Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress.
The most effective remedy to correct this condition is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, gentle yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headaches, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy. For a free trial bottle write Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."
It is impossible to say how many people have read "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," the delightful story which John Fox Jr. wrote around the lives of the primitive mountain folk of the Virginia Hills. The publishers admit that they sold almost a million copies of the book and as three times that number, perhaps four times, must have borrowed it from the fortunate possessors or from the public libraries, it is not overstepping the boundary of truth to say that 3,000,000 readers have followed June from her cabin in the hills to the lonely pine in which she believes the spirit of her sister dwells to watch over her while she stays in the Gap.
Eugene Walter has brought out all the strength of Mr. Fox's delightful story; he has made June and her kinfolk delightful stage characters, vivifying in his virile manner, the primitive scenes and manners of a rugged people.
The business done has been the largest of any dramatic play in recent years and it proved a tremendous success in Boston, New York and Chicago, where it enjoyed long runs. The cast includes Isabelle Lowe as June, supported by the New York company, which is surrounded with a magnificent equipment of scenery and electrical effects, which render the play more vivid in beauty of scene and action. The fact that the production is to appear at the Grand opera house, Friday night only, December 4, should interest every local theatre goer. There will be but one performance.—Advertisement

Report from Poland.
[United Press Leased Wire Service.] BERLIN, (via wireless to Sayville), Dec. 1.—The latest reports from Poland show that the Germans have resumed the execution of their plan to encroach the Russian right bank and force back the center while cutting off the Russian's communication with Warsaw.
The carrying out of this plan, which began with the Russian defeat at Lipno and Plock was later hindered by the arrival of Russian reinforcements and the Germans were for the moment thrown on the defensive. Now, after repulsing a number of attacks, they appear to be moving forward towards Lodz. The German movements in this region have not been hindered during the last few days. This must be taken as highly favorable as the repulse of the Russian advances has probably been followed by a general offensive movement by the Germans toward the line through Lodz.

To the Poor House.
[United Press Leased Wire Service.] ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 1.—Ten homeless and friendless women ranging in ages from 64 to 89 years of age, who had paid sums of from $200 to $400 to obtain a home for the rest of their lives, were notified today that the home, the "Sunshine Home for the Aged," is bankrupt and that they will have to seek other shelter. Richard Randolph, a local merchant, treasurer of the home asserted the institution was largely dependent upon charity and that failure to receive donations from charitable sources caused the failure of the institution. The home has no religious affiliations. The majority of the residents of the home, it is believed, will be compelled to go to the poor house.

When the suit came back, according to Jarmath the pants were so tight that he blushed when he thought of what would happen if he tried to tango. He sued Weisberg for $150, scheduling the pants at $10 and one evening tangoing at $140.

REVENUE STAMP ON MARRIAGE RETURN

First One Under New Law is Sent in by Justice James S. Burrows This Afternoon.

The first marriage return to have revenue stamps affixed was the one turned in to the office of the clerk this afternoon by James S. Burrows, justice of the peace. A ten cent stamp was affixed to the certificate of marriage and to the return which goes to the state board of health. A similar stamp was affixed to the certificates for bride and groom. Justice Burrows holds that under the revenue law there is nothing to do but to affix stamps to each of the certificates, which are required by law.
The marriage was that of Virgil Sloan and Bessie M. Benton.

TWO USEFUL ENDS SERVED BY STORY

One is to Prove That American Papers Do Print the German Side of News.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] NEW YORK, December 1.—Under the caption the "Crown Prince's Interview," the Evening Sun today says, editorially, concerning the interview with Karl H. Von Wiegand, United Press Staff correspondent: "Two useful ends are served in this country by the interview with the German crown prince. First of all, the fashion in which it was seized upon, printed and reprinted should supply our German friends with an answer to that frequent complaint that the American newspapers are deliberately surrendering their news columns to British and French influences.
"The second purpose served is that there is supplied to the American public in an attractive fashion, the statement of the German view of the great war which gains a hearing and has an appeal which could never be won by the solemn pronouncements of various and multi-colored official books or profound utterances of the learned professors who have in recent months been goose stepping in print.
"It is amusing to note the instant and unanimous chorus of derision and bitterness revealed by the London press comment on the crown prince's words.
"On the other hand, the words of the crown prince will serve to demonstrate what many millions of Germans feel to be the cause and the character of the war they are fighting. They will too, unquestionably modify American opinion of the prince himself and as the interview itself is unmistakably authentic in its very tone and supply one more attractive figure in a great world drama which except for Albert, king of the Belgians, has been strangely devoid of personality.
