INDIAN SUMMER. There came a darkness on the autumn hills

That suddenly hid the glory of the leaves, The rich, high tapestries of the earth's room,

Hung by a mad magician in the night. Hushed rains descended, and a veil of mist

Shut from my eyes the crimson and the gold, Imperial purple and embroidered red That wrapped the walls of God.

Beauty was lost To one who craved it in that solemn time, The sad year's long, slow marching afternoon.

Then lo, I saw a lamp at the valley's door, And a young girl with summer's vanished smile

Passed down the shining corridors, and blazed With suns miraculous the veatured hills.

I followed her, strange ghost of the lost June, Until the kingly pomp of autumn fell in tragic ruin up and down the world.

—Charles Hanson Towne.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY. The sweet, calm sunshine of October now

Warms the low spot; upon its grassy mold The purple oak leaf falls; and the birchen bough

Drops its bright spoil like arrow heads of gold.

—William Cullen Bryant.

SUMNER ASKS LAW FOR BIRTH RECORDS

Secretary of State Board of Health Will Make This Recommendation in Report.

A new state law governing the collection of vital statistics in Iowa will be recommended by Dr. G. H. Sumner, secretary of the state board of health, in his biennial report which is now being prepared. The secretary stated that repeated reminders to the assessors and undertakers throughout the state who are supposed to report births and deaths to the board have failed to have the desired result.

Complete records are absolutely necessary for the accurate study of disease and in the settlement of all questions involving heredity, legitimacy, property rights and identity according to the health official. "It is possible now in Iowa," said he, "for a child to be born and live a year or perhaps move out of the state without any official record of its birth. There is no way to compel physicians to report births."

The new law which Dr. Sumner is anxious to see enacted is based upon the model bill indorsed by the census department of the United States.

It provides that each city, incorporated town and township shall constitute a registration district which shall be in charge of a registrar; that birth certificates shall be filed with the registrar within ten days after every birth, giving full information regarding the child and its parentage and that no dead body shall be disposed of in any way without a permit from the registrar. The enforcement of the law is left to the state board of health.

FRANK MOORHEAD ON IOWA ARTISTS

Prominent Editor and Writer Contributes Feature Story on Product of State, Sometimes Forgotten.

MANY NAMES IN LISTS. Cartoonists and Illustrators From Hawkeye Domain Are Not Hard to Find When One Tries.

Frank G. Moorhead, the talented son of Mayor Moorhead has contributed a feature story to the Register and Leader on the Iowa artists, whose work will be shown at the homecoming this week of the Iowa authors. The catalogue of Iowa artists contains the names of many whose works were to be found in the magazines and newspapers.

Mr. Moorhead's story in part is here reproduced:

The state which leads the nation in hogs, oats and corn is going to have a homecoming of its writers and artists.

The parlors of the Chamberlain hotel this week will contain several scores of original paintings in oil and water colors, newspaper sketches, cartoons and caricatures drawn by men and women whose names are notable in the art world. It is a fact, all too long forgotten or ignored, that Iowa has produced many of the best and most popular artists of the present day. Iowa has been so busy talking about corn and oats, hay and hogs, it has forgotten all about its crop of artists and illustrators. The crop has been notable and well worth talking about, too.

It might not be amiss in this connection to run over the list of Iowa-born and Iowa-produced artists whose work will be found in this collection.

"Bartholomew, Charles L. (Bart), cartoonist; b. Charlton, Ia., Feb. 10, 1869; s. Col. O. A. and Mary (Smith) B.; B. S., Ia. State Coll., Ames, 1888; m. Ella L. Henderson of Monticello, Ia., June 17, 1890. Reporter on editorial staff and cartoonist on Minneapolis papers from 1888; now cartoonist Minneapolis Journal.

"Sheldon, Charles Mills, artist, corr.; b. at Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 24, 1866; s. George and Jeannette (Mills) S.; pub. sch. ed.; studied in Paris, under Constant and Lefebvre, at Acad. Julien, 1890-1; m. Grace Garland Fitch of Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 26, 1896. Traveled in southern states, illustrating articles for Associated Press, 1889; illustrator on Pall Mall Budget, 1892-5; artist and corr. Black and White, London, in S. Africa during time of Jameson raid, and through Dongola exped., Sudan, 1896; artist corr. Frank Leslie's and Black and White in Cuba, 1898; artist and corr. to opening of Assouan Barrage and Delhi durbar, 1903.

"Wing, Francis Marion, newspaper artist; b. Elmwood, Ill., July 24, 1873; s. Clifton Leonard and Eliza Maria (Tucker) W.; ed. Elmwood High Sch. and Grinnell (Ia.) coll.; m. Mina J. Morton of Elmwood, Oct. 12, 1904. Short terms of service with Peoria (Ill.) and Kansas City (Mo.) papers; with Minneapolis Journal doing cartoons and caricatures, 1900."

Another artist whose work will undoubtedly attract much attention this week is William Grefe, now a resident of New York, but who still claims Des Moines as the old home place, having lived here for a number of years. Mr. Grefe's illustrations for popular stories in the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal and other equally high grade periodicals have made him justly popular.

Mr. Grefe has an artistic style of his own that is popular with editors and readers alike. He is looked upon as one of the most promising men in the country and will send a number of his best specimens to show the home folks what he is doing.

Included in the coterie of brilliant art workers whom Iowa has given to the world are a number of Des Moines boys. Prominent in the list are P. J. Monahan, better known as "Pat" Monahan, Frank Moser, formerly of the Register and Leader, and Carl Rawson, layout artist and caricaturist of the Minneapolis Tribune, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Rawson, one of the rising young artists of the middle west. Mr. Rawson will exhibit his work this week and will be present at the homecoming to enjoy the hospitality of the old home town and the companionship of congenial workers.

Other artists who have either gone out from the home state to a larger field and fame or still remain here and are working loyally and efficiently to raise the standard of art in the home state are: Louise Orwig, now of Philadelphia, who is already in the city for homecoming week; Ellsworth Young of Chicago, a nephew of Senator Lafe Young and a popular comic artist; Harriet Macy of Des Moines, illustrator of Emille Blackmore Stapp's popular juvenile books; Isabel Hunt of Des Moines, Robert Graham of New York, W. R. Davenport of San Francisco, Miss Uhlman of Des Moines and Katherine Macartney, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Macartney of the Victoria hotel. The best work of many of those included in this list will be exhibited this week, adding to the attractiveness and artistic merit of the art display.

The list is a notable one, incomplete, however, without Jay N. Darling, our own inimitable "Ding," whose daily cartoons in the Register and Leader have made his name a household word throughout the entire state. Mr. Darling will not only have charge of the exhibit of his brother artists; he will also exhibit some of the best specimens of his own work.

Person is Acquitted. (United Press Leased Wire Service.) CLANTON, Ill., Oct. 5.—Acquitted of the murder of Antone Musser, former chief of police and Illinois Central strike breaker, Carl E. Person, returned here today and announced that he will resume editorial management of the Strike Bulletin, issued as the organ of the union men. "I have the indictments for libel in the federal and state courts to meet," said Person, "but they cannot convict me. The fight to crush organized labor is doomed." Twenty-two ballots were taken by the jury which deliberated twenty-three hours and reported yesterday afternoon. The first ballot stood 9 to 3 for acquittal.

The white floating cake is on friendly terms with the little folks from their earliest days.

This liking of the youngsters for Ivory Soap is the most convincing proof of its quality and purity. For, while the youthful minds Washing won't rid head of dandruff. Dissolve it, that's the best way.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do it by all means get rid of dandruff; for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.
