

BLOODY CLOTHES SHOWN TO JURY

Suit Which Ray Pfanschmidt is Said to Have Worn Creates Sensation in Macomb Court Room.

HOW THEY WERE FOUND

Witnesses Tell of Getting Them From Vault, and Also of Blood Tests Being Made.

MACOMB, Ill., Oct. 15.—Once more have Ray Pfanschmidt's bloody clothes—by all odds the most damaging of all the evidence against the defendant—been exhibited to a jury which will render a verdict as to his guilt or innocence of one of the worst crimes ever committed in this country.

These clothes are admitted by the attorneys for the defendant to be those of Ray Pfanschmidt. The difference between the position of the state and the defense is as to the manner in which the blood spots came on the clothes and the manner in which they found their place in the vault. The position of the state naturally is that Ray Pfanschmidt himself put the bloody clothes in the vault in order to hide his crime. The position of the defense is that some one—no names are mentioned—"planted" the clothes, got them from Ray Pfanschmidt's tent, put the blood on them and then hid them where they were found by workmen who were tearing down the shelter house to the vault.

Crowds Are Interested.

The clothes this morning created as much excitement in Macomb as they did on their first introduction in the case in Quincy. The court room was crowded to the doors, and as the telltale clothes were exhibited to the jury, people rose in all sections of the room in order to get a better view of the greswome khaki suit. Sheriff McKee was compelled to rap for order and to demand that all persons be seated during the entire trial.

The clothes which were shown to the jury today consisted of a khaki coat, khaki trousers, a shirt of the same color but of different material, and a purple and red necktie. The evidence in regard to these clothes was given, as on the former trial, by Clark Hubbard, the workman who found them, and Sheriff Joe Lipps, who has had them in charge and who had them examined by the experts of the University of Chicago and University of Illinois.

Clark Hubbard Tells Story.

Clark Hubbard was called to the stand and testified that he lived two blocks outside the city limits of Quincy. He told of Ray Pfanschmidt working in September of 1912, at Twelfth and Cedar Creek. There were two tents where Ray was working, in one of which witness said he under-

A Message To Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Wilkinson & Co., and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.

stood Ray slept. Witness worked for Joe Frese. The witness started to work on a Monday a week following the Pfanschmidt fire, moving an out-house on the Frese place. He discovered a suit of clothes.

Sheriff Joe Lipps, on being called to the stand, testified as to finding the clothing previously described in a vault back of Joe Frese's place in October, 1912. On being shown the khaki coat witness stated that ten or twelve pieces had been cut out of it. There was a tag on the pants when witness found them. There was a class pin on the left lapel of the coat. Witness took a piece from the coat to Dr. Hektoen, and Dr. Hektoen cut out other pieces from the garments in Chicago. There have been no other changes in the garments.

When found the pants were turned inside out and were soiled somewhat. Mr. Young of Chicago was with witness when he went out to get these clothes. Witness identified the head of an axe shown him as having been brought to his office by the Lier boys. It was taken to Chicago, to Dr. Hektoen, who examined it as to blood.

C. J. KIRCH'S FATHER DIED AT KAHOKA

Was Veteran in the Civil War, Born in Germany and Lived Useful and Honorable Life.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kirch were in Kahoka, Mo., Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mr. Kirch's father who passed away Monday. The Press of Kahoka has the following to say of the deceased:

Death last Monday evening called from earth an aged and respected citizen to yonder realms, after a brief illness.

"John J. Kirch was born in Romanshausen, Hessen, Germany, July 8, 1834. He came to this country in 1852, first settling in Pittsburgh, Pa. After a few years he removed to Keokuk, Iowa, where in 1858 he was joined in holy wedlock to Miss Kathryn Dewalt, who survives him.

"To this union six children were born, two of whom, Mrs. Katherine Louise Earl and Henry Kirch, preceded the father in death. Those still living are: Charles J. Kirch, of Keokuk; Benjamin J. Kirch and Mrs. W. B. Townsend, of Kahoka, and Mrs. W. E. Eastwood of Moberly, Mo. Besides these, three grand-children and one great-grandchild survive the deceased and mourn his death.

"Mr. Kirch died at the age of 80 years, 3 months and 4 days. For years he was afflicted with blindness, but bore his affliction well. He was raised in the Evangelical faith and attended that church when able. He was a member of the G. A. R., having fought in the civil war.

"The following acted as pall-bearers: Adam Lang, Jacob Trump, F. Menke, Polk Wilson, Lee Alexander and John F. McKee."

Funeral services were held from the German Evangelical church at Kahoka this morning at 10:50 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. Bechtold, assisted by Rev. W. F. Laidley. Interment took place in Kahoka cemetery.

BUD MARS OF QUINCY INVENTOR OF BOMB

Aviator Claims to Have Deadliest of all But Won't Put it on Market.

Quincy Whig: An aerial bomb, capable of spreading death and destruction for a radius of many yards, one of the most deadly instruments of warfare ever invented, has never been thrown upon the market of nations because of the humanitarian principles of the man who evolved the idea.

"Bud" Mars, once one of the best known of the pioneers in the mastery of the air, and at present a resident of Quincy, deserves all the credit for refusing to permit his invention to be used in the slaughter of his fellows in legalized warfare.

Mars, who is quite a mechanical genius, experimented with a shrapnel bomb that could be dropped from an aeroplane carrying with it instant destruction. Finally he solved the problem and his work today stands as one of the greatest in the history of air explosives.

At this time, with airplane fighting playing so important a role in the warfare in Europe, the Whig believes the story of Mars' marvelous machine will be of interest.

After much toil and effort, after a great time passed in studying the nature of explosives and air bombs, the bomb was perfected by Mars. It was tested and found to be perfect. As an engine of murder it was completely successful.

It was then "Bud" experienced a change in heart. He says he called the invention in, broke the molds and destroyed the patterns because he believed it "unfair to the women to kill off so many men, when there are so many women who want a man."

That's what Mars says about it himself. The genial "Bud" refuses to admit any humanitarian principles underlying his refusal. He prefers to veil his real sentiments behind the facetious reply quoted above.

The bomb itself is a fearful and wonderful apparatus. Cigar-shaped, his model was about two and a half feet in length. At one end was a revolving stem carrying two blades, similar to propeller blades. These were used to keep the bomb upright.

The bomb carried shrapnel and nitro-glycerin in proportion and was equipped with a delicate instrument towards the point, which registered the air pressure. When the bomb reached a point twenty-five feet above the surface of the earth the nitro-glycerin and gun cotton were exploded automatically and the shrapnel sent flying in all directions with tremendous force.

Intrigued by the machine can not be described because of Mars' desire not to have anyone else follow his lines in the manufacture of a like projectile.

In case this country ever becomes involved in a serious war, the local bird-man declares he will furnish the plan to the war department. Until that time the death-dealing instrument secret will remain locked in his brain.

JOTTINGS FROM THE SAGE OF SEVEN PINES

Divers Topics Treated in the Usually Interesting Way by an Able Writer.

In certain districts of Kansas the sheriffs and other officers pursue liquor sellers and coyotes together.

Anyway, the steam callope up on the high deck of the Sidney and the G. W. Hill never complains that it has a bad cold when asked to sing.

Missionaries should be sent in liberal numbers to central Europe, especially to the kaiser's kingdom. America could send over there a few hundred Sioux and Winnebago Indians to aid in civilizing the white savages.

The so-called old settlers meetings now-a-days have taken on the colors and complexities of speeches of the politicians, big ears of corn and prize babies.

Clark county farmers, especially those who reside on the flood plain of Des Moines, Clay and Vernon townships, have had a very excellent and generous harvest of tomatoes, this autumn. The net profit per acre exceeds that of any other product. This is a high honor for the pink vegetable.

Perhaps in time bridges will be erected across Main street to accommodate the walking population. Automobiles, street cars and railroads are pressing upon the surface territory so as to place walkers in peril.

It is a subject of pity and regret to realize the little use which is made of the Mississippi river as a highway of commerce and travel. This grand old stream is the greatest natural feature of the central United States and yet this fine waterway is sadly neglected by the public. Surely this is an enormous sin of omission by the millions of population of the states and cities and towns all along the two thousand miles of deep water.

Missouri is unfortunately the victim of a vast horde of designing politicians who are trying to overthrow certain enactments for the protection and welfare of the commonwealth against the liquor interests in party politics. The Kansas City Star is the one able paper which is aggressively exposing the wicked designs of the corrupt politicians, and the Star is calling out their names, and warning the voters to be careful how they vote on the many amendments which will be voted upon soon.

Now one more advice giver arises and offers his little prescription for the cure or relief of the flood waters of the fine old Mississippi. His name is Sir William Wilcocks, and his remedy is to use the basin of the Saint Francis river as a storage room for the waters of this mighty drainage avenue. It is observed that most people are givers of advice on some subject, or perhaps a hundred subjects, and Sir William launches out in the deep with his profound cure, and believes in big things. Well, all right. While a half dozen great nations are burning powder, suppose we go on peacefully and regulate the flood stage of the Mississippi. Mr. Goswisch and I and a few thousand other persons are quite willing.

It is a source of gratification to learn of the purchase of a large body of land in lower Louisiana, by John D. Rockefeller, who will have the eighty-five thousand acres used as a preserve for wild fowl and birds of various kinds. The price paid was $25,000, and this tract which is near Marsh Island, purchased by Mrs. Russell Sage, will form a frontage of seventy-five miles on the Gulf of Mexico. These benefactions of mercy are an enduring tribute of goodness to those persons of wealth, and their names are to be honored. In our rural districts the best class of land owners are protecting their farms from invasion of the lawless, and in this way certain classes of useful birds are allowed freedom and safety. The Audubon societies are missionaries of mercy and good, and their numbers should be larger. All honor to them.

HUSBAND BOUGHT VINOL FOR WIFE

Mrs. Kerns Suffering from Nervous Breakdown Thought She Would Never Be Well Again, But Recovered.

So, Cumberland, Md.—"For a long time I suffered from a general nervous breakdown of the system, and thought I would never be strong again. My stomach troubled me so I could not eat, and sometimes I was so weak I was not able to do my housework. Finally my husband heard about Vinol and asked me to try it. After the first bottle I was greatly improved. I have now taken five bottles and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. I sleep soundly, am well and strong, and feel like a new woman and you may publish this for the benefit of every nervous, run-down man or woman who wants good health."

—Mrs. D. W. KERNS, So. Cumberland, Md.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the code liver, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so efficient in restoring health and strength to weak, nervous, over-worked, run-down men and women.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding your money will be returned if it does not help you.

PROHIB TICKET PUT IN FIELD

Rev. W. L. Hawkinson of Keokuk is Running for State Senate on This Ticket.

Another Keokuk preacher is running for office. Rev. W. L. Hawkinson of the Swedish Mission church is candidate for state senator on the prohibition ticket. L. Peitz is nominated for treasurer on the same ticket. The nominations were filed with the clerk of the district court at Fort Madison yesterday and are as follows:

State senator, W. L. Hawkinson; treasurer, L. Peitz; coroner, Henry Peterson; sheriff, I. F. Hedrick; members of the board, Chas. Frueshing and L. E. Denmie. The treasurer and senator nominees are from Keokuk, the other three hail from Montrose township.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines. If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used.

It has a world wide reputation for its cure. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.
