Gasoline on the Fire.
[United Press Leased Wire Service] DANVILLE, Ill., April 27.—Miss Viola Downs of Ridgeway, was burned in a horrible manner and the palatial Downs home was destroyed by fire which started this morning when Miss Downs in preparing breakfast, sought to force a fire in a range by pouring on gasoline. The oil exploded, covering her with a mass of flames and setting the house on fire.

In a second gas disaster, James Mitchell and T. Hughes were badly burned when the Christian church at Redman, Edgar county, was destroyed. Hughes, janitor at the church, was pumping added pressure into a gas pump lighting system when the pump cells burst, the gas ignited and set the building on fire. Hughes was caught in the building and Mitchell was injured in rescuing him. Both are in a serious condition and may die.

URGING CITIZENS TO MAKE HASTE

Clean-up Day Committee Points Out Fact That Day is Not Far into the Future.

SATURDAY IS TIME SET

Ash Piles, Rubbish Heaps and the Like, Should All Melt Away by Then, Committee Suggests.

The clean-up day executive committee is calling attention to the fact that Saturday, May 1, is not many days in the future, and that it behooves the citizens who are going to help make the city a clean one, to get to work at once. There are any number of unsightly ash piles in various sections of the city, and rubbish heaps are yet to be disposed of.

Probably the best thing to do with the rubbish heap is to shovel it all out in the alley and burn it. The ash piles should be hauled away along with the tin can heap.

The early spring has brought out the grasses and weeds as well, and it has been suggested that these weeds be cut down in the alleys at once, which will, of course, help to keep them down in the future. The fringe of weeds which borders on empty lots should be taken care of by the property owners or the city.

The reports from the south side of town are most encouraging. The residents there have practically all made their property ship-shape without waiting for the official clean-up order. Other residents are urged to follow their example and get all the property in the city in good shape. There is nothing more disappointing to visitors than to find dirty alleys and poorly kept lawns and yards. Keokuk is going to have plenty of visitors and should plan to clean things up Saturday, May 1.

ICE CREAM CUPS

HOLD BOOZE—BUT YOU'RE TOO LATE
Beer or whiskey—whichever you want—in ice cream cups.

Nate must answer to an information filed against him in the superior court by Chief of Police Kenney, in which Nate is charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, to-wit, "beer and whiskey." The information was filed late yesterday afternoon.

MEETING ON BOND ISSUE POSTPONED

The session of the board of supervisors at which the subject of a bond issue for the county will be discussed, and which was to have been held yesterday has been postponed until Thursday. The board met over a week ago to ask for some information concerning the condition of the county's finances. The meeting was to have been held yesterday, but it was found necessary to postpone it until Thursday.

IN THE WOOD.
In the wood where shadows are deepest
From the branches overhead,
Where the wild wood strawberries cluster
And the softest moss is spread,
I met today with a fairy,
And I followed her where she led.

Some magical words she uttered,
I alone could understand,
For she grew bluer and brighter;
While there rose on either hand
The cloudy walls of a palace
That was built in Fairyland.

And I stood in a strange enchantment;
I had known it all before:
In my heart of hearts was the magic
Of days that will come no more,
The magic of joy departed
That time can ne'er restore.

That never, ah, never, never,
Never again can be—
Shall I tell you what powerful fairy
Built up this palace for me?
It was only a little white violet
I found at the root of a tree.

Daily Stock Letter.
[Copyright 1915 by the New York Evening Post.]

NEW YORK, April 27.—Wall street appeared to recognize fully today that the stock exchange was witnessing a "war market." In other words, that movement of prices and speculation was governed primarily by news from the battle front. But that very fact resulted in a confused and chaotic market.

The obscurities and contradictions of the day's European dispatches led, during the four first hours of business, to great irregularity. Prices moved forward and backward in quick alternation and would be advancing in one part of the market, while declining in another. It was not, in fact, until well on in the afternoon, that a clearly defined general movement occurred in the market as a whole, and it took the form of an all around decline; several of the most active stocks losing two points or more from their forenoon prices, with substantial increase of activity.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN ILLINOIS

Arguments Pro and Con on Bill to Abolish it in the State.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 27.—Bills for abolition of capital punishment occupied the attention of the Illinois house in committee of the whole this afternoon. While numerous outside speakers defended the bills, several members of the house declared in favor of the present laws.

Governor Dunne who suggested the bills in a special message to the assembly, spoke at length in their support, citing the frequent miscarriages of justice when persons are hanged and later found to be innocent, and declaring that hanging is no less murder because done legally in the name of the state. He cited comparative statistics to show that the crime rate is higher in Illinois than in states where the extreme penalty is milder, in an effort to show that capital punishment fails of its object to deter crime.

Judge Kinzie Cleland, of Chicago, representative of the Anti-Capital Punishment Society of America, made the extreme and surprising statement that Henry Spencer who was hanged at Wheaton for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Rexroat, was induced to commit the crime by two newspaper men who gave him $2 to furnish them the material for the enormous news story. He declared that if hangings were permitted, they should be held publicly, that their full horror might be shown to all the people.

Other speakers were John Roberts, of the National Anti-Capital Punishment society, and Dr. Lyon, superintendent of the Central Howard association of Chicago.

Opposing the abolition bills, Representative George H. Wilson, of Quincy, pointed out that under the present laws there are few chances for miscarriages of justice. Answering Governor Dunne who had referred to the famous Pfanschmidt quadruple murder case, Wilson pointed out that after Ray Pfanschmidt had been sentenced to hang for the murders, he secured two new trials on charge of venue and was finally acquitted and set free. He pointed out that the law in this respect is even too lenient, and said that Pfanschmidt's "publicity agents" went ahead of the new trials to fill the press and public mind with sentiment favorable to the youth. Adams county, where the crime occurred, still is convinced that Ray is guilty, he said.

The house committee of the whole reported out the abolishment bills without recommendation and they were placed on the calendar for first reading.

The senate today adopted the Tossy resolution for the appointment of a commission of nine—three employers—three employees and three persons who are neither—to investigate conditions of unemployment in the state and report back to the next assembly.

Stock Market Notes.
NEW YORK, April 27.—The stock market opened with a fair show of strength and activity. Steel was off 1/4; Reading off 1/4, and American Can up 1/4.

The market gathered in activity during the first hour and despite fairly heavy selling pressure, the general feeling was steady. A slight reactionary tendency was indicated. In the first hour 200,615 shares changed hands, against 271,885 yesterday in the same period.

The stock market at noon was strong. Steel up 1/4 a point and Union Pacific, American Can and Reading all were active with large sales.

Prices held up well in the early afternoon. The market was quiet, the trading being light. American Can and Foundry was a strong feature, selling up two points at 56.

Lawson's Trial.
TRINIDAD, Colo., April 27.—Chas. Snyder, who testified today for the state that "Mother" Jones and Defendant John R. Lawson urged the striking miners to fight if necessary, admitted on cross examination, he was in the employ of the Baldwin-Felts detective agency and that he asked money from Lawson a short time ago, saying he would get it from "the other side" if the labor leader did not give him. Lawson refused to give him money. Snyder's breakdown offset in part the strong testimony presented in support of the murder charge yesterday when a former body guard of Lawson's, swore Lawson was armed and participated in the firing during the battle costing the life of a mine guard. Lawson was indicted for this guard's murder. The witness also detailed bringing ammunition from Denver to the Ludlow miners' colony.
