

WOMAN DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Mrs. Jene Arnold is Found Dead in Her Bed at Home on South Fourth Street this Noon, by Neighbors.

HARRISON LAW CAUSE?

Woman is Believed to Have Been Adicted to Drugs—Left Note Saying She Couldn't Stand It.

Mrs. Jene Arnold, 327 South Fourth street, drank carbolic acid this morning, and died about noon. She left a note in which she said, "I can't stand this. Have Mr. Arnold go to the home where he was. Neighbors say that the woman was addicted to a drug habit, and the attending physician said that the woman had been turned away from doctor's offices here where she went to ask for treatment. It is believed that the reference in the note where she says, "I can't stand it," had to do with her fight to down this craving, and that inability to secure the drug because of the Harrison law, caused her to take her life.

The dead woman is the wife of Benjamin L. Arnold, who has been in ill health for some time. Mrs. Arnold would take care of both of them. Mr. Arnold has been at the Lee county home of late, but was allowed to visit his wife here. He was in town this morning. He notified a Mrs. Graham and her daughter Miss Kila Graham who live near them that something was wrong with his wife, and when they reached the house they found her dead in bed. Dr. W. M. Rankin was called in on the case. James S. Burrows, coroner, was called, but will probably not hold an inquest, as a doctor's certificate will no doubt be given in the case.

On Back of Letter. The note which was written with lead pencil was written on the back of a circular letter, evidently pertaining to some cure of some description. It was written on page two of the letter which directed the recipient to get the medicine from the express office. It is believed by the coroner, that the letter may have reference to some cure for the drug habit.

The carbolic acid bottle was a three ounce bottle, and the woman had purchased it this morning from a local drug store. Dr. Rankin stated that she had gone to several doctors asking for treatment. The doctors had refused to give treatment, and it may be that she was discouraged and planned to end her life on this account.

If the surmise of the neighbors and the physicians is correct, that it was the failure to secure the drug to which it was said the woman was addicted, this is the first case in Keokuk of violent death which may be attributed to the stringency of the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

SECURING JURY IN HUESTON CASE

Suit of Local Man vs. Preferred Accident Insurance Company is Begun This Afternoon.

The case of John N. Hueston vs. the Preferred Accident Insurance company was called in the district court this afternoon. The early part of the afternoon session was confined to examining jurors to secure a jury to hear the case.

Hueston was injured at Braymer, Mo., two years ago, and believing his injuries only partial, settled on a certain basis. Later when it developed that he was disabled, he asked further settlement. A year ago the case against the Iowa State Traveling Men's association was tried, in which Hueston was given a verdict.

Several routine matters were heard before Judge Bank today. A motion to strike in the case of Hawkes vs. Ulrich was over-ruled.

Judge Wade's First Term.

[United Press I eased Wire Service.] DES MOINES, Iowa, March 17.—Judge Martin J. Wade, of Iowa City, newly appointed as federal judge for the southern Iowa district, reached here today and announced that he expected to take the oath of office here Monday and leave for Creston to open his first term of court Tuesday.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

There's a breath of Spring in the city street. A thrill of verdure about to wake inblown from many a far retreat. Of verdant valley and limpid lake. But we, heart troubled for old time's sake, Think wistful thoughts at our work or play. Of Springs long gone in the dead years' wake, As the bands go by on St. Patrick's day.

We listen again to the airs we've known, Since first we ever could know at all, The Dear Little Shamrock and "Garryowen," "Let Erin Remember" and "Tara's Hall."

Holding us ever in Erin's thrall— For woven in the web of our souls are they, Bridging distance and time and ail As the bands go by on St. Patrick's day.

Leagues of ocean are washing between This stranger city, so grand and gay, And the sad old mother whose emerald green We proudly wear on our hearts today.

But though honor and service be By other claimed, and that debt we pay, Ireland's Irish alone are we As the bands go by on St. Patrick's Day.

Ireland's Irish in heart and blood, Faithful to Country, Creed and Race, Though we ne'er may stand where our fathers stood Or look again upon Ireland's face; Wanderers over the world's highways, We're Irish deep where the life lies play, And our pulses quicken to patriot pack As the bands go by on St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. Matless' Birthday.

Mrs. Matilda Matless is celebrating her eighty-ninth birthday today. She is, as Mark Twain says, "Eighty-nine years young today, for the years have touched her heart and mind very lightly." The parlors of her home are a perfect bower of flowers and choice plants sent her by friends and the family have remembered her with handsome gifts. During this afternoon many friends called to express their congratulations and good wishes. This evening the usual family party will be held, attended by her children and grandchildren and by the families related by marriage. The Matless family is one of the oldest in Keokuk, Mr. and Mrs. Matless having come here in 1853.

Teachers and Officers Guests.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Matless will entertain the officers and teachers of the First Westminster Presbyterian Sunday school at a six o'clock dinner at their home, 303 Fulton street. Following the dinner the annual meeting for the election of officers of the Sunday school will be held.

P. E. O. Chapter Meeting.

The P. E. O. chapter was entertained last night by Miss Boyer and Mrs. Moore at the home of Miss Boyer on High street. Mrs. Henry Strickler presided and Miss Solomon acted as secretary. Following a brief business meeting, Miss Younker read a paper on Modern Opera. Mrs. Strickler gave the story of Jewels of the Madonna, and Miss Rollins told the story of Their Selections from both of these operas were given on the victrola. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Ora Boyer.

O. H. Club's Meeting.

Mrs. Ulysses Couley was hostess to the O. H. club this afternoon at a very pleasant meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Horgan Going.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Horgan who for the past year have been residents of Keokuk living at 704 Grand avenue, are leaving the city tomorrow for their new home in Duluth, Minn. They have made many friends during their residence here, particularly among the young social set, and their departure is a matter of regret to many people. Mr. Horgan was associated with the Keokuk Electric Co., and goes to a similar position in Duluth.

Daily Stock Letter.

[Copyright 1915 by the New York Evening Post.] NEW YORK, March 17.—Continuation today of stationary prices on the stock exchange—with light trading and fractional fluctuations, yet with a general undertone of firmness—seemed to cause no great surprise. It was possible to ascribe the halt to doubt as to just what would be the outcome, politically or financially, of the latest British order in council.

CITY NEWS.

—The Rev. John C. Sage, rector of St. John's church, will continue his series of addresses "God and Man" at the 7:30 o'clock service this evening. The subject of the address tonight is "The Revelation of Man in Jesus Christ." The service will be held in the chapel.

—Miss Mattie Kelsey, 60, of Argyle died at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. F. Young, at that place at 12:30 last night.

—Indications are that the Keokuk and Hamilton Bridge Co. will soon be at work on the reconstruction of the present structure, legal permission from the federal government and the municipality having been secured. When the company gets through reconstruction work, Keokuk will have a fine bridge, one that will meet the demands for many years.

—The contract for the Moose bathing beach building has been let to William Kirschner. The finance committee is still engaged in soliciting for funds and while generous response has been made by the members, additional funds will be needed before actual work on the building is started. The committee is working hard to close up the solicitation as quickly as possible.

—The mid-week Lenten services will be continued at the St. Paul's German Evangelical church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The subject will be "Jesus Before Pilate." Theme of the sermon "The Bitter Attacks of the World do Not Embitter the Heart of a Christian."

NEW ADDITION PLAT SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL

Addition Composed of About Thirty Acres North of Messengerville is Planned.

A proposed plat for a sub-division containing about thirty acres, lying just north of Messengerville was talked over informally by the city council this morning. The plat was not satisfactory in several respects to the council, it having been submitted tentatively by the Keokuk Realty Co., owners of the land, in order that they might gain an idea of what the council wanted them to do in platting the property. The plat submitted made provision for six blocks each about 660 by 268 feet in dimensions. The land is owned by F. A. Wilmering, Howard Connable, W. C. Howell and others.

TEACHERS' PENSION BILL RECONSIDERED

P. C. Hayden Informed That It Will be Special Order of Business Tomorrow.

The Grason bill, which provides for teachers' annuities was reconsidered by the house of representatives today, according to advice received by Professor P. C. Hayden, this afternoon. The bill has been made a special order for tomorrow at 12:25 o'clock. The first vote on the bill was a tie, until four friends of the bill went over on the other side in order to secure a re-consideration. It is expected that the bill will be passed.

CONVICT BOY ON LARCENY CHARGE

Orville Pullis, 17, Found Guilty of Larceny; by Judge McNamara. This Morning.

FACES REFORM SCHOOL

Mother Ordered to Appear This Afternoon to Show Cause for Suspension of Sentence.

Orville Pullis, seventeen year old son of Mrs. Cal Russell, was found guilty of larceny in the superior court this morning, by Judge McNamara. His mother was notified to appear in the superior court at 3:30 this afternoon to show cause why her son should not be ordered committed to the Eldora reform school until he has reached the age of 21.

Pullis was convicted of the theft of two pieces of engine brasses from an engine on the C. & Q. railroad. The information on which he was charged, was filed yesterday by William Glasgow, special representative of the road.

Two witnesses testified against young Pullis in his trial before Judge McNamara this morning. They were yard men employed by the Rock Island, W. F. Henke and John C. Snowden. Both testified that they had seen Pullis run away with the brasses and both identified him.

After the witnesses had been examined by County Attorney McManus he turned to Pullis and asked him if he had anything to say about the charges that had been made against him.

"All I got to say is that they're d—llars," was his answer.

Negroes Are Brought Here.

The three Burlington negroes charged with the theft of a trammel net from the Miller brothers, at that place, and who were taken into custody at Burlington yesterday, were returned here last night by Officers Wilson and Brennan, who went to Burlington for them yesterday afternoon. The men were not arraigned today but will be taken before Judge McNamara tomorrow morning. A reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of the net-laws was offered by the owners of the net. Chief Kenney stated this afternoon that he was positive he has the right men.
