INDIANS WIN IN TENTH ROUND 2-1

Battle Between McCulloch and Slattery Goes to Home Crew After Desperate Fight.

A WELL PLAYED GAME

Indians Unable to Score Until Ninth When They Tied It Up, Winning in the Tenth.

Another one of those ten inning games yesterday, but this one taken in by the Indians by a score of 2 to 1. The services of the league president in defending the home club from losing games was unnecessary. The game was one of the prettiest of the many very pretty matinees that have been seen here so far this season.

Both pitchers put up great exhibitions. Slattery was much staidier and was touched much less more freely than was McCulloch, but the latter received better support. Mack was in his usual form in picking base runners off the initial bag after they had reached that place safely on singles. He put six men out of the running in this manner.

Slattery pitched a great game for the visitors, despite support that at times was weak enough to discourage any hurler. He held the Indians to five scattered blows, no two of them coming in the same round. Both of Keokuk's two runs, made in the ninth and tenth innings, resulted from errors made behind the Anson heaver.

Marshalltown was first to score, getting their one and only run in the fifth inning. Fortin started to second on a single, being advanced to second on a sacrifice by Anderson. He reached third on an infield out by Hamerschmidt and counted when Slattery slammed out a single.

Slattery seemed never to be in danger once until the sixth inning. In this round McCulloch reached third base after his infield hit had been booted by Ryan, at first base, and Baum had singled, sending him to the far corner of the infield. Le Beau was hit by a pitched ball in the same inning after two were down, filling the bases. Slattery then settled down to his work and struck out the third man.

It was not until the ninth that the Tribe counted, this run tying up the score and making it an extra inning affair. Le Beau lead off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Swick, took third when Lindberg booted Giff's roller, and counted on an infield out by Eggleston who was sent in to bat for Hollocher.

The home boys took the game in the tenth inning, McCulloch holding the Ansons safely in their half of the tenth. McCulloch, second man up for the Indians in the tenth, reached second when Anderson made a wild peg after fielding his hit. Mack stole third and counted when Lindberg made an error in throwing to first after he had picked up Comstock's batted ball.

Boyle made several changes in the last round after Eggleston had been sent in to bat for Hollocher. He shifted Harvey to short, played Comstock at third, and put Watkins in right field.

CLAIM OTHERS VIOLATE RULE

Manager Richards Says Every Game He Has Lost Has Been to a Club Over Four Man Limit.

PROTESTS ALL LOST

Manager of Ansons Says Muscatine and Clinton Over Limit—Justice to Throw Out Games.

"Every game we've lost this year has been to clubs over the four-man rule limit, with the exception of the game lost here yesterday," said Manager Richards today, following the action of President M. E. Justice in throwing out Sunday's game between Keokuk and Marshalltown because the Ansons had five so-called veterans on their club.

"We'll go home at the head of the league," said Richards this morning. "If Justice doesn't reverse his decision on Sunday's game, he will have to throw out all the games we have lost except yesterday's. It will be Marshalltown, won eight, lost one." Marshalltown has played Muscatine, Mason City, and Clinton this year before coming here. Richards told The Gate City today that both Muscatine and Clinton have been over the limit ever since the season started.

Willing to Throw Out Games. President Justice stated today that he would throw out all games Marshalltown has lost to clubs over the limit. "I have gone over the list of players on each club, and so far as I know, Mason City is the only club over the limit at the present time," said Mr. Justice. "I have notified Mason City that they must change their club to conform with this rule. They have not done so thus far and I am waiting now for them to win a game so that I can throw it out. No club can be credited with any games won unless they are within the limit prescribed by this rule. I'll throw out every game played this year if it is necessary."

"If Manager Richards knew Muscatine and Clinton were violating this rule when his club played them, why didn't he tell me? I did notify Manager Manush to release one man at Clinton, but he claims that this man does not come under the rule and is now preparing evidence to prove his contention. If Manager Egan's club is over the limit, I do not know it. I know that Burlington is not, that Cedar Rapids is not, and that Keokuk is not over the limit. If Waterloo is, I do not know it. There was one player or there whom I investigated carefully and found that he was all right."

Manager Richards released Pitcher Maul just before the start of yesterday's game, bringing his club down to the limit. He claimed today that Sunday was the only day since the season started that he was over the limit.

Today it is up to managers in this league to reduce their clubs to the player limit fixed by the league at thirteen men, including the manager. The clubs are given twenty days after the start of the season to make this reduction.

Manager Boyle was not compelled to release any of his men on account of this and neither was Richards. The suspension of Eggleston placed the Indians under the limit, while Richards qualified yesterday by releasing Maul.

SUSPEND CATCHER, ILLNESS IS CAUSE

Eggleston Contracts Severe Case of Granulated Eyelids and is Unable to Work.

PUTS CLUB UNDER LIMIT

Team is Now Composed of Thirteen Men, Including Boyle—All Clubs Reduce Today.

Catcher Eggleston was suspended today by Manager Boyle. This action resulted from Eggleston's inability to work because of granulated eyelids, making it impossible for the backstop to see clearly. The suspension will last until the backstop has recovered, which probably will be ten days or two weeks.

Eggleston is under the care of a physician. His case is regarded as a serious one, but the physician is confident that he will suffer no ill effects after he has recovered. "Eggy" has been doing good work behind the bat for the Tribe and his loss would seriously cripple the team were it not for the fact that Boyle was fortunate in securing a good man in Brown. There seems to be little to choose between the work of the two men and either one is capable of making good on any team in the country in a league of this class.

The suspension of Eggleston makes it unnecessary for Boyle to release any of his men in order to get down to the thirteen player limit which all clubs in the league must do before tomorrow's games. The Indians are now composed of thirteen men, including Boyle. They are: Baum, Comstock and Le Beau, outfielders; Giffin, Swick, Hollocher and Harvey, infielders; Watkins, Fenner, McCulloch and Asher, pitchers, and Brown, catcher.

State Athletic Commission. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] NEW YORK, May 25.—In expectancy that Governor Whitman will name the new members of the state athletic commission today, the old members of the board, Frank S. O'Neil, John J. Dixon, James R. Price and Charles Harvey have removed their belongings from their offices at 41 Park Row.

Strange Farm Products. SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Historians today were interested in the queer crops from James Bellwood's farm in Virginia, which were on exhibition at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The products of this farm included several score Indian flint arrowheads, a round shot fired from the guns of the Merrimack, a three-inch soft nosed shell hurled by a Confederate cannon and imbedded in an oak tree, and several bayonets, sabres and bullets. Before George Washington was born Indians and settlers fought a battle on the site of Bellwood's farm—hence the arrowheads, and in 1864 the battle of Brewer's Bluff, waged there, caused the deposit of other missiles. Numerous skulls and bones were also turned up by Bellwood's plow, but these were buried again in deeper graves than the shallow trenches in which they first reposed.

Manufacturers' Convention. NEW YORK, May 25.—The twelfth annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers opened today at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Prominent manufacturers from all parts of the United States were assembled to discuss the effects of the year's political and economic developments, internal and international, on their business. William Howard Taft, former president of the United States; Senator Warren C. Harding, of Ohio; and other speakers of national reputation will address the manufacturers.

The subject of Mr. Taft's address is announced to be "Clayton Act and Other Things." It is expected that the former president will avail himself of this opportunity to express to business men from all parts of the country his view on the present political situation. The Clayton act, which was vigorously opposed by many of the prominent organizations of business men, opens a field for discussion of great interest to manufacturers, the business legislation passed by the last congress. James A. Emery, of the national council for industrial defense, will outline the work of the newly created federal trade commission, which is vested with plenary powers over corporate business interests, and there will be a general discussion of the effect of the activities of this body on the manufacturing industry.

The federal commission industrial relations, which has been investigating the causes of industrial unrest, will also receive consideration, at the convention sessions. The attitude which this, the commission has assumed toward employers in general and the trend taken by the commission at its various hearings will be discussed by Walter Drew of the National Erectors' association.

It has been estimated by experts that the members of this the National Association of Manufacturers supply about one-half of the world's railroad trackage and equipment, three-fourths of the world's means of telephonic communication, and the mechanical equipment, paper and ink necessary to produce one-third of the newspapers and magazines published on the globe. They also excel in the production of other staple commodities, manufacturing more shoes in one day than are produced by the leading foreign competitors of the United States in a week, producing eighty per cent of the automobiles of the earth, and gathering with machines made in their factories, half of the harvest of the world.
