WHO WILL WIN WORLDS SERIES?

Question is One of Superiority of Heavy Artillery Over Speed and Cunning in the Box.

BARRY WATCHES BRAVES

Mackman Scout Watches Braves Overwhelm the Giants in Two Games—Much to Learn.

[By Hal Sheridan, written for the United Press.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—As the old dope begins to assemble, it is evident that one question so vigorously pronounced a year ago—whether heavy artillery will overwhelm speed and cunning in the box—is again to come forth with a demand that an answer be given.

The Mackian 42 centimeter guns are ready to be mounted for the siege opening in Philadelphia a week from tomorrow. Rudolph, James and Tyler, who have blazed through the National league turning back batsmen at every start, will be exposed to the fire before which Matty, Tesreau, Marquard—and going further back—Overall and Brown—have withered and been forced to retreat.

Boston's Pitchers Best.

Boston's pitchers hold the strategic point of the battle line. Should they break or crumble before the hostile fire, an enveloping movement that would speedily cut off all lines of communication and strings to the sixty percent end of the world's series dough bag, might be expected to develop.

In their appearance here against the Giants yesterday, the habit of winning stuck all over Stallings's men. Mathewson and Tesreau were chased from the mound and a collection of 14 runs and 22 hits may not be considered a bad afternoon's work even though it was directed against a team in full retreat.

Barry, of the Athletics, was in the grand stand looking over the Brave attack. If he was making any mental notes of what they hit and didn't hit, however, he will have to spend another afternoon inspecting Connolly's methods. Seven out of his nine trips to the plate the only things that Connolly didn't hit were those clear out of reach and his swats included a home run, triple, double and four singles.

Mack's Kids Turn in Win.

The Athletics are four games away from the century mark of wins. A team of youngsters sent out to do battle by Mack against the Senators stuck to it until they turned in a victory in a ten inning set.

Alexander struck a world he could not conquer when his team mates pulled three errors behind him and Jeff Pfeffer got away with the long end of a 2 to 1 score for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Phillies' only run was on a circuit drive by Becker. Alexander and Pfeffer each allowed only four hits. Victory put Brooklyn at the head of the second division.

A home run by Miller scored the only tally the Cards could put over on Cooper, but with Bill Doak holding the Pirates to three hits, it was enough to win and St. Louis is now within two games of the Giants in their scramble for second place.

BEAR STORIES COME FROM QUINCY HIGH

Reports Say Four of Team on Hospital List—Have Little Hope of Winning.

A Quincy paper says: When the high school foot ball team lined up against the Keokuk high school eleven in Keokuk Saturday afternoon, the boys from Quincy will present a patched up line-up against the lads of the Dam city. Captain Grieser, Meador and Rudy are all on the hospital list, and Sinnock will be out of the line-up because of deficiencies in his studies.

Last night's practice was disastrous to Quincy's chances in the season's opening game. Meador, at end, broke his right collar bone; Rudy broke the index finger of his right hand and sprained the second finger, and Grieser wrenched his back. Accordingly the spirits of the students have taken a sudden drop.

However, the boys are going up to Keokuk, determined to put up a game fight against the Dam Site lads, and if pluck has anything to do with the score the count won't be so very lopsided after all.

Federals May Decorate Gilmore With the Ancient Order of the Tin Can

Powers of O. B. Will Not Admit Feds With Gilmore on the Throne.

By Hal Sheridan [Written for the United Press.] NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Will this winter see the end of the baseball war? Many men high in baseball—men close to the ones who dictate in both the American and National leagues—say that it will.

Just how the windup of this conflict will be brought about, though, is a much mooted question. Out of the many opinions advanced by the ones supposed to know, one fact stands out very prominently. That is that when the time for settlement comes—when organized baseball opens its arms and takes the young Federal league into them with a kiss of forgiveness—a person by the name of James Gilmore won't be among those present.

Gilmore is in Bad. This Gilmore person who has really made the Federal league, has incurred the everlasting enmity of the powers that be in the organized baseball fold. These persons have made it emphatically plain that if they ever do consent to a peace parley with the Federals that Gilmore will not be admitted to it. And their one demand that they insist upon to the end—the bitter end—will be the elimination of Gilmore from the spotlight.

To one in the bleachers this doesn't look very good. If the Federal league club owners stand for this they won't be showing much of a sportsmanlike spirit. And, judging by past performances, they are liable to give Gilmore the gate if by so doing they can land in the select circle themselves.

How Feds Treated Powers.

To illustrate, we will recite the case of one James Powers—the real father of the Federal league. He has dropped out of sight completely, it seems, and still it was only by his diligent work that the league really opened its first season. And he was handed his passports before the end of that season.

Germ of Third Major League.

Powers long had had the "bug" of organizing a third major league. His maiden effort in that line was pulled in 1912, when he tried to put the Columbian league over. That lasted in a way—almost a season. It was a very sorry spectacle while it lasted as an imitation of a major league but it served one purpose—it implanted the germ of a third major league in the minds of several wealthy men.

The next year found Powers on the job again and by that time he had lined up a representative set of men as backers. At Indianapolis, in the spring of 1913, Powers put through the organization of the Federal baseball league of the United States. That was the birth of the Federal league of today.

What's Coming to Gilmore?

This has all been recited just to show what Powers did for the Federal league. We told you what the Federal league did to Powers—lost him in the shuffle. And now we wonder will they do Jim Gilmore the same way if organized baseball insists upon it as one of the terms of settlement? The Federal league will have to effect some kind of a settlement if it hopes to stay out of the bankruptcy courts. The main reason for this is that the league is carrying enough ball players—or men and boys posing as such—to supply three or four leagues.

Dodging Bankruptcy Court.

Not having any minor Federal league, where it can send players that it doesn't need, the Federal league has to keep on its payroll all youngsters who fall to make good or old timers who are slipping. The reason they don't dare to let any of these go outright is plain. If they had they would scare away stars whom they hope to lure from the American and National leagues. These athletes wouldn't hop to the Feds if they feared they would be set free with nowhere to go if they started to go badly.

Each team in the Fed league has from thirty to forty players. As twenty-five is the maximum carried by any club during its regular playing season it can be seen easily that the Feds are totting an enormous expense account.

The Feds have taken in at the gate enough money to break even under ordinary conditions. But with the added expense of a vast number of players not needed, the league probably will have a good sized deficit as a whole.

GEORGE W. MAXWELL well-known trapshooter. "I find relaxation and complete enjoyment in Tuxedo. It's a nerve stealer and a sure fire, slow burning tobacco. Easily my favorite."

TOM A. MARSHALL famous trapshooter. "Tuxedo tobacco is unquestionably the acme of perfection; smoking Tuxedo makes life better worth living."

FRED GILBERT the celebrated trapshooter. "The coolest, most fragrant, most pleasant tobacco in my experience—Tuxedo. Leads in mildness and purity."

Quick on the Trigger With a Snap-Shot Eye

THE crack trapshooter has to be a man with steady nerves and muscles absolutely under control—always ready, at the sudden jerk of a string to swing his gun into place and bring down his clay pigeon. This means trained, not to the minute, but to the split-second. He takes no chances with his nerves.

We present the names of some of these crack shots who smoke Tuxedo. They like to smoke; but they take no chances on a tobacco that might "throw them off."

Tuxedo The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

is purposely made to give you all the benefits of the highest grade smoke. It is made from the very finest tobacco Kentucky grows—ripe, mellow, sweet and mild old Burley, aged right up to perfection-day. Then treated by the original "Tuxedo Process," which takes out the sting, makes Tuxedo smoke cool and slow, and guarantees that it cannot bite your tongue.

Tuxedo has had many imitators; none has ever equalled it in sheer quality and smoking-value.

Conditional Contraband.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Although official announcement was withheld today of this government's attitude regarding Great Britain's notification that "conditional contraband of war commodities destined to her enemies are subject to seizure," it was understood that each case of seizure would be treated as a separate and distinct problem for consideration. Admiralty courts will probably be the tribunal of adjustment following diplomatic exchanges. The first case now before the department was the seizure of American copper consigned to Germany. Great Britain seized it, contending it was designed for use in the manufacture of torpedoes and was therefore "conditional" contraband. It also announced that American shippers will be fully paid for the copper.
