[United Press Leased Wire Service.]
NEW ORLEANS, La., March 23.—Insisting that fifty thousand Louisiana sons of native French should return to France and enlist against Germany, Gabriel Ferrand, French consul general here, branded as cowards those who refuse to comply and in a communication to various French societies demanded that the organizations expel them or sever their relations with the consulate. The French colony, aroused by what they term radical utterances, will communicate with the French embassy.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.]
SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Saying it was impossible to tango wearing a sword without barking shins and tripping fair partners, army officers were surprised and peeved today by an order directing them to wear full dress uniforms at Thursday night's tango party to be tendered by Vice President Marshall and the official exposition party from Washington.

KEOKUK'S DEEDS TO GO IN BOOK

Noted Author of Boy's Stories to Embody Indian Chieftain in Story

He is Planning.

WRITES HERE FOR DATA

Black Hawk Will Likewise Have Place in Book Which Everett

T. Tomlinson Will Write.

Chief Keokuk's name and deeds are going to be preserved in a book, which will be written by Everett T. Tomlinson, the well known writer of boys' books. Mr. Tomlinson has written to the public library to ascertain the address of the old chief's great grandson who was here at the unveiling of his ancestor's monument two years ago.

Mr. Tomlinson is the well known writer of boys' stories, and he has put Pontiac and some of the other great Indian chiefs into his story. That he is planning now to take cognizance of the great career of Keokuk is suggested in his letter asking for the address of Keokuk's kinsman.

Mr. Tomlinson expects to embody a story of Chief Black Hawk along with the story of Keokuk, or perhaps will write a separate story on this other chief, with whom Keokuk was frequently at sword's point.

There seems to be plenty of material for a story of Keokuk and Black Hawk, which would delight the heart of any boy, and for the most part it is virgin field, so far as actual "hoax" to goodness stories by a real author are concerned.

The address requested by Mr. Tomlinson will be supplied him, and it will be a matter of interest to watch the story which will be written by this versatile author.

How To Safely Peel Your Face

If you wear an aged, discolored or weather-beaten complexion, the most sensible thing to do is to remove it—rather than patch it over or "doctor" it with cosmetics. The only way to really remove the complexion—aside from resorting to an expensive and painful surgical operation—is by means of ordinary mercolized wax. Spread the wax over the face at night, as you would cold cream; wash it off in the morning. This gradually peels off the lifeless and the half-dead outer skin, in minute particles—gradually the fresh young skin beneath beams forth. Then you have a clear, velvety, healthy-hued complexion such as no unnatural method can possibly produce. Chaps, freckles, blotches, pimples—all surface defects due to weather, ill-health or the ravages of time, of course, disappear with the discarded skin. Ask the druggist for an ounce of mercolized wax; you won't need more.

If you wear wrinkles or crowsfeet, the best thing to do is to bathe your face in a harmless lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. Nothing else will so surely erase the unwelcome lines.

Clara Kimball Young at the Grand

Clara Kimball Young, as the star in the five part photoplay, "The Deep Purple," will have three showings tonight at the Grand starting promptly at 7, 8:10 and 9:20. All the characters which made the production successful on Broadway will be seen in the photoplay. The simple girl from the country; the rich and many young mining engineer; the suave and treacherous "barker"; the oily old chief of the gang of crooks, "Pop" Clark; the repentant gun-man from the west; "Frisco Kate," the reformed keeper of a "just off Broadway" boarding house; the police; the gamblers; the hangers-on and nondescripts; such are the types. You may meet them any afternoon or evening in and around Broadway. They appear in this vivid photoplay and they act with naturalness and conviction. The film story starts in peaceful country scenes and ends there, but between the beginning and the end, the drama and tragedy of the intense, most lurid kind punctuated by some diverting comedy, are concentrated. It is an excellent production. Don't miss it tonight.

Tomorrow will be presented Beatriz Michelena in "Mignon" operatic masterpiece in photoplay. A motion picture of exceptional beauty and interest.—Advertisement.

One of Molly Malloy's admirers is Mike Maloney, a nationalist volunteer, and a great favorite of her father. Mollie, the daughter of a nationalist, is the sweetheart of Paddy Rooney, a staunch Ulsterman. The mutual regard of the two suitors is far from affectionate. They are constantly at "dagger's ends." Mike, however, in favor of Molly's father, enjoys more of her home society, though less of her love than Paddy. The two suitors are stopped in a brawl by the only influence that could end their hostilities: the announcement that war has been declared. They are all excited and listen to a fiery speech of Molly's father. The squire, Sir Charles O'Moy, of the lande gentry, in a rousing speech, calls for recruits from his tenants. Paddy enlists and

Tone That's where the Victrola is pre-eminent

The Victrola brings to you the pure and varied tones of every musical instrument, and the beauty and individuality of every human voice—absolutely true to life.

Such fidelity of tone was unknown before the advent of the Victrola—the first cabinet style talking-machine; and this pure and life-like tone is exclusively a Victrola feature.

"Why exclusive with the Victrola?"

Because of the patented Victrola features, which have been perfected after years of study and experiment:

- "Goose-neck" sound-box tube—the flexible metal connection between the sound-box and tapering tone arm, which enables the Victor Needle to follow the record grooves with unerring accuracy.
- Concealed sounding-boards and amplifying compartment of wood—provide the very limit of area of vibrating surface and sound amplifying compartment, so absolutely essential to an exact and pure tone reproduction.
- Modifying doors—may be opened wide thereby giving the tone in its fullest volume; or doors may be set at any degree graduating the volume of tone to exactly suit every requirement. Closed tight the volume is reduced to the minimum and when not in use the interior is fully protected.
- Victrola system of changeable needles—perfect reproduction is possible only with a perfect point—therefore a new needle for each record is the only positive assurance of a perfect point. You also have your choice of full tone, half tone or further modification with the fibre needle.

It is the perfection of every part, and its perfect combination with all other parts, that gives the Victrola its superior tone—that makes the Victrola the greatest of all musical instruments.

There are Victrolas in great variety from $15 to $250. Come in any time and we will gladly demonstrate them and play any music you wish to hear. We'll explain our system of easy terms, too.

goes to pay a last visit to his sweet-heart.

"It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary, but My Heart's Right There." This rollicking air livens the long nights round the camp fire at the front. Paddy, disconsolate and longing for his maushe, lets the burden of his heart pour forth in a typical letter of sentiment. Paddy and Mike, in the same regiment are "two minds with but a single thought" though not "two hearts that beat as one." This "single thought" keeps them ever suspicious and antagonistic, and their comrades spend most of their waking hours in keeping down this civil war in the midst of the greater struggle. Marching in the dead of night, on the way to the firing zone, their regiment meets a scouting party of the enemy. During the sortie, Mike is wounded and Paddy saved the day by turning a Maxim on the enemy. Mike is invalided home. Back in dear old Tipperary, Molly's father insists on the wounded man sharing the cabin. In the radius of Molly's charm, Mike recovers sufficiently to renew his courtship, but is at last conscious of the unfairness of pressing his suit with his rival away on the firing line. At the front, Paddy's regiment prepares for a night attack. Both he and Sir
