LOWTHER HERO IN INDIAN WIN

Two Home Run Drives Off Zackert Made by Auburn-haired Indian in Yesterday's Game.

BIXBY WINS ANOTHER

Dean Had Little to Brag About, But He Stopped Late Rally and the Game Was His.

Red Lowther wrote a few pages of history with his bat here yesterday afternoon when he twice drove the old baseball over the left field fence. He also slammed out a single, scored three runs, and drove in two more during the afternoon. It was largely due to his work that Gawze Zip Zackert retired to the bench and that the Indians won the deciding game of the series from Muscatine by a score of 5 to 5.

The Indians were out almost two to one but their work in the field was far superior to that of the visitors, despite the crippled condition of Boyle's team. Five errors were down against the records of the visitors. But one error was charged to the home team, but had Harvey and Lowther been playing in their regular positions, several of the hits made by the Eganites no doubt would have been turned into putouts.

Dean Bixby went all the way for the tribe. He pounded hard for eleven hits and walked four, but the blows were fairly well distributed over the nine innings. Bixby was without question in the poorest form he has exhibited this year. His control was somewhere far from the scene of the battle and when he was able to place his balls within reaching distance of the plate there was little, if anything, on them.

There were plenty of thrills for the fans during the entire progress of the game and the last round was an exception. The Muskies went to bat the last time with the score 6 to 4 against them. Bill Rojas was the first to face Bixby in this round and Bixby lead off a rally with a three base hit. The rally threatened to overcome the lead the locals had piled up off Zackert. Runner followed Rojas with a double that scored the former Jay pitcher. Reinhart and O'Day popped out in succession, but Hasbrook reached first and Runser got to third when Lowther made a wild peg after fielding Hasbrook's bounder. Giffin was able to stop the ball, however, and save Runser from scoring. Shanley drew a walk, filling the bags and sending cold chills up and down numerous spines in the stands. But Lee, after fouling off several times, drove a long fly to right center that LeBeau pulled down, ending the game.

Zackert was hit freely by the tribe during the four and one-third innings. He struck in the game. All the runs and hits made by the home boys were off his delivery. Rojas, however, completed the game, retiring the batters in order. The first home run made by Lowther was the highest of any that has been seen on the home grounds in two years.

Johnson-Willard Fight Fake? [United Press Leased Wire Service.] NEW YORK, June 22.—Once more the charge that the Jack Johnson-Jess Willard fight at Havana last April was a fake, has been made. This time Horatio Bottomley, editor of John Bull, an English publication, makes the allegation. In the current issue which has just reached New York, Bottomley declares that Johnson was to receive $50,000 for "laying down." He never received the money, it is said.

HIT RATTLER FOR NINE DAY CRUISE

Indians Leave Last Night For Cedar Rapids—Play Bunnies, Jays and Red Sox.

HARVEY BACK SOON

Third Sacker Will Join the Club at Cedar Rapids—His Injury Weakened the Club.

Boyle's Indians packed their hamper and pulled out for a nine day cruise at the conclusion of the game here yesterday afternoon. They will here yesterday again until the last day of the month when they arrive with the Burlington Sox in following three games. Immediately following the Burlington series, Marshalltown and then Mason City will show here. Unless some of the postponed games are played between now and the close of the season, only twenty-one more games will be seen at the north side park this summer. It is likely that only two or three of the games postponed will be played. As Boyle has but four pitchers he will not want to work them any more often than is necessary.

The Tribe has twenty-seven scheduled games to play on the road from now on. Nine of these will be played on the present trip. The next trip has six games to be played and the one following that, the last one, includes twelve games. Chances of the club finishing at the top of the league will not be helped any by this last trip of twelve games away from home.

Harvey is expected to join the club at Cedar Rapids. He may be able to get in the game, this afternoon. His return will strengthen the team materially. Yesterday's game in which Lowther played at third showed very clearly how Harvey stacks up in comparison with other third sackers in this circuit. At least two hits made by Muscatine would have been easy outs with Harvey in the game.

The return of Harvey will place Lowther back in right field where Boyle has been forced to use pitchers since the third sacker was injured. The use of pitchers in right field does not seem to help them any when they get in the box, judging from their work the last few days, while there is no question but that the team is weakened with a pitcher in the outfield.

PRESENTED WITH CANE

Began His Work as Correspondent With Sporting Life as Writer of Baseball From Keokuk.

Robert S. Ranson ("Bob"), now editorial correspondent at Los Angeles, Cal., for "Sporting Life," a Philadelphia publication, devoted to baseball and trap shooting, has in his possession a copy of Richter's "History and Record of Baseball," that has the following inscription: "To dear old friend and correspondent for more than a quarter of a century, R. S. Ranson, is presented this book with the compliments of the author, Francis C. Richter, Philadelphia, March 6, 1914." Mr. Ranson's first connection with "Sporting Life" dates back to 1884, at Keokuk, when the city had a ball club that included in its makeup such players as D. E. Dugdale (now president of the Seattle club of the Northwestern League), E. Harry Decker (now in a California penitentiary under the name of E. H. Davenport), catchers; Schombers, first base; Bud Fowler (colored), second base; Corcoran, third base; Walsh, short stop; Darby O'Brien, left field. The other fielding positions were filled by the boys who were Ted Kennedy, Kid Hawkins and Hat Hudson. During 1883 Mr. Ranson was manager of the Gate City's, a local amateur club that had for its principle competitors the Carson and Rands, then under the management of T. C. (Cal) Harrison. At the end of the 1883 season he was presented by the team with a gold headed cane, which is now one of his treasured possessions. It is inscribed as follows: "Compliments of the G. C. B. C., 1883, to R. S. Ranson, Manager." The presentation was made by the late Sam D. Sterne. Mr. Ranson's present address is No. 1252 W. 38th street, Los Angeles, Cal.

MRS. BRUMBAUGH MAY CHANGE MIND

If She Will Agree to a Divorce, Everything Will Be Smoothed Over.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] CHICAGO, July 22.—It rested solely with Mrs. Ralph Brumbaugh today whether the two children of her husband, wealthy furniture dealer, Julia Millar, love-wife, will be branded throughout their lives as illegitimate.

Mrs. Brumbaugh declared today that she might, for the third time change her mind and ask for an absolute divorce. She promised to reach a decision today.

In the meantime the little mother, who became such while a servant in the Brumbaugh household, had fled from the cozy apartment on Prairie avenue where Brumbaugh kept up his second home, and where was born the second baby. Brumbaugh declared today he does not know where the girl and her children have gone. She fled early today, saying only that she feared a plot to take her babies from her.

Brumbaugh today for the first time told the details of his six years of double life and gave his reasons for deserting his wife.

"Children," he said, simply, "was the whole issue. I realize that the man usually is blamed in such cases—and rightly so. But this time I feel in my heart no blame attaches to me. God knows Julia is blameless. Just let the world think of this: Most men and women who do things as Julia and I have done, do them for the immediate pleasure. We loved and consummated our love not alone for the act itself. We wanted children.

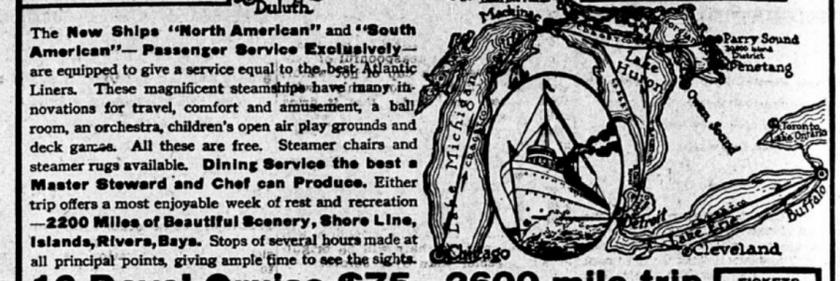

"My wife was married before she took my name. The chief reason for the divorce was that George Foley, the first husband, wanted children. Without babies in the home, the place isn't a home. He learned, as I did later, that it took children to bind man and wife together.

"Mrs. Brumbaugh's charges that I beat her are without foundation. Now she accuses me of keeping company with other women besides Julia. That is not true. You remember the case of Rev. Jerry Cook and Loretta Whaley of Long Island? Their love must have been like Julia's and mine. After the years they suffered, they finally were permitted to marry. The world knows how happy they are for the world has learned of their happiness through the newspapers. Julia and I will be just as happy if we are given the chance.

"Whatever my supposed duty to the woman who bears my name, I feel I have a greater duty to the woman who bore me children. I must give them a name." Riot in Portugal. [United Press Leased Wire Service.] LISBON, July 22.—An armed mob early today attacked the municipal of

SEEK TO RELEASE AN AGED MARSHAL. Board of Parole is Asked to Suspend its Nine Months Rule in Case of This Man.

For the first time in many months the board of parole has made an exception to its general ruling that inmates at the Fort Madison penitentiary must serve nine months before being allowed to appear before it for release. The deviation was made in the case of Henry Nott, 71 years of age, who as marshal of Gravit, Iowa, killed a man he was attempting to arrest.

Nott's story at the time of his reception in the prison indicated the man killed was drunk at the time the deed was done, that he had repeatedly denied arrest, that he was arrested and subdued in a scuffle, and that he then promised to go peacefully to his home if released. Nott is said to have released the prisoner. But instead of keeping his promise to return to his home he again became boisterous and defiant. Nott again placed him under arrest. In attempting to take him to jail, the man resisted and fought with the marshal. Under these circumstances Nott was fired his club. He says that he did not mean to kill the man but merely to subdue him. Death, however, resulted, and Nott was convicted of manslaughter after a trial that extended through the supreme court. The supreme court ruled that officers are not authorized to use undue violence in arresting persons.

The friends of the aged marshal are making a strong effort five months after his admission to prison to induce the board of parole to grant him a parole. Nott at the present time is employed in the tool storage room at the prison and is given consistent freedom with his age and character.
