GETTING READY FOR THANKSGIVING

Chickens Are Being Missed From the Roost These Chill November Days.

Reports have been coming in recently of the disappearance of fowls from various roosts in this locality, evidently in preparation for the coming Thanksgiving observation.

The latest victim heard from is James Snerberg, 1927 Johnson street, who lost six chickens from his flock, stolen Friday night. The thief took feathers and all without leaving a clue to the identity of the purloiner, who evidently feels safe in enjoying an excellent dinner with chicken to spare.

MINUTES RECEIVED BY LOCAL COUNCIL

Proceedings of the June Convention Here Are Published in Neat Form and Pictures Are Used.

RECEIVE NEW MEMBERS

At Regular Meeting Last Night Two Are Received—Some Plans Suggested for Next Spring.

Two new members were initiated last night at the regular meeting of Keokuk Council No. 400 United Commercial Travelers of America. A number of matters were discussed at the business session of the council, among them being a proposition to hold a business show some time next spring. This may take the form of a manufacturer's exhibit. Nothing definite in the way of plans for the exhibit was done, however.

Copies of the minutes of the meeting of the grand council held at Keokuk last June have been received here. They are in pamphlet form, well gotten up, and the report of the council proceedings is given in detail.

One of the best features of the book is the fact that all of the pictures of the power house and dam which were included in the official programs and invitations sent out by the local council are included in the pamphlet.

These booklets are sent to all of the councils and become part of the records at the head office at Columbus, and consequently, the local members feel greatly elated at having received this courtesy in the use of the cuts. This is the first time that this has been done.

AURORA MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED

It is Believed that Both of the Murderers were Committed by Same Man.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.]

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 21.—Spurred on by Aurora club women, Chief of Police Michaels tonight set at work on the theory that an insane fiend or a degenerate with a mania for attacking women is guilty of the murder of Miss Jennie Miller, the wealthiest woman in Aurora, whose skull was crushed in a church yard Wednesday night. The same maniac, the police say, may have clubbed to death pretty Theresa Hollander in the Aurora cemetery several months ago. The crimes were committed at about the same hour at night while the two victims were returning to their homes, and had other features of marked similarity. Miss Hollander's slayer used a club to crush her skull. The weapon used in the latest murder mystery was a heavy steel pipe wrench. Rev. Tapper, of the Free Methodist church, in the yard of which Miss Miller was assaulted, told the police tonight that on the two nights preceding the murder he saw a man standing behind some shrubbery near the spot where the spinster was killed. This story dovetailed nicely with the police theory that a jealous husband killed Miss Miller in the belief that he was wreaking vengeance on his wife.

Chief Michaels, however, declared tonight that he had abandoned the idea of a jealous husband. The husband of a woman who resembled Miss Miller and who is said to have frequented the church corner, satisfied the chief of police, the latter said, that he was at home when the crime was committed.

Chief of Police Michaels received a long dispatch early today from New Orleans, where Sam Strong, the negro dining car waiter who found Miss Miller's purse, was located at midnight. Strong told what was apparently a straight forward story of how the purse came into his possession and denied emphatically that he knew anything of the murder.

The negro said that he was en route to his train in Aurora early Thursday morning when he saw the hand bag lying on the side walk. He jammed it into his pocket, he said, and several hours later, when the Illinois Central train on which he worked, pulled out of Chicago, read a newspaper that gave him his first information about the murder.

Strong said that he later peeped into the purse and when he found several cards with Miss Miller's name, at once concluded that the purse belonged to the murder victim. He called the conductor, he said, and then turned the purse over to railroad detectives at Centralia, who returned it to Chicago.

Strong was due to leave New Orleans today on his return trip to Chicago. Chief Michaels said he wanted to question the negro, but had not yet decided whether to have him brought here in custody of detectives.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everyone uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.
