

YOUR attention is respectfully called to an important point not generally known, that a laxative should have a tonic element to successfully meet constipation.

Mr. John B. Capers, of 610 Pecan St., Fort Worth, Texas, had a significant experience in this particular. He was afflicted with a severe case of constipation and bowel trouble. He spent a good deal of money in trying to find a remedy. To his astonishment, Peruna very quickly relieved him of his bad symptoms.

This happened a number of years ago. Since then, Mr. Capers states that he has had similar attacks of trouble, the prominent symptom of which is constipation, and has always found prompt and efficient relief from Peruna. He says: "Up to the time I started using your Peruna I could drink castor oil like water. It did no good. As for salts, they were of no use. Physics of all kinds and classes were used, but I had to call on the fountain syringe for help." Peruna was able to correct this condition completely in Mr. Capers' case, and there is every reason to believe that it was the tonic qualities of Peruna, added to the laxative qualities, that procured this very desirable result.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

ANNIVERSARY OF LEE'S SURRENDER

Fiftieth Anniversary Celebrated by G. A. R. and W. R. C. at Y. W. C. A. Friday Night.

PRESENTED WITH FLAG

Present National Emblem to Y. W. C. A.—Address on Surrender by W. G. Blood.

The fifteenth anniversary of the surrender of Lee's army of confederates at Appomattox was celebrated by Torrence Post and the Women's Relief Corps at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium Friday evening. The Y. W. C. A. was presented with a large United States flag by the two organizations.

One of the most interesting features of the celebration was the relation by Erastus Layton, 813 Fulton street, of his experiences at the time of the surrender. Mr. Layton was a member of Grant's army at the time and his version of the surrender proved of great interest to those who attended the celebration meeting.

The meeting was opened by Captain L. D. Sheppard who stated briefly that it was most fitting this anniversary should be celebrated and remembered at this time, before calling upon Rev. E. B. Newcomb who led the meeting in prayer.

The presentation of the flag to the Y. W. C. A. was made by Major W. B. Collins and was accepted by Mrs. Thomas R. Board, president of the association. In presenting the flag, Major Collins said:

Presentation Address.

We are assembled here this ninth day of April, to commemorate and celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Appomattox day, April 9, 1865, indicative of the perpetual peace to our beloved and united country, that followed four years of internecine war to determine whether this, our beloved union of the United States of America, a government of the people, by the people and for the people was indissoluble, and should survive or was only composed of independent sovereign states dissoluble at their respective will and pleasure.

We citizens of the republic of America demonstrate to the world our love of country and patriotism, by assembling on this fiftieth anniversary of peace to renew the ties of our undivided devotion and allegiance to this, our beloved and indivisible union of the United States of America.

Patriotic Readiness Urged.

After our critical experience, remember, united we stand, divided we fall; especially in view of the declaration to the world that the war in Europe is a war of conquest, and it is authoritatively predicted that at the end of two years, the Kaiser of Germany will rule the world. Therefore it is the duty of every American citizen, native born and adopted, to live and act that the hordes of Europe attack us we will with one country, one flag and one language, be prepared for the conflict, and successfully defend our country and our liberties against the war lords of Europe, and not be taken by surprise as the European nations were.

We, the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and Women's Relief Corps of Keokuk, avail ourselves, on this patriotic occasion, of the opportunity, to present to the Young Women's Christian Association this beautiful flag of our beloved and indivisible union of the United States of America, as the emblem of its power and authority.

Ladies, this flag, its history and tradition is most interesting to you, because of the association with its original composition of a young woman, Betsy Ross, coincident with its adoption June 14, 1777, by the Continental congress of the United Colonies, as the emblem and ensign of the power and authority of a new nation born to the world. This flag and its colors, symbolize the blood of our forefathers, and patriotic dead shed in a righteous cause; the purity of their individual and national intentions and the integrity and perseverance of their successful actions, and a most fitting emblem to wave over this beautiful temple erected and dedicated to the promotion and extension of the best interests of women.

What the Emblem Signifies.

Ladies of the Young Women's Christian Association, take this beautiful flag, the emblem of our beloved and indivisible union of the United States of America; love, honor, cherish and sustain it at all times in all places and under all circumstances; hang it upon the walls of this beautiful building; unfurl it to the free breeze of the union; let it be the free breeze of the beautiful temple of righteousness, as an emblem of righteousness, purity, liberty and protection.

Remember the donors, and if at any time the honor of this flag is threatened, call upon the Grand Army of the Republic; Women's Relief Corps, their survivors and descendants, who will fly to your relief and sacrifice the last drop of their heart's blood in its defense. Oh! you beautiful flag of the beloved States of America, how we love and adore thee, and with the permission of God Almighty would worship thee, because, under the protection of God our father in heaven, thy care of God our father in heaven,

It is the old reliable tried and true all-year-round blood purifier and enricher, tonic and appetizer. It revitalizes the blood, and is especially useful in building up the debilitated and run-down.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is helping thousands at this time of year. Let it help you. Get a bottle today and begin taking it at once. Be sure to get Hood's. Nothing else acts like it.

thou hast waved over us so oft in danger.

Accepted by Mrs. Board.

In accepting the emblem, Mrs. Board spoke briefly but expressed the sincere thanks of every member of the organization in the honor paid by the G. A. R. and the Women's Relief Corps. She remarked that she was very glad that the two organizations had selected this time to present the flag. She said that mature years have brought a greater realization of the immense sacrifice of the men and women of this country at the time of the war. This flag, she said, would prove an added reminder of this sacrifice and would be an incentive to the women and girls of the Y. W. C. A. to lead a better and more useful life.

Miss Martha Baldwin then led in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. She was assisted by Miss Caroline Baldwin, soprano; Mrs. J. H. Bissell and Miss Helen Helen Palmer, alto; Mr. H. T. Graham and Mr. Frank E. Fuller, tenors; Mr. Ralph Joy and Mr. Alfred Lee Jones, basses. Miss Mary Grace Wiley served as accompanist. The flag salute was given by the members of the Women's Relief Corps at the conclusion of the song.

Review of Surrender.

A historical review of the surrender of the confederates at Appomattox was given in an address by W. G. Blood. Mr. Blood prefaced his address with the remark that General Lee had been brought here in the year 1836 by the father of Major M. Meigs.

Mr. Blood's version of the surrender was drawn from many sources. Although the surrender of Lee was not the actual crisis of the war, it is in it, as the final and closing scene of importance that we are probably most interested, he said. He then described in detail the actions of the two generals up to and during the time the terms of peace were drawn.

In his conclusion, Mr. Blood said that while this war is thought by some to be insignificant in comparison with the present European war, that it was one of the greatest wars in history, in view of its effects. He quoted some statistics regarding the present war, saying that it had cost $2,000,000,000 a year for the first six months and that six million men had been killed in the first eight months of fighting. Mr. Blood said he believed our civil war was the greatest in history at its time, and expressed the hope that it would be the last war the United States would ever be engaged in.

Miss Baldwin and the sextette then sang Dixie, after which Mr. Layton gave his personal experiences at the time of the surrender. Mr. Layton's address follows:

"I was a member of the Sixth Army corps, army of the Potomac. The Union army had been investing the confederate defenses around Richmond and Petersburg since July 1861, and toward April, 1865, a final effort was to be made to overcome Lee's army; and in accordance with plans and assignments made, on the morning of April 2, 1865, shortly after midnight, our infantry was formed out-

BACK FROM THE FIRING LINE.

First Aid to the Wounded. PARIS, April 10.—At almost every station on the railroads, you will see men shattered and wrecked for life, men who must face the future horribly mutilated, and yet they accept their fate without a murmur of complaint or bitterness. It is the same in England, in France, this is supposed in Russia, that all soldiers are bearing their sufferings with the greatest of fortitude.

The best aid these men have is within themselves. The human body will best resist infection from bullets when it is healthy, strong, active and with all of its functions fully alive and working. The best aid to this condition is a vegetable tonic and alterative that will first put the stomach and blood right, for these are dependent on one another. Good stomach means good blood, and likewise good blood means good stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helps the stomach to do its work naturally and properly, stimulates the liver. The system is freed from poisons. The blood is purified. Every organ is rejuvenated. This "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce, is free from alcohol or narcotics. It is made from the roots and barks of American forest plants with triple refined glycerine, and is the best blood purifier, because it banishes from the blood all poison and impure matter. It dissolves impure deposits and carries them out, as it does all impurities through the bowels, kidneys and skin. If you have indigestion, sluggish liver, catarrh, unsteady nerves, or a pimply skin, get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today and start at once to replace your impure blood with the kind that puts energy and ambition into you and brings back youth and vigor.—Adv.

side of our own line of defence, ready for the assault. As day began to dawn, perhaps four or five o'clock a. m., a single gun in Fort Fisher boomed forth the signal to go forward, and without firing a shot in reply to the enemy's storm of shot and shell our forces never halted or wavered until we had gained a footing inside their fortifications, and as soon as it was possible to restore order and reform the different commands, a sweeping charge was made against their right wing, and by 10 o'clock that portion of their army was either prisoners or in flight.

"We faced about and returned to their left, which had held out all morning. A close conflict lasted the rest of the day, and at nightfall every disposition was made for the final stroke on the following morning, but when daylight broke the enemy had fled, apparently moving in the direction of Johnston's army, still confronting Sherman in North Carolina. Then began the running fight, Sheridan with the cavalry persistently throwing command across their front, and the infantry and artillery marching day and night, through cold, rain and mud, battering away at the enemy's flank in an effort to change the direction of their retreat and force them farther northward in the direction of Lynchburg.

"On the afternoon of the sixth of April our column was confronted by a heavy force of the enemy posted on a high timbered bluff on the south side of Saylor's Creek. An immediate attack was ordered, and as soon as our batteries finished their preliminary work the infantry went forward, through the little valley north of the creek, and wading nearly waist deep through the stream, charged and carried their line, capturing a large number of prisoners including General Ewell, Kershaw and Custis Lee, son of General R. E. Lee. This was the last hard fight I saw, only a light brush on the eighth at Farmville where the enemy had destroyed the bridge over the Appomattox river and contested our crossing. The usual desultory firing by our flankers, and the constant roar of Sheridan's guns in the front, continued until the following day—the memorable ninth day of April, 1865.

"About noon, on a little later, a halt was made and firing almost ceased. As we stood waiting in suspense, a staff officer from corps headquarters rode up to division headquarters and announced, 'Lee has surrendered, let loose the guns.' Hardly had he disappeared when a second staff officer came with the order, 'no salute will be fired.'

"That was an afternoon and night never to be forgotten by the survivors of that grand army of the Potomac. Men wept, shouted, and gave way to every expression of joy, not in a spirit of exultation over our conquered foe, but in the glorious thought that the end of the civil war was at hand. The ever present danger from shot and shell and disease as well as the loss of the welcome of friends so dear to us awaiting at our homes. The following day, while the terms of surrender were being carried out, we mingled freely with our late foes, all now friendly and glad the strife was over. They were hungry, we had plenty, and many a feast they enjoyed that day from our store of hard tack, fat pork and coffee.

"Our army then counter-marched to Murkville, and while here, received the sad news of President Lincoln's death. The Sixth corps and Sheridan's cavalry were ordered to North Carolina to assist in the capture of Johnston's army. We marched nearly one hundred miles, arriving at Danville, Va., on the North Carolina line where the news of the surrender of Johnston's army. We began the march back to Richmond and Washington. The army of the Potomac except the Sixth corps, with Sherman's army arrived at Washington and held that grand review on May 23, 1865. The Sixth corps arrived later, and with other detachments, was reviewed by President Johnson and General Grant. Sherman and Meade, June 8, 1865, and with glad hearts we hastened to our homes in the northland, welcomed by friends and kindred with a joy beyond expression, but not without a tear for those who came not.

The audience then joined in the singing of America, which closed the evening's program. The meeting was considered a most successful one and was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd present. The celebration was held at the suggestion of Colonel David J. Palmer, commander in chief of the G. A. R., who requested that the posts all over the country make some observance of the anniversary.

FORMER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Rosa Wohlwend Passes Away at Burlington After Brief Illness—Formerly Lived Here.

Friday night at Burlington, occurred the death of Mrs. Rosa Wohlwend, widow of the late J. J. Wohlwend. Mrs. Wohlwend formerly lived in Keokuk and was married here. The following obituary notice from the Burlington Hawk-Eye will be of interest to friends of the family here:

Mrs. Rosa Wohlwend, widow of the late J. J. Wohlwend, passed away Friday night at 11:10 after a brief illness, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. George Kramer, 912 Valley street, with whom Mrs. Wohlwend had made her home for the past several years. Mrs. Wohlwend had enjoyed the best of health until Sunday, March 28, when at 8:30 in the morning she suffered a paralytic stroke which rendered her unconscious up to the time of her death. Her death is a severe blow to her children as they had confidently expected that the dear mother would be spared to them for many years to come. She numbered her friends by the score and will always be remembered for her great kindness of heart, her gentle humor and her lovely character as a wife and mother. She was a faithful member of Trinity Lutheran church.

Mrs. Wohlwend was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John George Schmidt. She was born in Deutscheneureich,

Economical Plumbing

For small or medium sized bath rooms the recess or "built-in" bath tubs are great savers of space. These fixtures are made for tiling into a recess in the wall or into a corner of the bath room.

Economy of space alone makes this style of fixture highly desirable. The fact that the base is entirely closed in prevents accumulation of dust and moisture under the tub. And if the fixture bears the "Standard" label you may be sure that the design and finish are the best obtainable.

Isn't it time you were installing new plumbing?
