Lane Chapman Catt is a native of Wisconsin, where she was born, and came with her parents to Floyd county, Iowa, when she was seven years of age. Her maiden name was Carrie Lane and her early education was acquired in the public schools of Charles City. She taught several terms and was elected principal of the high school of Mason City. Miss Lane pursued her studies for some time at the Agricultural college. Later she was chosen superintendent of the public schools of Mason City, serving two years, when she married Leo Chapman, editor of the Republican. She became a partner in the establishment, and associate editor of the paper. A few years later they removed to San Francisco, Calif., where Mr. Chapman died. Mrs. Chapman then secured a position on one of the city papers and is said to have been the first woman editor in San Francisco.

While there, it is said, she became deeply impressed with the wrongs of working women and gave lectures on "Woman's Rights and Wrongs." She soon became deeply interested in woman's suffrage and the advancement and social betterment of women. In 1891 she was married to George W. Catt. She had become one of the most prominent advocates of the suffrage reform and when the office of national organizer was created in 1893, Mrs. Catt was chosen to that position. She soon acquired national fame as one of the most eloquent and successful advocates of the suffrage movement. When the venerable president of the national association, Susan B. Anthony retired, Mrs. Catt was by common consent, chosen to succeed her, when she located in the city of New York.

Value of the Legacy.

It is certain that the fund thus devised will reach a large amount, but the exact sum cannot now be determined. Mrs. T. H. Wrenn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a niece of Mrs. Leslie, said she believed $2,000,000 to be a fair estimate of the estate. She refused to comment on her willingness to forego her share of the money in order to help gain votes for women. This kind of questioning would lead to the inference that there might be a contest for the fortune between the near relatives of Mrs. Leslie and the suffragists. But whether there is any foundation for this inference, remains for the future to solve. There is always something of large import happening in this land of plenty, and Iowa comes into the limelight with the prominence of a former talented resident of the state, whose fame began here.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

Children are nervous because they inherit a tendency to nervousness, because they overstudy or overwork or because they are run down physically.

Whatever the cause, nervous children need careful management. Scolding does no good and most forms of punishment are harmful. See that the patient does not overwork or overstudy, give good nourishing food, sufficient outdoor exercise and a safe, non-alcoholic tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the tonic for such cases, harmless, sugar-coated and easy to take. As the tonic treatment builds up the child's nervous strength there will be less demands on your temper, less adaptation to scold. When nervous children get in "tantrums" put them to bed, whatever the hour of the day. If the paroxysm continues, give the child a warm bath and return it to bed. And persist in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the nourishing food and the exercise. It is surprising how many nervous disorders are corrected by building up the blood. Even St. Vitus' dance will yield if you are faithful.

A book on Nervous Disorders will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper. Your druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

ELVASTON, ILL.

On Tuesday, September 22 the many friends of Rev. C. S. McKinney, pastor of the Baptist church, but who recently resigned to take up pastorate work at Colchester, Ill., met en masse at the parsonage with well-filled baskets for a farewell dinner, in token of the high esteem which they held for him. Promptly at twelve o'clock dinner was served, fifty-eight being present to partake of the dinner. After dinner was served, the company repaired to the church where an informal service was held. First a song service, opened with prayer by Rev. H. L. Todd of the Presbyterian church, followed by Rev. Enlow who spoke of the relationship and kind feeling of the entire population of Elvaston for Rev. McKinney. After quite a lengthy talk, the resignation petition was read and adopted: "Rev. C. S. McKinney, pastor of the First Baptist church: Having heard of your intention of moving to another field of religious endeavor, we are presenting you with this testimonial of the fact that we consider you a clean, honest, honorable man, a thoroughly desirable citizen and a representative of the highest type of christianity. We wish you and will expect you to 'make good', and will always think of you as one of God's gentlemen." This petition was signed by about forty of the prominent citizens of Elvaston. Rev. McKinney responded with words of kindest regard for the people of Elvaston and spoke of his reluctance in leaving and remarked that considering all the good feelings and hopes he had cherished for Elvaston and for the good that might be done, he almost felt like returning his books to the shelves and remaining here. Then while singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," a hearty hand shake and christian farewell greeting was extended to Rev. McKinney.

C. N. Martin had the misfortune of losing a good milch cow by having her tied to a tree. In some way she became entangled in the rope and broke her neck.

This morning as the Martin boys were going to Wm. Miller's to press hay, the wagon tongue fell from the neck yoke and the team began to run. The boys jumped from the wagon and in the fall, Mr. Isaac Cox had a gash cut on the side of his face which required several stitches. He is suffering greatly from it.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder Irritation or Back-ache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Effect of One Bottle.

Crandall, Tex.—"After my last spell of sickness," writes Mrs. Belle Teal, of this city, "I remained very ill, and stayed in bed for eight weeks. I couldn't get up, all this time, and though my doctor came to see me every day, he didn't do any good. I had taken but one bottle of Cardui, when I was up, going everywhere, and soon I was doing all my housework." Cardui helps when other medicines have failed, because it contains ingredients not found in any other medicine.
